PLANE ON FLIGHT MAKES HIGH SPEED

Fear Felt Lest Post Fail to the Stand Strain of Piloting Alone.

New York, June 26 (A.P.).—Although no word has been received from Harold Gatty and Wiley Post, around-the-world fliers, who were scheduled to take off from Novo Sibirsk, Siberia, at 5 p. m. (Eastern Standard Time) today, no anxiety was felt tonight by their representatives here.

H. A. Bruno, New York representative of the fliers, said he did not expect to hear from them until they landed at Irkutsk, the goal of their next leg.

Fliers Over Siberia.

Irkutsk, Siberia, June 26 (A.P.).—Flying over a portion of bleak Siberia today, Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, globe-circling fliers, reached Novo Sibirsk at 1:32 p. m., Greenwich time (8:32 a. m. Eastern Standard time), and planned to take off at midnight for Irkutsk, a flight of 1,050 miles.

Leaving Moscow at 5 a. m. (10 p. m. Eastern Standard time), the American fliers apparently followed the Trans-Siberian Railrod over the Ural Mountains into Asia, and thence eastward.

Omak, on the railroad, sighted the fliers at 2:05 p. m. oMscow time (7:05 a. m. Eastern Standard time), but they did not stop.

Land at Novo Sibirsk.

The next word from them followed their landing at Novo Sibirsk. The hop to Novo Sibirsk, estimated at 1,450 air miles, had been made at an average speed of about 140 miles an hour, indicating the Winnie Mae, that has taken them over 6,000 miles of land and sea, had functioned perfectly. The fliers reached Sibirsk an hour and a half earlier than they had expected when they left Moscow.

The next leg of the world flight will be over terrain similar to that flown over today. Post and Gatty doubtless will follow the guiding line of the Transiberian Railroad, which wends eastward to Irkutsk, keeping north of the mountains that separate Russia from Mongolia.

Irish Banks to Return Sweepstakes Money

Dublin, Irish Free State, June 26 (A.P.).—All Irish banks have agreed, at the request of the United States Postoffice, to return all money or counterfoils received in the future from sweepstakes subscribers in the United States. It was said bank managers had been informed that unless they did this letters addressed to them would be subject to delay and inspection.

The minister of justice said persons here, alleged to be promoting a sweepstakes in Massachusetts, would be prosecuted for organizing what he termed an unauthorized sweepstakes.

Rebels in Honduras Dealt Crushing Blow

Tegucigalpa, Honduras, June 26 (A.P.).—The government today announced the revolutionary movement headed by Gen. Gregaria Ferrera has been dealt a crushing blow at Yojoa Lake, followed by an airplane bombardment of the routed rebels.

Ferrera, deprived of his best generals, is making a hurried march toward Salvadorean territory, and government troops are trying to capture him before he crossed the border. Rebel Gen. Carlos Sanabria is reported to have fled to Guatemala with a few followers. Gen. Roman Diax is said to have abandoned the revolution.

German and Roumanian Treaty Efforts Fail

Bucharest, Roumania, June 26 (A.P.).—The press here today reported that negotiations between Germany and Roumania for a commercial treaty have collapsed over a purported demand by Germany that Roumania purchase several million dollars worth of railroad material in the Reich.

The Roumanians were said to have held this would be detrimental to their industry.

Private Conversation With Pastor Protected

St. Paul, June 26 (A.P.).—The right of a clergyman to refuse to divulge information, given him in confidence, was upheld today by the Minnesota State Supreme Court.

The high court reversed the conviction of the Rev. Emil Swenson, Lutheran pastor of Minneapolis, on a charge of contempt of court. Mr. Swenson was found guilty of contempt in Hennepin County District Court, By Judge Paul W. Guilford, for declining to divulge a conversation between a parishioner and the minister concerning a divorce case.

Drys Choose Leaders For Campaign in 1932

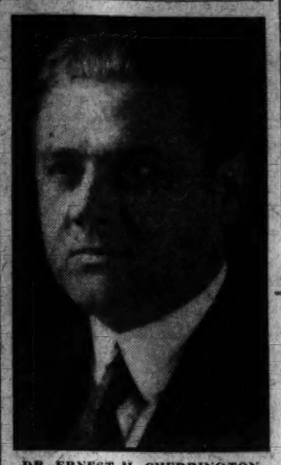
(Associated Press.)

Plans for a detailed and extensive dry campaign in connection with next year's elections were drawn up yesterday by the combined board of strategy of organizations favoring prohibition.

Announcement of what was included was withheld, but Col. Patrick H. Callahan, of Louisville, one of those selected to draw up a public statement for publication later, said it was "the most comprehensive program ever outlined by the drys."

Many of those present at yesterday's meeting were clergymen. Before them, Dr. Daniel A. Poling, chairman of the newly created "allied forces for prohibition," explained plans for a whirlwind campaign of his own separated almost entirely from the church.

Still using a crutch, Bishop James Cannon, jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, one of the strategy board members, declined to answer all questions as to how Dr. Poling's campaign had been received. He said he had not been authorized to talk.



DR. ERNEST H. CHERRINGTON.

HOIRIIS AND HILLIG REACH COPENHAGEN

Copenhagen, June 26 (A.P.).—Holger Hoiriis and Otto Hillig completed their transatlantic air adventure today by bringing their plane Liberty down on Copenhagen's airport, where immediately they became the center of as noisy and enthusiastic a welcome as this city has seen.

A throng of 60,000 persons awaited them when they alighted at 2:10 p. m. (8:10 a. m., E. S. T.). All the rest of the afternoon and all during the evening they were surrounded by crowds of welcomers.

Commoner as well as king did them honor—the commoners with shouts of approval and with frequent repetitions of Danish and American patriotic songs, the king by conferring knighthood on Hoiriis, who was born in Denmark and went to America as a boy.

"I thank you for this undeserved homage," Hoiriis said at ceremonies held in their honor at City Hall. "Whatever I have tried to achieve was in honor of the land of my birth and of the name of Hoiriis."

Hillig, too, made a brief speech, in which he pleased his hearers by saying, "I have always been a lover of Copenhagen, but never has it looked so beautiful as today."

The fliers tried to get a little rest in their hotel room, but so much ado was made over them it was impossible. If they so much as showed themselves at a window the throngs in the streets cheered lustily.

The happiest person participating in the welcome festivities was the mother of Hoiriis who had worried much while her son and his companion were unreported for about 32 hours after their take-off from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, Wednesday morning. She was in Copenhagen on one of the few visits in her entire life from the family homestead in rocky Jutland. During the public ceremonies her glance never wavered from the bronzed face of her son.

Mr. Hoiriis said it was necessary to climb to great heights to get away from the worst of the bad weather they encountered over the ocean. "Before leaving," he explained, "we understood that weather conditions along the southern route were better than along the northern route. With this I disagree, for we didn't see water for seventeen hours. We traveled at about 12,000 feet most of the way.

"We thought we were heading toward Ireland, and we intended to cross the channel and come up the coast of Europe. Finally I saw some houses which Hillig thought were English, but I recognized them as the flat, squat houses of Spain. We know

61 INDICTED IN WAR ON RUM AT CHICAGO

59 Men and Two Companies Are Accused in Alleged Liquor Ring.

Chicago, June 26 (A.P.).—The Government again today swung its indictment lash against organized lawlessness, with the indictment of 59 men and 2 companies for the alleged operation of a huge liquor traffic syndicate.

The syndicate, Federal agents said, with headquarters at Aurora, Ill., distributed 2,000,000 gallons of alcohol over several Middle Western States since 1927. Its powers and ramifications, they said, were second only to those of the Chicago organization recently headed by Alphonse Capone.

The alleged leaders of the Aurora ring named in the indictment are Mike Blumbrg, the self-styled "Capone of Clinton, Iowa," who, officials say, claimed to have the Lincoln highway "greased" from Chicago to the Mississippi River, with the exception of Lee County; Robert W. Beese, former State's attorny of Whitside County; Thomas J. Harrigan, jr., Chicago automobile dealer; Saw Dolg, Aurora; Mike, Joe and David Meyers, Aurora, and Richard, Russell and Frank Price, Waterloo, Iowa. The companies indicted are the Sugar Supply Co., of Aurora, and Tom Harrigan, Inc.

Assistant United States District Attorney Daniel Anderson said that probably 10,000,000 separate offenses against the prohibition law were traceable to the gang. The members, he said, were divided into three groups, with headquarters at Aurora, Waterloo, Iowa, and Clinton, Iowa.

Government officials linked Capone, who recently pleaded guilty when indicted with 68 followers on liquor conspiracy charges, to the ring's operations. They said that Anthony, Gabriel and Paul Cinquina, of Chicago, among those indicted, paid Capone a huge sum for permission to operate.

The indictments followed extensive undercover investigation.

Reds Try 21 Experts On Sabotage Charges

Moscow, June 26 (U.P.).—Trial of 21 engineers and technicians charged with sabotage and counter-revolution against the Soviet regime began today. The prosecution alleged that the defendants built a great terra cotta plant in the Tula district, at a cost of about $1,250,000, only to reveal later that the district lacked raw materials and that the plant was useless.

It was charged the defendants knew the raw materials were lacking when the plant was built.

SIX LOSE LIVES AS STORM HITS NORTHERN OHIO

WEST PENNSYLVANIA SUFFERS; TWO DEAD

Michigan and Maryland Also Damaged; Many Rescued as Boats Overturn.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 26 (A.P.).—Storm-lashed northern Ohio tonight dug itself out of the debris to find six dead, scores injured and damage mounting into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Ripping in from the Northwest, a 55-mile-an-hour gale raked the lake shore from Toledo to Cleveland and inland as far south as Columbus. It reached the peak of its fury in Cleveland.

At one time almost 20,000 telephone circuits were out in the Cleveland area, street cars blown over and stalled, streets under water to a depth of 10 feet in one place, and trash strewn about.

Three Killed by Lightning.

The dead are:

George Cordan, 35, struck by lightning in Cleveland.

An unidentified woman struck by lightning at North Olmstead.

Billy Leonhardt, 5, drowned in Maumee Bay, Toledo, when storm struck boat; four others saved.

Rain fell in cloudburst proportions and lashed by the high winds, blinded the entire city for half an hour.

In Cleveland business section thousands of shoppers and automobile drivers scudded for safety into stores as show windows crashed and signs hurtled through the street. Several persons were injured when bowled over by the wind.

Daring Rescues Are Made.

Daring rescues were made by Coast Guardsmen along the breakwater, while in the heart of the city police rescued a family from a roof top.

Lake steamers rode out the storm safely, but two ore steamers in the harbor broke their moorings and came together with $17,000 damage.

All Cleveland police were ordered on patrol duty to guard against electrocutions from fallen power lines and to aid in pumping out flooded basements.

Coast Guards during the worst of the gale rescued twelve men and a 7-year-old boy from the Cleveland breakwater, where they were fishing. Tonight a constant patrol was made of the lake front.

Two Killed in Pennsylvania.

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 26 (A.P.).—Two deaths and several thousand dollars worth of property damage were the toll of a severe electric and wind storm which struck western Pennsylvania today. It was the second such storm in a week, and the rainfall, 1.23 inches in fifteen minutes, broke a Pittsburgh precipitation mark set in 1908.

Mrs. Bessie Sullivan, 44, died of a heart attack superinduced by fright when wind broke down a tree in her front yard.

Stella Tazwar, 10, was fatally hurt at Acosta, near Somerset, when a falling tree struck her while she was playing in a park as the storm approached.

Detroit, Mich., June 26 (A.P.).—A heavy wind and rain storm that swept across eastern Michigan today caused the death of one man, brought serious injury to several others and sent customs patrol boats and rescue parties on to Lakes Erie and St. Clair, where 35 persons were taken from small fishing boats overturned or blown out into the lake by a 60-mile offshore wind.

20 Saved From Drowning.

Twenty men, women and children, residents of a resort colony near Indian Trails, on Lake Erie, were taken from the lake by other resort residents, who cruised the storm swept waters in launches and removed them from overturned or water filled boats. Two boys, William Goers,

TRADE CHIEFS DRAW 6 RULES FOR RECOVERY

Freight Increase, Debt Plan Supported; Tax Boost Opposed.

SHORT SELLING HIT IN STOCK EXCHANGE

Directors of U. S. Chamber Urge Industry to Give Work to Idle.

Leadership of American business, represented in the personnel of the board of directors of the United States Chamber of Commerce, yesterday set forth in six declarations its proposals for improvement of business and world economic conditions. The proposals are:

"No national view or views" should be permitted to interfere with the success of President Hoover's proposed international debt moratorium.

Plea of the railroads for higher rates should be granted.

There should be no increase in taxes because of the Federal deficit.

"Depressive short selling or other manipulation" to depress prices of securities should be prevented by exchanges.

Industry should bend its thought to replace uncertainty with assurance oof employment for at least definite periods and what work there is should be spread among the largest possible number of workers.

Adjustment of the American tariff should be left with the tariff commission and should not be undertaken by Congress.

Barnes Announces Rules.

The declarations of the board of directors were set forth in a statement made public by Julius Barnes, chairman of the board, who occupies the enjoyable or unpleasant position, as the view may be, of being one of the firm admirers and close friends of President Hoover.

Although th e declarations were not as blunt as the foregoing summary, the purport of the statement of the business leaders was unmistakable. It was significant, too, that their statement had an international tinge.

In the brief statement on the American tariff, the board directly referred to the recent session of the International Chamber of Commerce here, at which was laid the ground work for the developments which led to the recent proposal of President Hoover for a moratorium.

"There are indications," the board said, that America and the world may have sen the worst phases of depression. International cooperation has markedly advanced. Better practices are evident in business at home."

Given Freedom of Choice.

The board was careful to give individual business men freedom of choice, saying that "responsible judgment of individuals must decide their own questions of policy generally, but on certain major questions we express our individual views as to probably helpful emergency treatments thus:

"We welcome American leadership by the President, with bipartisan support, in proposing a year's postponement of all intergovernmental debts. It is hoped that no national view or views will militate against the success of an action which has already inspired the world with hope, so tangibly proved by the rise in prices of commodities and securities. Every farmer, every workman, every investor over the world has already been benefited.

"Public confidence in railroad and other securities should be strengthened by fair earnings on vast publicly regulated investments. The chamber's membership has repeatedly declared that the rates charged for transportation should yield an adequate return on the fair value of the property used by the railroads for transportation.

Tax Increase Opposed.

"Our Federal Government tax receipts are largely based upon the profits of business and industry. In years of prosperity these tax receipts have proved to very largely exceed the needs of the Government and have resulted in a very large retirement of the public debt beyond the statutory or necessary requirements for its expeditious retirement. We have, therefore, a reserve which can well be ap-

DEPUTIES DEBATE DEBT PLAN ALL NIGHT, WITH COMPROMISE FAVORED

France Must Modify View on Debt Holiday

Reply, While Cordial, Presents Obstacle to General Adoption of Hoover Proposal in the Interest of World Economic Improvement.

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

Notwithstanding the note of "cordiality" in France's reply to President Hoover's proposal for a one-year postponement of payments on war debts and reparations, one fact stood out last night, and that was that France will have to modify its present stand if the American plan is to be generally adopted.

There still was expressed optimism yesterday that the plan "ultimately" will go through, but it certainly was not as lusty as it had been.

No matter how the statement of Secretary of State Stimson on the French reply might be interpreted, the fact remained that he said that there were "suggestions in the method proposed by the French government" which would not give the full economic relief that President Hoover had in mind, and that therefore the subject would have to be further discussed with a view to a "modification * * *."

This being so, those interested in the Hoover plan looked to Paris, where last night the Chamber of Deputies was considering the debt holiday plan and where the American Secretary of the Treasury, Andrew Mellon, was seeking to work out a compromise with the French leaders.

Secretary Stimson, who earlier in the day had given out the text of the French reply to President Hoover's proposal, together with a statement commenting on the French note, left here yesterday at 3:44 o'clock in an Army plane bound for New York. He was piloted by Lieut. Merrick, of the Army Air Corps. His entourage had gone before him by mail. Today at about noon the party will sail for Naples, Italy, whence Secretary Stimson will make a tour of four Euro-

Vote This Morning Held Probable, With Laval Winning Support.

HOOVER IDEA GIVEN SUPPORT GENERALLY

Socialists and Radicals Link Disarmament to Moratorium Talk.

Paris, Saturday, June 27 (A.P.).—The position of the French government seemed strengthened in the early hours of this morning as debate progressed on the cabinet's policy regarding the war debts and reparations proposal of President Hoover.

During a brief recess taken at 1:30 o'clock this morning by the weary chamber, which had been debating the question all yesterday and last night, observers in the lobbies calculated that the government could count on from 380 to 400 votes. Several groups were still undecided in their attitude, waiting to see how the rest of the debate turned.

By 2 o'clock this morning the debate was dragging, but it was thought it might be 6 o'clock in the morning (midnight Friday, E. S. T.) before a vote would be taken. Premier Laval had demanded that the chamber vote on his policies in order that he might be free to go ahead with his negotiations with Andrew W. Mellon, American Secretary of the Treasury, whom he expects to meet at the ministry of the interior at 3 p. m. today.

Debate Is Orderly.

Thus far this morning the debate was most orderly and there were only few interruptions. While there was criticism of the Hoover proposal during the night and morning session, the speakers for the most part supported the Hoover plan with the French amendment, although the Socialists and Radicals strongly advocated closer Franco-American relations, linking disarmament with the whole problem.

After the recess the debate dragged on. Interest was revived, however, by Franklin Bouillon, opponent of Foreign Minister Briand, who spoke openly against the Hoover proposal and the French answer. Saying that he regretted the government's action in rushing the Chamber to a vote, he declared:

"The presence of Mellon is no argument."

M. Bouillon said that he would have preferred that the question be submitted to the committee on finance and foreign affairs before a decision was made.

Sees Wall Street Backing.

While Bouillon was speaking, Radical deputies were campaigning against the government in the lobbies.

Amid applause, M. Bouillon attacked the American Government, declaring the Hoover proposal was launched by order of Wall street to save three big American banks, one of which, he declared, held seven billions (national currency not specified) in German bonds.

He declared that an agreement had been reached some time ago between the German, British and American governments. This remark drew a sharp rebuke from Premier Laval, who said:

"Say what you like about the French government, but do not treat the American Government in such a manner."

German Deputy Attends Session.

The presence in the chamber during the night session of a Socialist member of the German Reichstag, Deputy Breitscheid, caused lively comments in the lobby. One report was that he had come to try to induce Leon Blum, Socialist leader, and his friends to support the government in negotiations relative to the Hoover plan.

Premier Laval then opened the debate by reading President Hoover's proposal and the French memorandum in reply. The President's proposal was listened to with great interest, the only interruption being audible disagreement from some deputies with the President's characterization of the reparations problem as uniquely Europe's affair.

He then read a note from Secretary of State Stimson which had been handed to Foreign Minister Briand

POST WILL REMAIN IN M'LEAN FAMILY

Publisher Decides to Retain Paper for Sons; Offers for Sale Rejected.

Negotiations for the purchase of The Washington Post were brought to an end in the District Supreme Court yesterday by Edward B. McLean, publisher of The Post.

Mr. McLean, through his counsel, told Justice Jesse C. Adkins that after full consideration of the offers made for his paper he had decided against its sale.

Two offers, of $3,000,000 each, had been formally submitted for The Post. One was made by David Lawrence, publisher of the United States Daily and president of the Consolidated Press, and the other by William Randolph Hearst, publisher of many newspapers and other publications. Each offered $800,000 cash, with the balance of $2,200,000 secured by mortgage bonds. Others had asked additional time to put in other bids for The Post.

Decision of Mr. McLean that The Post should not be sold put an end to the court proceedings, which were begun on June 15 when an offer of $3,000,000, with $800,000 in cash, made by Mr. Lawrence, had been submitted to the court for approval. Court approval was sought for the transaction because The Post is one of the valuable assets of the estate of the late John R. McLean, of which the publisher of The Post is cotrustee with the American Security & Trust Co.

Announcement of the offer by Mr. Lawrence, which was submitted to the court with Mr. McLean's approval, was followed by an offer from Mr. Hearst and subsequently amended offers were submitted by both Mr. Hearst and Mr. Lawrence.

Corcoran Thom, president of the American Security & Trust Co., was placed on the witness stand when proceedings began in court yesterday morning. J. S. Flannery, counsel for the trust company, questioned Mr. Thom about the offers which had been made for The Post. Mr. Thom said he favored sale of The Post at the price offered and preferred the Hearst offer to that made by Mr. Lawrence because of the greater se-

REPUBLICANS FACE LOW MONEY BARREL

(Associated Press.)

The Republicans are facing one of the problems of their Democratic enemies—the money barrel is running low. Both national parties have undertaken to keep new and permanent machines in operation since the last presidential campaign. It has been satisfactory to the party leaders, but they find now that raising funds in off years without the excitement and tumult of an election campaign is not so easy.

Joseph R. Nutt, of Cleveland, the treasurer of the Republican national committee, has been in conference here this week with Republican leaders. The low condition of the campaign chest was the center of most of these discussions.

However, Mr. Nutt still has some money and he is not alarmed.

Incidentally, the Republican treasurer is very busy "selling" Cleveland to the party leaders for the next national convention city. He is hopeful of success, but admits he has no promises.

There is a general belief in Republican circles that a city in the central part of the country will be favored by Republicans for the convention city next year. Of course, they concede the final word will be up to Mr. Hoover.

Recalling that the Republicans went to Cleveland in 1924, Mr. Nutt says: "We have a great auditorium and a great city and I am certainly most hopeful that my colleagues will recognize this and come back again."

Speculation over a city for the Democratic convention includes six from coast to coast. There is considerable talk here that San Francisco is preparing to make a determined fight for at least one of the conventions. That is something to be decided next December.

Just now chairman John J. Raskob of the Democratic national committee has other things than a convention city to worry about. Finances is one of them. Mr. Raskob gave another loan last quarter to tide the party over the summer months which the Republicans are now finding difficult financially.

Despondent Man Kills Self Just After Doctor's Visit

Retired Merchant, Ill More Than a Year, Had Failed Once.

Robert E. Lee Hall, retired tobacco merchant, shot himself inthe head with a .32 caliber revolver yesterday afternoon, inflicting a wound from which he died in a short time. He was 59 years old. The shooting was in a second-floor room of his home on Twenty-night street, near Woodley road northwest.

Dr. Frederick C. Fishback, who for more than a year had been treating Mr. Hall fora nervous ailment, had just left his patient's room when the shot was heard. Rushing upstairs he found Mr. Hall lying across a bed with the gun in his hand.

Futile efforts were made to save Mr. Hall's life. He was later pronounced dead by Dr. Fishback. Coroner J. Ramsay Nevitt was summoned and issued a certificate of suicide.

According to his wife, Mrs. Clyde Hall, Mr. Hall had been in all health

The Capital's Greatest NEWSpaper

Features in Tomorrow's Post

All the world is interested in President Hoover's declaration for a year's moratorium on debts. David Rankin Barbee, Post staff writer, goes behind the scenes in this debt situation in an interesting and timely article to be published in tomorrow's Post.

"There the Secession War Storm Broke" is the title of a story in the fabloid magazine, dealing with the battles near Manassas, Va., during the Civil War. It affects Washington's neighbors and will appeal to everyone.

Other special stories in the magazine which promise to satisfy the tastes of all readers are "Little Sung Heroes of Independence;" "They Stood on the Threshold," a yarn by a man of 95 on little slips that have cost politicians the Presidency; the Counselor's weekly advice to those who send in their questions and two hand-picked fiction stories.

Then, too, there will be eight pages of comics; a handsome rotogravure section and all the latest news, sports and pictures from all over the world.

Police Arrest "Capone, Jr." And Gang in Theft Series

Sextet of Capital Boys, Intrigued by Tales of "Scarface Al," Are Said to Have Confessed Numerous Housebreakings.

Intrigued by lurid tales of Chicago's gangland, a sextet of Washington schoolboys have carried on systematic operations in the Northwest section, culminating in their arrest yesterday on charges of housebreaking.

A 14-year-old youth, who styled himself "Al Capone, jr.," and boasts of his emulation of the famous racketeer, is the leader of the gang, according to Policeman Elmer L. Dalstrom, whose investigation resulted in the arrests.

Alls ix were turned over to parents, who promised to produce them in Juvenile Court at the call of police. It was learned that a seventh youth, whose parents recently moved with him out o fthe city, is being sought.

In addition to the young leader, who lives on Irving street near Fourteenth street northwest, those held on charges which involve sixteen counts of housebreaking and charges of "terrorizing" the neighborhood, include three 12-year-old youths who make their homes at Parkwood place near Fourteenth, Mount Pleasant street near Newton, and Irving street near Fourteenth, respectively; a 14-year-old boy who lives on Park ... near Fourteenth and an 11-year-old ... of Irving street near Thirteenth street northwest.

The arrest of one of these, after a false alarm had been pulled in the vicinity of the Powell School the last day of school, resulted in the round-up of the gang and their alleged confession to manifold charges of housebreaking, Policeman Dalstrom said.

The day before, three of the gang "put on the spot" 9-year-old Jim-

at yesterday's luncheon in which Mr Mellon was given full powers as negotiator. Louis Marin, long an opponent of Foreign Minister Briand, insisted it was easy to see why the United States had come to the aid of Germany, indicating that it was to save American capital invested there.

Proposal Held Selfish.

"It is said we are going to reestablish world economy," he said. "President Hoover's proposal is not to establish world equilibrium but to reestablish American business. It is the Young plan that is in question here and unless this parliament does something, the Young plan is as good as dead."

Marin got the worst of a tilt of wit with the veteran foreign minister, the two throwing the chamber into laughter. Briand made a remark in a low voice, whereupon Marin shouted: "You talk in your mustache." To this the grizzly Briand replied: "I can't talk into yours."

The chamber then settled down to the serious business of listening to the technical statement of Minister of Finance Flandin, who asked the deputies not to underestimate the sacrifices the United States was making for European solidarity.

"It is true," he said, "that the United States has invested large capital in Germany, but de don't want to lower such an action to simple considerations of interest."

Cost to France Detailed.

Touching the important question of how much the Hoover plan would cost France, as compared with the moratorium provided for under the Young plan, Flandin said:

"In the case of a Young plan moratorium, France must deposit 500,000,000 marks (about $125,000,000) in the Bank for International Settlements as a guarantee so that France would not be the only country to receive annuities. Under the Hoover plan, France's payments would be far less, for a guarantee deposit to the Bank for International Settlements is unnecessary. However, the guarantee deposits in the Bank for International Settlements would carry interest and would remains ours."

He explained that the cost to France of the Hoover plan would be 1,600,000,000 francs (about $64,000,000).

U. S. EMPLOYE ENDS 50 YEARS' SERVICE

John J. Cherry Is Praised by Attorney General on Retiring.

Chester A. Arthur was President and Benjamin Brewster was Attorney General when John J. Cherry, who was retired yesterday at the end of 50 years' active service in the Department of Justice, entered the employ of the Government.

Retirement of Mr. Cherry was marked with appropriate ceremonies in the office of the Solicitor General, where he had been employed as a clerk. Praise of his long service was expressed by Attorney General Mitchell, while other officials and friends offered good wishes and presented Mr. Cherry with a purse of gold.

"John," Mr. Mitchell said, "your friends here in the department regret to see you go. We shall miss you. You have our affectionate regard. We wish you many years of happiness and contentment and a ripe old age with your grandchildren around your knees."

Mr. Cherry, who is 75 years of age, resides at 4809 Forty-first street northwest with Mrs. Cherry and a son. Another son is married and has two children.

plied in times of depression when profits of business are greatly reduced and the Government receipts suffer in consequence. It would be very much in the interest of the whole business of the country and in the interest of increased employment if the Government through this period of depression should accept the fact that a moderate increase in the public debt is but an averaging of its large retirement over a long period of years, and should avoid tax legislation.

"Values of credit resources, the buying power of agriculture and other producers, business confidence generally, would improve directly from soundly steady, or rising, instead of declining prices. We urge all exchanges where prices and values are recorded to control and prevent depressive short selling or other manipulation.

Jobs Assurance Urged.

"America's high living standard is unfavorably affected by any disturbance of orderly living among the great army of wage earners. A feeling of security in position and earnings tends to preserve business momentum that of itself provides employment for additional workers. We commend the efforts for stabilization of employment that have been proven successful in many individual units and urge trade associations to study soberly the particular conditions of their industries in order to see if it is possible to make furthre progress in assuring in advance employment for stated periods for all or many of their workers. We also commend the efforts which have been successful in industries where such future assurance can not be fully given to spread working hours and working weeks among the widest possible number.

"We welcome the declaration of the International Chamber of Commerce that world tariffs should be framed upon definite principles. The American tariff defines its definite principle, aiming to protect America's undisputedly higher wage scales and costs. We commend the energy with which the Tariff Commission is pursuing its studies and announcing its adjustments of schedules to fall within that rightful principle. When this principle and its progressive adjustments are understood at home and abroad, resentment should prove unnecessary and unjust. Further progress in such adjustments should be made by the commission and not by Congress."

MELLON IN PARIS READY FOR PARLEY

Premier Laval Will Meet Secretary in Study of Debt Offer.

Paris, June 26 (A.P.).—Andrew W. Mellon, American secretary of the Treasury, tomorrow will begin discussions with French officials in an effort to harmonize the French and American views on President Hoover's proposal for a war debts and reparations holiday.

The American Secretary, fresh from his talks with Prime Minister MacDonald in London, had luncheon with Premier Laval and other French officials today, and announcement later was made that the premier would meet Mr. Mellon and Ambassador Edge at the ministry of the interior. The minister of finance, the budget minister and Foreign Minister Aristide Briand will be present.

The text of the French memorandum replying to President Hoover's proposal was made public today. It declared that France was in "cordial accord with the high sentiments" inspiring the President's proposal, but presented a counter proposal in which opposition was expressed to application of the suggested year's moratorium to the unconditional annuities which Germany must pay.

Proposal by France.

The reply expressed readiness to place at the disposal of the Bank for International Settlements a sum equal to France's share of the nonpostponable annuities due from Germany, with the exception of the amounts necessary to the execution of balances of current contracts for utilization in improving German credit and that of other central European countries.

The memorandum said all necessary precautions should be taken to assure that such sums should be used only for economic purposes. Examination of measures whereby Germany would resume her reparations payments at the expiration of the year's suspension also was suggested.

With the French chamber insisting that Germany continue to hand over her nonpostponable annuity, Premier Laval, Finance Minister Flandin and Foreign Minister Briand were described as being without that authority or flexibility in negotiations that is customary.

Discussion Starts Well.

Today's informal discussion was said to have started off well. A cablegram from Secretary of State Stimson, expressing the hope the French Government would take advantage of the presence of Mr. Mellon in Paris and discuss with him and Ambassador Edge the various problems arising from the original proposal of President Hoover and the French answer, caused a fine impression.

It was accepted as proving to the French that they will not be in the position of playing a secondary part in the discussions. The French position is that Germany's salvation alone will not save Europe, but that Europe as a whole must be kept in mind and helped. This was felt to bring the proposal further than President Hoover immediately intended, because it is connected, even if indirectly, with Foreign Minister Briand's project for a European union.

The newspaper L'Information tonight said:

"We must prevent a conflict between France and Germany which would ruin Europe and destroy the security of the entire world. To us the great benefit of the Hoover plan is that it will result in establishing contact between the Paris and Berlin governments."

Mr. Mellon and Ambassador Edge spent an exceedingly busy day poring over detailed instructions from Washington.

For the moment the problem of disarmament seems out of the picture, but it is thought this doubtless will come up when Secretary Stimson arrives.

ANTHRACITE FREIGHT RATES CUT SOUGHT

Parity With Baltimore Is Asked by Merchants Association.

Efforts to bring about reduction in anthracite freight rates to Washington to correspond with a similar reduction recently granted to Baltimore were indorsed yesterday by the board of governors of the Washington Merchants and Manufacturers Association.

The move for reduced rates was instituted recently by the coal division of the association. Baltimore, until it received a reduction, was on a parity with Washington. If Washington received a similar erduction, consumers here of anthracite coal would save $100,000 a year, it was stated.

The board of governors voted to cooperate with the firemen's parade on Labor Day to the extent of requesting retail merchants to decorate their places of business on the day of the parade and to enter floats in the parade. This action was taken after Sergt. A. J. Bargnani, chairman of the firemen's parade committee, addressed the board.

A resolution was adopted asking the District Commissioners to increase the police force in the downtown business area. Such expansion is needed, it was stated, because of the contemplaetd abandonment of the First Precinct and transfer of this precinct out of the business section to the Sixth Precinct.

Dr. M. G. Gibbs, chairman of the Booster steamer outing which was recently held, was given a vote of thanks for his work in connection with the outing.

Text of France's Answer To Hoover Debt Proposal

The text of the note from the French government in reply to the Hoover debt plan, delivered at the State Department on June 24 by the French Ambassador, was as follows:

"The French government has examined with keen interest the proposal of the President of the United States and declares itself in cordial agreement with the lofty sentiments which inspired the said proposal.

"The French government, more than any other, is desirous of seeing affirmed, in action for the economic reconstruction of the world, a solidarity with which it has always been inspired, both in accepting the successive reductions in the German debt and in executing in advance the evacuation of the third Rhineland zone in exchange for a complete and definitive settlement of the program of reparations decided upon at Geneva September 16, 1928.

"It desires to emphasize before world opinion the extent of the new sacrifices which is asked of France after all those to which she has already consented.

"In response to President Hoover's proposal, the French government is prepared to ask the French Parliament, whose intervention is indispensable and whose decision is sovereign, that France provisionally, and for a period of one year, forego the retention of any payment made by the Reich.

One Annuity Nonpostponable.

"But, in view of the character of the freely accepted and recently signed engagements of the Young plan, the solemnity with which was recognized the definitive and nonpostponable character of the unconditional annuities which express the permanent necessity of the principle of reparations, there would be a great risk of shaking confidence in the value of signatures and contracts, and thus of proceeding contrary to the aim in view, if in the proposed suspension of payments the nonpostponable annuity should be treated like the conditional annuity.

"The French government emphasizes, in particular, that a formal assimilation has been established between the private debts of the Reich (Young and Kreuger loans) and the unconditional annuity not yet mobilized.

"To suspend the payment by Germany of the unconditional annuity while permitting that the Young loan disposed of to the public should continue to be serviced, would go directly against a fundamental principle and express stipulations.

"The French government, therefore, considers that there is a moral interest of the first order in not postponing in any way the payment of the unconditional annuity, even during the period contemplated by President Hoover.

Desirous of Collaborating.

"The French government, being desirous of collaborating fully in every effort made to attenuate the consequences of the present crisis, believes that it should point out, in the very interest of the success of this effort, that the mere general suspension of payments would furnish an inadequate remedy. The dangers now threatening German economy and, more generally, European economy, have another origin and are especially due to important restrictions of credit and withdrawals of foreign funds. The solution of the German crisis, therefore, does not appear to lie only in the diminution of the charges on the budget of the Reich, but in an extension of credit.

"That is why the French government declares its readiness, subject to the approval of Parliament, to place at the disposal of the Bank of International Settlements a sum equal to its share for one year of the nonpostponement annuity, with the sole exception of the amounts necessary to the execution of the balances of the current contracts for payments in kind, a proceeding which, moreover, is advantageous to German economy.

"In making this proposal, the French government expects that the other beneficiaries under the Young plan will adopt that same decision, and it even hopes that other measures may be taken to favor the beneficial restoration of credit and confidence in the world.

Should Take Precautions.

"The sums thus turned over to the Bank of International Settlements could be utilized at once for improving credit in Germany as well as in countries of central Europe, and especially those in which the suspension of the execution of the Young plan during one year might create financial or economic disturbance. It goes without saying that the amounts so employed would again become available at the expiration of the period of one year contemplated as the limit of the provisional suspension of the Young plan.

"The French government also believes that all necessary precautions should be taken in order that these sums, as well as those to be derived from the easing of the budget of the Reich as a result of the suspension of the Young plan payments for one year, may only be used for economic purposes, all danger of financing of dumping being eliminated.

"Lastly, it will be advisable to contemplate before the expiration of the period of one year an examination of measures to be taken by Germany for the resumption of her payments.

"The proposals of the French government and the adjustment, which will be suggested by the application of the American offer and which will necessarily be the subject of a subsequent exchange of views, thus appear to be perfectly compatible with the dominant idea of President Hoover's proposal.

France's Debt Is Larger.

"In placing at the disposal of the Bank of International Settlements, on the conditions contemplated above, her part in the unconditional annuity, France is deprivd, during the suspension period, of what had been allotted to her on account of the charges which she has to meet for the reconstruction of her devastated regions.

"Without wishing to insist on the difference between the sums which she has received and the sums which she should have received, France recalls that the amount of her public debt is about four times that of the debt of the Reich and that her effort at financial restoration carried on and accomplished by her own means barely four years ago should not be endangered.

"The French government can, therefore, affirm the solidarity of the French Republic and of the Republic of the United States at the moment when, faithful to their traditions, the two countries are cooperating in precautionary measures in a crisis which is considered grave. They have a right to hope that a response will be made to their international good will, by respect for treaties, and by the restoration of confidence between peoples, on which the future of peace depends.

Franco Is Ousted As Spain's Air Chief

Madrid, June 26 (A.P.).—Maj. Ramon Franco, Spanish transatlantic flier, who frequently was at odds with the old monarchist government, today was dismissed as chief of the air crops.

The government had warned him to stop distributing "revolutionary party" leaflets from his plane, but Franco, who is in a hospital at Seville, had announced he would continue his activities by dictating speeches for his colleagues to deliver. He suffered a fractured leg when his speaking stand collapsed Wednesday.

Yesterday the flier announced he would seek to be relieved as chief of the air service. He said he considered the post as more political than military. There is an order against those in active military service participating in political affairs.

The aviator, who was an exile from Spain at the time of the overthrow of King Alfonso, had been actively campaigning as a candidate for the new constituent assembly, and urging a "real revolution" rather than a conservative government.

Testimony Closes In Gordon Murder

New York, June 26 (A.P.).—Without taking the stand themselves, Harry Stein and Samuel Greenberg rested their defense on alibis, presented principally by relatives, and testimony was concluded today in their trial for the murder of Vivian Gordon.

Six witnesses attested to Greenberg's presence in the home of a sister, mourning the death of his mother, on the February night the night-life figure was slain.

Formal defense motions for directed verdicts of acquittal were denied, and court adjourned until Monday, when arguments of opposing counsel may consume an entire day. Using Harry Schlitten, self-labeled "deathcar" driver, as a key witness, the State's case was based on a story that Stein and Greenberg strangled Miss Gordon, while on an automobile ride, dropped her body in a park and stripped it of valuables.

CANADA APPROVES HOOVER DEBT PLAN

United States and Britain Being Notified Offer Is Accepted in Principle.

Ottawa, Ont., June 26 (A.P.).—Premier Bennett announced in the House of Commons today that Canada is prepared to accept in principle the Hoover proposal for a one-year morstorium on all government debts. He said Great Britain and the United States were being notified of the decision. Mackenzie King, opposition leader, expressed concurrence in the stand of Premier Bennett.

"The initiative whch the Unted States has taken is a notable contribution to the restoration of sound economic conditions throughout the world," said the premier.

"If carried out, the suspension of debt payments for the coming year will give a breathing space to heavily burdened countries, help to restore the confidence and hope essential to business revival, and set large sums free for economic reconstruction.

"The suspension of German reparation payments would mean, so far as Canada is concerned, that our treasury will be deprived of something over $4,000,000 during the coming twelve months. In view of our own financial conditions, and in view of the fact that our expenditures on interest, on war debts, pensions and other direct war legacies constitute some 40 per cent of our whole expenditure, this is not a sum lightly to forego.

"The Canadian government believes, however, that the people of Canada would wlah us to support the generous proposal of President Hoover, and to take our part in this endeavor to stabilize world conditions.

"We are prepared, therefore, to accept the proposal in principle and to associate outselves with the British government in the United Kingdom in the declaration that as soon as the proposal has been accepted by the chief creditor governments we will be prepared to notify the Bank for International Settlements to suspend German reparation payments on Canadian accounts. We have advised his majesty's government of Great Britain and the Government of the United States accordingly."

HOTEL RECEIVERSHIP HEARING SET JULY 2

Original Mayflower Bill Is Dismissed; New Plea Given Court.

Holding that certain of the averments in the original bill filed by five men to have receivers appointed for the Mayflower Hotel were vague and to some extent were therefore "unanswerable," Justice Oscar R. Luhring yesterday dismissed the bill, which was filed by Attorney Mabel Walker Willebrandt.

This action came after Justice Luhring had requested that an amended bill, filed this week, be withdrawn by Mrs. Willebrandt so that he could rule on the original bill to keep the record straight. Mrs. Willebrandt assented to the withdrawal. Justice Luhring then granted the motion of Attorneys William E. Leahy, Edmund J. Toland and William J. Hughes to strike the bill from the records.

Thereupon the amended bill offered earlier in the week was resubmitted and accepted, and Justice Luhring issued a rule on the Mayflower defendants to appear July 2 and show cause why a receivership for the property should not be granted.

Mrs. Willebrandt also handed Justice Luhring a rule citing Charles C. Moore, trustee under the $2,400,000 second trust, to appear July 10 and show cause why he should not be removed as trustee. Mrs. Willebrandt charged he was a nonresident trustee and that he was not acting on written complaints sent to him by Mrs. Willebrandt. Inasmuch as Justice Luhring is going on vacation today, Justice Bailey or Justice Gordon will hear the complaints.

SHOUSE COMMENDS HOOVER DEBT PLAN

Forecasts It Will Help End Situation He Blames to Republicans.

Atlanta, June 26 (A.P.).—Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic national executive committee, tonight indorsed President Hoover's plan to suspend for one year payment of war reparations and war debts.

He spoke before a group of Georgia Democrats assembled here at a testimonial dinner for Gov.-elect Richard B. Russell.

"It is gratifying to be able to indorse and to commend, and that I do without hesitancy or reservation, in connection with the recent proclamation of the President, calling for a year's truce in all international debts," he said.

Plan Provides Breathing Space.

"His position shows statesmanship, courage and decision. If followed, the plan that he has outlined will give the world a breathing space and Germany, in particular, will be relieved for the time being of the burdens that have been pressing her and which conceivably might have led to a collapse. Such a result would have reacted with terrific force on the political and economic structure of the entire world.

"I look for no party obstruction to the President's purpose," he added, predicting the plan would have the cooperation of the majority of the Democratic congressional delegation.

"I welcome the act of the President," he said, "even though in my opinion no small part of the conditions which compelled it are due to the administration's own deeds."

Criticizes Administration.

Mr. Shouse told the Georgia Democrats that "the defenders of the Hoover administration have had but one answer to the various attacks the Democrats have made on its policies and performances and that is the charge that we have found fault with everything and can see no good in anything that President Hoover does. That, of course, is not true. We have not hesitated to criticize acts that merited condemnation."

He then issued his commendation of the President's war debt and reparations moratorium.

He took the Republican administration to task for the governmental deficit, national unemployment, business depression and the difficulties of the farmer.

Says Country Wants Change.

Chairman Shouse said the country is "eager for a change" of administration.

He urged the Democrats to face the prohibition question squarely, ascertain the views of the majority of the party, and embody the result in the national platform.

"I do not think that any clear thinker in the whole country is satisfied with the present condition," he said.

FRANCE MUST ALTER DEBT PLAN ATTITUDE

An hour later, Julius Barnes, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Chamber of Commerce, issued a statement saying that the directors, who represent "Big Business" in America, welcomed the step taken by President Hoover to aid the economic recovery of the world by his debt holiday program.

At the same time, Silas H. Strawn, chairman of the executive committee of the American section of the International Chamber of Commerce, announced that he had sent a cablegram to the general headquarters at Paris, praising the President's proposal. In this it was recalled that the recent convention here of the International Chamber of Commerce, with the approval of the American contingent, recognized the relationship between intergovernmental debts and the world economic depression.

To those whose thought on the French reply to President Hoover's debt and reparations proposal was based on advance press reports the actual text of the French reply came as something of a surprise.

France Wanted to Be Sure.

It was understood at the outset—before the official text was made public—that all that France wanted was to make sure that Germany was "kept in the habit" of paying reparations under the Young plan. France, it was said, just wanted to be sure that this wasn't a cancellation move, a move that would excuse Germany in the future from making good on what she has promised to pay.

It was understood that all that France proposed was that Germany be made to pay into the Bank of International Settlements in neutral Switzerland the unconditional payments—$110,000,000 or more—which she is obliged to pay to France under the Young reparation plan.

Then, it was understood, France would make it possible for Germany to borrow this money right back, so that, in the end, the thing would be nothing more than a bookkeeping transaction after all. The idea, it was explained, was that France did not want any German money, but simply wanted to guard against any breach in the integrity of the Young plan by allowing Germany to escape payments on her war reparations.

French Position Changed.

When the French note was made public yesterday it was found that the French position was somewhat different. The French, it was found, did not exactly propose that all the money that Germany placed in the Bank of International Settlements be made the basis of loans "as well in the countries of Central Europe."

World Rotary Meeting Ends With Tariff Talk

Vienna, June 26 (A.P.).—A fanfare of state opera trumpeters brought to a close today the twenty-second Rotary International convention. At the final session, which ended at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, brief speeches were made by the incoming president, Sydney Pascall, and the retiring president Almon E. Roth, and an address was delivered by Edward A. Filene, Boston merchant.

Speaking of the value of mass production and a high standard of living, Filene told the Rotarians that tariff walls would eventually come down, although the time was not yet ripe.

MEXICAN SLAYING CASE GOES TO JURY

Charge Against One Deputy to Be Pushed Whether Other Wins or Not.

Courthouse, Ardmore, Okla., June 26 (A.P.).—The murder trial of W. E. Guess for the slaying of Emilio Cortes Rubio, young kinsman of President Ortiz Rubio of Mexico, was given to a Carter County district court jury at 7:32 p. m. tonight.

The jury took the case just nineteen days after Cortes Rubio and his youthful student comrade, Manuel Garcia Gomez, lost their lives before Guess' gun on a residential street here.

County Attorney Marvin Shilling, closing the State's arguments, reminded the jury that Colquitt Davis, slayer of Deputy Sheriff Con Kiefsey near here recently was under death sentence, and asked if an officer who kills without excuse should have more consideration.

Calling Guess a "faithful public servant," J. B. Champion, who made the closing defense argument, said, "there is a just God in heaven who is going to exonerate the deputy."

Cecil Crosby, another former deputy sheriff, who also is charged with the murder, anounced he would demand a trial, even if Guess were acquitted.

Marvin Schilling, county attorney, anounced the charge against Crosby would not be dismissed regardless of the outcome of the Guess trial, but said Crosby could not be tried for some time because of lack of funds.

The Guess jury, instructed for three possible verdicts—first degree murder, first degre manslaughter, or acquittal—heard hours of oratory by half a score of lawers, including fiery little M. C. Gonales, attorney for the Mexican Consul General at San Antonio.

HARRISON PRAISES DEBT DELAY SCHEME

Senator Regards Proposal as Means of Speeding World Recovery.

(Associated Press.)

The world debts moratorium proposal was supported last night by Senator Harrison (Democrat), of Mississippi, in a radio speech, as a measure promoting the return of world prosperity.

"The world today is a sick patient," he said. "All of use, irrespective of party affiliation, can at least give our blessing and wish success to the physician who is attending and writing the prescription.

"It matters not if it is being written by a Republican President. I am a Democrat—a good Democrat, and the reason I am a good Democrat is because I am for American progress; I am for the welfare of the American people, and I want to help the oppressed of the world.

Would Oppose Cancellation.

"This is no move upon the part of this Government to cancel or modify our debt arrangements. Indeed, I would oppose it if I thought that was a factor in the consideration of the question. It is just one of those cases wherein we can afford to be generous and patient, in the hope that it might preserve a part of civilization, save a Republican form of government and influence such economic stability among a people, the beneficient results of which it is hoped will give impetus and confidence to the economic progress and general prosperity of the world."

Senator Harrison, ranking minority member of the finance committee, called bluntly upon France "to meet this crisis as have the American people." He has been in conference frequently on the moratorium with President Hoover and Secretary Stimson.

The Senator expressed confidence in the German people and declared them to be fighting a good cause for a Republican form of government. He believed the moratorium proposal would benefit the farmers of America and lead to employment generally.

Cites Wheat Price Advance.

"One thing is sure," he said, "and that is, that when the news of the President's plan was first flashed to the world, the wheat farmers of America were helped within less than 24 hours by more than $30,000,000 in an advanced price for wheat; the cotton farmers of the South by more than $50,000,000 in an immediate increase in the price of cotton, and the holders of property in the United States enriched by more than $1,000,000,000 in the rise in values of their holdings.

"More than that, gold reserves and foreign exchange reserves immediately ceased to be withdrawn from the Reichsbank, and its condition immediately improved. The banking situation throughout Germany and Austria became settled, and an air of confidence prevailed over central Europe."

Striking miners at St. Clairsville, Ohio, who formed a mine workers' organization, are shown at a mass meeting on a hillside near the Clarkson Mine Co.'s mine. Those standing in the background are acting as guards for those seated.

BOY GANGSTERS HELD IN SERIES OF THEFTS

mie Jones, of 1373 Irving street northwest, for "squealing," they told police of the Tenth Precinct. Police say the youth was not connected with the gang.

A barrage of stones was hurled at Jimmie, who made his escape uninjured. As he disappeared inside the doorway of his home one of the stray stones struck Rebecca Williams, 10, of the same address, inflicting a scalp wound, according to Policeman Dalstrom.

Adopt Gangland Jargon.

The youths told police they became enomoured of Chicago's underworld through much reading and occasional picture shows. They even fashioned their speech after the gang jargon, taken from cheap fiction. Articles stolen were taken for the thrill of it "and not because they wanted or needed the stuff," police said.

Housebreakings admitted date back over a period of ten months and furnish an explanation for numerous "goings on" that have long been a mystery to police, Dalstrom said.

The earliest "job" recorded took place on September 25, 1930, when the store of Jesse I. Prather, at 3165 Mount Pleasant street northwest, was entered after dark and 150 pennies, 10 nickels and 5 skeleton keys removed from the cash register.

On June 7 the same pair accused in this case are charged with removing $22 from the purse of Mrs. Jennie Penn, of Irving street near Thirteenth street northwest, said to be related to one of the boys. The purse was in a suit case in a closet on the second floor of the house and disappeared while she was eating dinner, Mrs. Penn said.

Robbed Cleaner of $48.

The largest theft charged to any of the members is said to have been perpetrated between March 7 and 9, when between $50 and $60 was stolen from the Spick and Span Cleaning establishment of Morris Needles, at 3008 Fourteenth street northwest. Police say three of the youths admit taking $48 and dividing it three ways.

Other counts of housebreaking various members of the gang are said to have admitted, follow:

Theft of "some change" from the pocketbook of Lillian Maizel, while she was at work in the Wolp jewelry store, 3302 Fourteenth street northwest, October 15, 1930.

Entrance of the Elite Laundry branch at 3331 Fourteenth street through a skylight, on the night of June 1, and the theft of change from a cash register.

Other Raids Are Charged.

A raid on the store of C. T. Porter, at 3176 Mount Pleasant street northwest, June 11, theft of perfume and handkerchiefs, a check for $29.82 and a fur collar cut from a woman's coat. Other clothes were damaged.

Theft of $8.50 from the cash register of a store operated by Walter Camp at 3121 Fourteenth street northwest, April 19.

Theft of two vending machines from the barber shop of William Hilton, 3205 Mount Pleasant street, on June 16. The vending machines were afterward recovered on a vacant lot.

Theft of a $3.50 cigarette lighter from the Kenesaw Drug Store, at Mount Pleasant and Irving streets, March 11. The lighter later was sold to a colored man for 50 cents.

Entrance of the store of Morris Berger at 3102 Eleventh street northwest, and theft of cigarettes, cakes, soft drinks and $1.40 in cash.

According to the parents of Jimmie Jones, he was captured by some of the boys a year ago, tied hand and foot, and a cat teased to scratch his face.

Post and Gatty May Cut 10-Day World Hop Time

New York, June 26 (A.P.).—The high speed with which Wiley Post and Harold Gatty traversed the Moscow-Novo Sibirsk leg of their world-girdling voyage today surprised the most optimistic of their followers and raised the possibility they may cut into their ten-day schedule for the air adventure.

The Americans have the guiding rails of the Transsiberian Railway to follow to Irkutsk, second largest city in Siberia, approximately 1,000 miles from Novo Sibirsk, but some concern was expressed here lest Post overtax his strength.

The full burden of piloting falls on Post, for the monoplane Winnie Mae does not have dual controls, and Gatty occupies a rear navigation cabin. Despite unusual stamina, Post has only one eye, and the strain on his sight has been great.

Both men were in excellent condition at Moscow.

HOIRIIS AND HILLIG FINISH OCEAN HOP

we were over Spain yesterday afternoon.

"With gas running low we headed north across the Pyrenees and over France, landing at Krefeld, in Germany, later in the afternoon. We tried to make Copenhagen, but were too tired after we landed again at Bremen.

"So here we are."

The Order of the Dannebrog, in which Hoiriis received knighthood, is of miraculous origin, according to Danish tradition. It was founded by Valdemar II in 1219 as a memorial of a victory over the Esthonians, won after the appearance in the sky of a red banner bearing a white cross. Historically the order dated from 1671, when it was founded by Christian V.

The fliers plan to remain in Denmark for a while, and later intend to take the Liberty on a demonstration flight to various cities of Germany. The time for the start of this tour has not been fixed.

Hillig was said to be willing to make a return flight to America, but his partner was understood to have made a promise not to undertake this, although he will remain an aviator.

M'LEAN WITHDRAWS POST FROM MARKET

curity which would be behind the mortgage bonds to be given in part payment by Mr. Hearst. The Lawrence mortgage would have been secured by the assets of The Post, which Mr. Lawrence would have continued to publish. Mr. Hearst would have combined, The Post with the Washington Herald.

Mr. McLean was present in the court yesterday, but sat back of the rail on one of the benches for spectators, took no part in the formal proceedings, permitting George B. Fraser, of his counsel, to read to the court a statement that Mr. McLean, after further consideration of the proposals that he sell The Post, had decided not to do so and withdrew his approval of the first Lawrence offer and The Post was not for sale. Mr. Fraser asked Justice Adkins to dismiss the whole proceedings.

Mr. Flannery told Justice Adkins that while the trust company, as a trustee, believed the offer of Mr. Hearst should be accepted, it did not desire to insist the sale be made.

Guardians Insist on Sale.

Lucien R. Mercier and Ralph D. Quinter, guardians ad litem, appointed by the court for the minor McLean children, however, insited that The Post be sold in the interest of th estat. Mr. Mrcier was almost bitter in his criticism of Mr. McLean for his decision not to sell The Post, but Justice Adkins said that Mr. McLLean certainly had a right to change his mind, and if he had now decided The Post should not be sold, then tvers was nothing more before the court.

Though Mr. LLawrence was present, occupying a chair beside W. W. Spalding, his attorney, in the front row of the jury box, he took no active part in the proceedings. Neither did Arthur Brisbane, Mrs. Eleanor Patterson, C. J. White, general manager of the Hearst organization, nor Joffrey Konta, of New York, Hearst attorney, who also were present.

Mrs. McLean Represented.

Mrs. McLean, who had expressed the wish that The Post be preserved to the estate because it would afford John R. McLean 2d, and Edward B. McLean, jr., an unparalleled opportunity for a career of service, was represented by Frank J. Hogan and Albert W. Fox, but they, too, were merely silent spectators.

Wilton J. Lambert, counsel for Mr. McLean as trustee of the estate, questioned Mr. Thom about Mr. McLean's knowledge of conferences at which the offers for The Post were discussed. Mr. Lambert's questions followed a sereis of questions asked by Julius I. Peyser, who had acted as agent in the negotiations which resulted in the agreement on the first offer by Mr. Lawrence. Maj. Peyser said he was interested, not only as a lawyer who had been engaged in the negotiations, but because of the fact that he would have been paid $87,00 commission if the Lawrence deal had gone through.

Man Slightly Hurt by Auto.

Leo Coveleski, 24 years old, of 1865 California street northwest, was slightly injured yesterday when he was struck by an automobile on Twelfth street northwest at the north agricultural driveway. Police say the car which struck Mr. Coveleski was driven by Bean B. Bierly, 22 years old, of Sixteenth street northwest near O street.

POST AND GATTY DINE IN BERLIN ON WORLD TRIP

40 ARE DEAD AS HEAT WAVE BROILS NATION

(Associated Press.)

Heat broiled the Nation yesterday from California to the Alleghenies. More than two-score deaths were attributed to the year's most intense and general hot wave. Except for widely scattered areas—most of the Atlantic seaboard, the northern Pacific coast and parts of Minnesota and North Dakota—the country sweltered most of the day.

Those who looked to the skies last night for signs of relief saw none. Government predictions generally promised a continuance of the torrid weather.

The southern part of California, including San Diego and Los Angeles, suffered in 90-plus temperatures. San Francisco, Seattle and Portland, Oreg., however, enjoyed themselves in comparatively cool weather, with readings in the 60s at the last two places.

Further east, the temperatures mounted as a blazing sun baked the plains and prairies, and in some places threatened crops. The great Mississippi River valley was a cauldron. Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri, Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, and southern Michigan suffered with thermometers hovering close to or above the 100 degree mark.

Yuma, Ariz., and Neodosha, Kans., with their pace-setting 108, and 106 degrees, respectively, on Thursday, met no relief. Galesburg, Ill., reported 104 degrees for an all-time June record; South Dakota's prairies blazed with readings above 100 degrees at all recording points; Missouri cities for the most part reported 100 degrees or more heat; all Illinois sizzled.

The western Lake Michigan shore got a few breaths of short-lived cooling breeze during the day, and Ohio's heat was dissipated temporarily by a violent wind, hail, rain and electrical storm.

The heat started off early in Chicago and Milwaukee with evident intent to set new all-time records. Suddenly the wind veered and jerked the mercury down from 92 degrees, at 11 a. m., to 78 degrees an hour later at Chicago. But the relief was brief. At 5 p. m. thermometers showed 95.

The southern tier of States from the Arizona desert to the Atlantic south of Norfolk, Va., apparently escaped the brunt of summer's attack, although temperature readings generally were in the 90s.

The Atlantic seaboard north of Norfolk, and including all New England and eastern Pennsylvania and New York, enjoyed temperatures in the cool 60s and 70s.

SIX DEAD AS STORM HITS NORTHERN OHIO

Toledo, and Jack McCullough, Detroit, swam more than a mile and a half to shore after their rowboat upset in the gale. Several other parties were towed to safety by speed boat crews.

Customs patrol cutters rescued fifteen fishermen in Lake St. Clair as a high wind was blowing them out into the lake. Several were clinging to overturned boats. No loss of life on the lakes was reported.

George Renno, a farmer near Yale, Mich., was killed when lightning struck near his home. Private Charles Longava, of East Chicago, Ind., was fatally injured and Private Harry J. Lewis was seriously hurt when they were pinned beneath the door of a Selfridge Field hangar which blew over on them while they were attempting to close it. In Detroit, twenty persons were treated for cuts and bruises suffered from falling tree limbs and breaking window glass.

Maryland Has Electrical Storm.

Special to The Washington Post.

Hagerstown, Md., June 26.—The worst electrical storm in many years passed down the Cumberland Valley late this afternoon, causing considerable damage to property.

A partial check-up tonight over crippled communications showed a number of buildings struck by lightning, but no fatalities. The storms, one following the other, centered over downtown Hagerstown.

At the home of Mrs. Mary C. Charles, Big Spring, a bolt of lightning stripped a room of its wall paper, but the occupants of the house were unhurt.

At the home of Stanley Moore, Dry Run, a lightning bolt tore off the slate roof. No one was hurt.

Another bolt hit a barbeque stand near Williamsport, narrowly missing an endurance pole sitter, who was sitting on a high pole near the building which was struck. The occupants of the building, however, were stunned.

Over an inch of rain fell.

Western Ontario Suffers.

Toronto, Ontario, June 26 (A.P.).—Western Ontario centers were overflowing tonight from one of the severest storms the district has suffered in years. Damage was particularly heavy at Chatham, where a gale of cyclonic proportions disrupted electric service, damaged buildings and blew down trees. Earlier in the day Windsor was deluged with a heavy rain.

London and Stratford also were in the path of the storm, although of less severity than farther west.

Damage at Chatham was believed to exceed $100,000 as workmen began to clear city streets of debris.

Little Damage in Capital.

Several trees were blown down and the Anacostia and Benning sections were plunged in darkness for approximately three minutes last night by the thunderstorm which broke over the city about 6 o'clock, but little damage was reported.

Lightning struck a 13,000-volt meter on Benning road, alongside the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks at 6:59 p. m., shutting off all lights in that section until 7:01 p. m.

A tree was blown down across an automobile owned by Dr. E. Bocock, of the Gallinger Hospital staff, which was parked at 900 Nineteenth street northwest. The car was only slightly damaged. Other trees were blown down at 1518 Church street northwest, 1921 G street northwest, 1901 G street northwest, and on Fourteenth street northwest, between Constitution avenue northwest and B street southwest.

STATE MEN TRAVEL FAIRFAX HIGHWAYS

Improvements Over County Are Reported Planned by Virginia Body.

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Fairfax 186.

Wade H. Massie, of Culpeper District, and H. G. Gilmer, of southwest Virginia, members of the State Highway Commission, were in Fairfax County yesterday to tour State highways in the county. They were met by a special committee of the Fairfax County Chamber of Commerce which has made a survey and sent recommendations to the commission for improvements to handle increasing traffic, especially for the bicentennial celebration.

While it has not been verified it has been said the State is planning to build a connection from the Fort Buffalo terminus of Lee boulevard to the Lee highway in Falls Church and to widen the Lee-Jackson highway through the town of Fairfax this year. It is expected construction of the Lee highway cut around the town of Fairfax will be put off until next year.

It has been stated that the State Highway Commission's policy is to build new roads rather than widen existing routes as a means of relieving congestion and it is reported members of the commission are interested in a project to include roads from Pohick Church to Falls Church by way of Annandale, which would make a direct connection from the Washington Richmond highway to Lee Boulevard, furnishing an additional entrance to Washington from the South.

In the last year there has been agitation for widening of the Washington to Richmond highway below Alexandria by the State and elimination of several dangerous sections of this road. This week the State Highway Commission, through its attorney, F. Shield McCandlish of Fairfax, instituted six condemnation proceedings for land along the highway between Gum Springs and Snake hill, before Judge Walter T. McCarthy of the Fairfax County Circuit Court.

The States has asked for appointment of commissioners to inspect the land and assess damages. The suits will be heard before Judge McCarthy July 6. Land owners named in the papers are: W. F. P. Reid, Parker Cole and wife, John Drotar and wife, C. M. Ferguson, Arthur D. Kirby, Catherine Ridge, J. T. Morrison, Frank A. Rollins and the Own-Your-Home Association.

It is understood land covered by these suits is needed to remove traffic hazards along the highway. While nothing definite is known of intentions of the commission it is expected this work will be done this year.

Annual picnic of Herndon Chapter, No. 55, Order of Eastern Star, will be today at Chapel Point, Md. Bus transportation for members has been secured by the worthy matron, Mrs. E. M. Armfield.

Fortnightly Club of Herndon will hold a strawberry festival and ice cream social this evening in Railroad Park in Herndon.

Piedmont Chapter of American War Mothers will hold its regular monthly meeting this afternoon in the Crossman Methodist Church at Falls Church. Following the business meeting members will place a marker on the War Mothers memorial tree in the grounds of Falls Church School. Mrs. T. T. Taylor, of Dunn Loring, will have charge of ceremonies.

A mistrel show will be presented this evening by Ladies' Aid Society of the Southern Methodist Church of Chesterbrook in auditorium of Chesterbrook School for benefit of the church. Cast will include Mrs. A. Sherman Mutersbaugh, Mrs. Harry Walker, Mrs. Benjamin Stalcup, Mrs. Lois Beall, Mrs. Carl McIntosh, Mrs. Annie McIntosh, Mrs. Charles E. Furlong, Miss Vinnie Waite Watson, Mrs. R. D. Warfield, Mrs. Harry H. Hill, Mrs. T. T. Fitzhugh, Mrs. James Byrnes, Mrs. Eppa Robertson and Mrs. Edward Heath.

MAN, HELD IN KIRK CASE, CALLED CRAZY

Tucker Is Ordered Sent to St. Elizabeths; Admits Fatal Shooting.

Unfolding a lurid tale in which he casually admitted he had killed a man in California, George Pierce Tucker, indicted for first degree murder for the slaying of the recluse Emma Kirk, in her umbrella repair shop at 819 R street northwest five years ago, was found of unsound mind by a lunacy jury before Justice Oscar R. Luhring yesterday.

Tucker was immediately whisked away to the St. Elizabeths Hospital for the Insane, where he will be incarcerated probably for the remainder of his life in the famed Howard Hall, which houses all the Government's criminally insane persons.

Assistant United States Attorney William H. Collins represented the Government at Tucker's hearing. He interposed no serious objections to the commitment to St. Elizabeths.

Questioned by Justice Luhring as to the origin of three bullet wounds in his body, Tucker said that he had received them in a shooting fray, and had inflicted fatal wounds on his opponent. He said he had shot the other man five times. Another odd angle to Tucker's case was the fact, which was brought out in the hearing, that a woman whose pocketbook he was accused of snatching in California, had been found cut to pieces the day before he was to be tried for taking her purse.

Tucker was picked up in California on a trivial charge, later brought here, and when he was questioned he told of having choked Emma Kirk to death. His peculiar actions aroused the speculation of authorities here, and an examination of his mind was made by Dr. D. Percy Hickling, District alienist, who recommended his transfer to St. Elizabeths.

ARMY OFFICER HELD ON DRIVING CHARGES

Maj. Edward Montgomery Is Accused of Operating Car While Intoxicated.

A man identifying himself as Maj. Edward Montgomery, of the U. S. Army, and living on Oliver street, Chevy Chase, was arrested yesterday morning on a charge of driving while drunk, following an automobile accident on Nineteenth street near L northwest and a chase of several blocks, in which a taxi driver and a Traffic Bureau policeman took part. The man was later released under a bond of $1,000.

Thomas L. Buckner, colored, 24 years old, of 2012 L street northwest, told police he had his taxicab parked yesterday morning, about 9:30 o'clock, on Nineteenth street near the intersection of L.

An automobile, he said, after hitting his cab from the rear, continued on its way. Buckner said he started in pursuit, and followed the car to Nineteenth and Pennsylvania avenue, where he saw Private G. N. Numsdey, of the Traffic Bureau.

Buckner picked up Private Numsdey, and together they trailed the car, according to police, and overtook it at Nineteenth and F streets northwest. Numsdey arrested the driver and took him to the Third Precinct Station, where he was docketed on the drunk driving charge.

PUBLIC UTILITY FUND QUIZ TO BE SPEEDED

Hearings Will Be Continued After Labor Day; Report Likely Next Summer.

(Associated Press.)

The Federal Trade Commission has been investigating public utility financing for three years and its task is not quite half finished.

With hearings in adjournment until fall, a check-up yesterday showed that companies producing about 26 per cent of the nation's electric power had been included in the hearings.

Although no more hearings will be held until after Labor Day, the commission's staff of nearly 100 investigators will continue their work in all parts of the country.

Faster Progress Expected.

Faster progress is expected when hearings are resumed, as quantities of material assembled during the summer will be ready for submission. By next summer the commission hopes to have its hearings fairly well completed and to start preparation of its report to the Senate.

It has not yet concluded the "publicity" phase of its investigation which Thursday brought forth documentary evidence that the National Electric Light Association set aside $58,000 in 1927 to finance research work at Harvard and Northwestern Universities and that the American Gas Association undertook to establish a course at Columbia University.

A letter written by Paul S. Clapp, managing director of the National Electric Light Association, was introduced and said the research program at Northwestern was "to cover a complete study of municipal, State and Federal ownership against private ownership under regulation."

Refused Access to Records.

Early in its investigation, the commission was refused access to certain records of the Electric Bond & Share Co., of New York. The case was taken into the United States court in the southern district of New York, where a decision by Judge Knox was partly favorable to both sides.

It was learned at the commission yesterday that the parties have practically agreed on a stipulation of fact which will soon be submitted to Judge Knox.

Large holding companies which have not yet been covered in the hearings include the Insull, Harley-Clarke, Billesby, Stone-Webster, Cities Service, Associated Gas & Electric Co., North American Light & Power Co., and Columbia Gas & Electric Co.

Lewis Denounces 'Business 'Snakes'

Democratic Editors Hear Senator Hit Hoover Administration.

Gary, Ind., June 26 (U.P.).—Senator J. Hamilton Lewis, of Illinois, berated the "snakes and vipers" of big business tonight in answer to President Hoover's recent speech to the Republican editors of Indiana.

The "snakes and vipers," said Lewis, in his address before the Democratic editors of Indiana, are "our master economists and manufacturers who put the plague upon us."

Lewis said the Republicans had been responsible for the business depression by betraying th country with "partisan perfidy," by "looting the peoples' Federal Reserve Bank," by betraying "the Democratic adjusted tariff," by "privilege and monopoly," and by "the resultant failure of banks."

Helen and Lupescu Poisoning Denied

Rumor Regarding Queen Is Officially Branded as "Absurd Invention."

Bucharest, Roumania, June 26 (A. P.).—Attaches of the royal palace authorized the Associated Press today to deny published reports that Queen Helen was suffering from poison taken by mistake.

A high authority said the queen was in a cheerful frame of mind and was in the best of health, physically and mentally. The reports were designated as "absurd inventions."

As for the same rumor concerning Mme. Magda Lupescu, it was said there was not even good ground for the assumption that she was in the country, let alone she had taken an overdose of a sedative in a pique at King Carol. The suggestion was scouted.

Otto H. Kahn Defendant In Palm Beach Land Suit

West Palm Beach, Fla., June 26 (A.P.).—Otto H. Kahn, of New York and Palm Beach, was named defendant today in a suit brought by the Delaware Securities Corporation to eject him from a piece of ocean front property in the heart of Palm Beach.

Mr. Kahn, the declaration stated, is in possession of land to which the Delaware company claims title, and has received profits of the land since June 5, 1930, to a yearly value of $1,000 and has refused to deliver possession of the property to the Delaware company or pay profits to it.

Alleged Reckless Driver Held in Death.

London, Ontario, June 26 (A.P.).—Darrel Taylor, of Kent, Ohio, was charged with manslaughter today in the death of Bert Loosemore, 22, of Glencoe, who was burned to death in a highway crash on April 29. A coroner's jury found that reckles driving on the part of Taylor had been responsible for Loosemore's death.

Tax on U. S. Magazines Delayed.

Ottawa, Ontario, June 26 (A.P.).—E. B. Ryckman, minister of national revenue, today informed customs collectors that the 15 cents a pound duty on magazines from the United States will not become effective until August 15. The tax was to have become effective July 1.

Nautilus Reaches Plymouth.

DRYS COMBINE, LAY PLANS FOR NEXT YEAR'S CAMPAIGN

Dr. F. Scott McBride, superintendent of the Antisaloon League, said:

"There was a friendly discussion of the allied forces' plans. Dr. Poling declared he favored a friendly relationship between his organization and the older groups."

Dr. Poling said Thursday the 257-day campaign planned by the allied forces to reach into as many cities prior to the political conventions of 1932, was seeking "fresh support" for the dry law. He added he believed this new support was needed to "weigh the balance between defeat and victory in 1932."

Members of the strategy board said no mention was made yesterday of men the dry forces would support for presidential candidates in 1932, and that only a brief time was devoted to the initial discussions of plans for coordinating dry activities leading up to the party conventions next summer.

After several ballots, Dr. Ernest H. Cherrington, secretary of the World League Against Alcoholism, was selected as permanent chairman of the board of strategy. Cherrington also is chairman of the executive committee of the national conference.

The board of strategy, after an entire afternoon spent in balloting, named Senator Capper, of Kansas, and Robert L. Owen, former senator from Oklahoma, as honorary chairmen of their organization.

Vice chairmen named were as follows: Former Representative Grant M. Hudson, of Michigan; Mrs. J. W. Nicholson, of Chevy Chase, Md., chairman of the Democratic Women's Law Enforcement League; Mrs. Ella A. Boole, president of the W. C. T. U., and Col. Callahan. Miss Izora Scott, legislative representative here of the W. C. T. U., was named recording secretary.

These officers, together with Dr. McBride, Dr. Clarence True Wilson, chairman of the Board of Temperance of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and Dr. Arthur J. Barton, chairman of the Board of Social Service of the Southern Baptist Convention, were named members of the executive committee.

In a formal statement issued late yesterday, Dr. Cherrington took issue with any suggestion that the prohibition movement be divorced from the church. He made no mention of the plans of Dr. Poling to carry out his campaign apart from the church.

"The churches, which made possible the formation and development of the temperance movement and which are today the sources of its greatest strength," Dr. Cherrington said, "are not likely to heed the suggestions of the wet group and withdraw from the field.

"Nothing could be more pleasing to the enemies of prohibition than any separation between the temperance movement and the church. Such a separation would at once be hailed as a repudiation of this movement by the church."

BATHING REVUE HELD BY 40 QUOTA CLUBS

Washington Group's Banquet Is Closing Feature of Convention.

Bathing suits dating from 1867 to 1951, were displayed by members of the Quota Club from 40 cities at the Shoreham Hotel yesterday afternoon as one of the closing features of the twelfth annual convention of the club which has been in progress here most of this week.

Forty women paraded around the pool in bathing creations, showing what grandmother and mother wore when they went in swimming, what is being worn today and what is expected to be worn tomorrow.

Miss Elizabeth Kane, of the Worcester, Mass., club, was given a prize for display of what was judged to be the most authentic costume. Claire Hooten, of the Baltimore Club, received an award for the funniest and Ruth Harrell, of Norfolk, Va., was given a prize for the most pleasing costume.

All costumes, with exception of the one for 1951, were designed from patterns in the Harper's Bazar Magazine. The 1951 costume, which was significant for its economy of material, was created by the New York club.

Delegates to the convention were given a banquet by the Washington Club last night at the Mayflower Hotel. Miss Freida Kenyon, president of the Washington Club, was toastmistress. Speakers included Miss Catharine Olney, of Worcester, re-elected president of the national organization; Clifford Berryman, Washington newspaper cartoonist, and Frederic William Wile, Washington newspaperman. Entertainment was given by Ralph Richards, double quartet from Howard University and the Denishawn dancers.

A post-convention trip will be made to Annapolis today by the delegates, where they will be entertained by Mrs. Henry M. Roberts.

The California clubs were hosts at a luncheon to all delegates in the ballroom of the Mayflower yesterday. Dr. Mellen Shelley, of San Jose, Calif., a schoolmate of Mrs. Herbert Hoover, acted as toastmistress.

All international officers were re-elected. Besides Miss Olney, they are: Juliette Southard, of New York, first vice president; Myrtle Duke, of York, Pa., second vice president; Wilma Bull, of Davenport, Iowa, third vice president; Katherine Tancill, of Washington, D. C., treasurer; Elizabeth J. White, of Washington, general secretary.

HUNDREDS EXPECTED AT WOODLAND BEACH

Post Development Offers an Ideal Summer Home Site Nearby.

Woodland Beach again tomorrow will be the mecca of hundreds of Washingtonians, for each Sunday it is thrown open to the public so that interested persons may see the layout of the summer home development site and confer with those who have already become lot owners there.

Scores of Capital residents will spend the day working on their cottages at the beach, anxious to have them ready in a short time so that the remainder of the summer season may be spent in comfort along the cool waters of the South River in Maryland.

May Be Near Friends.

Still others, who have made purchases, will be at the beach planning their cottages and enjoying themselves while doing so. Then, too, there will be friends of lot owners anxious to pick choice locations for themselves so that they may be near their friends and neighbors.

Woodland Beach is a splendid place in which to spend at least a part of tomorrow. Pack a picnic lunch and load the family into the automobile. The children will find amusement devices on the ground while the recreation offered on the river and in the woods will appeal to all members of the family.

To reach this garden spot by automobile take the Defense highway as far as Camp Parole, turning right there onto Maryland State highway No. 2 across the South River and then left onto Mayo road which leads directly to the Woodland Beach Clubhouse, where a royal welcome awaits you. If you prefer to travel by electric car take the W., B. & A. line to Camp Parole, where every car on Sundays is met by buses which transport visitors to and from the beach.

$93 for Any Lot.

Remember Woodland Beach lots are offered at a price you can hardly afford to overlook. Only $93 for any lot on the development site, with a down payment of $9 plus the price of a subscription to The Washington Post. After that you may pay the rest in monthly installments of $3.50.

Boating, bathing and fishing are offered at Woodland Beach. Tall trees present shady nooks in which to rest away the hot summer hours. The spot is only 32 miles from Washington, easy to reach and close enough to town that you may return quickly if necessary.

Visit Woodland Beach tomorrow and learn of all its beauties and advantages.

HOOVER BACKS FARM BOARD-WHEAT PLANS

Stone's Call at White House Brings Reiteration of Sale Policy.

(Associated Press.)

Chairman Stone of the Farm Board talked over the wheat situation with President Hoover yesterday, and its policy on stabilization wheat sales still holds.

While the chairman, who had just returned from the West, and the White House were reticent on details, it was learned the board dispatched many replies to demands for a definite pledge that more than 200,000,000 bushels of wheat would be held from domestic markets.

They all were the same: "Stabilization supplies will be handled in such a way as to impose the minimum burden on domestic and world prices."

That was the answer made by the board last week to Kansas grain men, and in official quarters it is confidently believed the policy will be continued indefinitely.

Senator Watson, of Indiana, the majority party leader, called at the board yesterday and, after conferring with Stone, said the chairman indicated to him no change in policy would be made.

He urged that the 1930 surplus be held off the market and expressed himself as satisfied the board would not "dump" the wheat while the new crop is moving to terminals.

The Indianan presented a plea from his State that an exact promise be issued that no selling would be done during the new crop movement. A flood of others sought a year's pledge and some called for a nonsale policy until the price has reached $1.

Some growers and traders have claimed the board's present policy is not specific and constitutes a threat to domestic markets. Stone already has said wheat will be sold abroad if there is a demand and it does not adversely affect prices.

The board and the President have received a multitude of suggestions for handling the surplus wheat bought during the last year and a half to maintain market prices.

When the board announced it would not attempt stabilization in the new crop, demands began to pour in that it be held for a fixed period. They have come from legislators, grain traders and growers, civic clubs and individuals.

King Renews Appeal For Parley on Silver

(Associated Press.)

Senator King called at the State Department yesterday to urge again that the United States take the initiative in an international silver conference.

The Utah Democrat told assistant Secretary Rogers it would be a "psychological time" to call a conference following President Hoover's proposal for a year's moratorium on intergovernmental debts. The State Department also was urged to negotiate with Great Britain, Canada, Mexico and China for an immediate understanding to stabilize the price of silver at $1 an ounce pending an international conference.

1931 National Balloon Race Awarded to Akron

(Associated Press.)

The 1931 national elimination balloon race yesterday was awarded to Akron, Ohio, and the date for the contest was set as July 18.

The race, an annual lighter-than-air contest to pick the balloonists who will represent the United States in the international Gordon Bennett classic, will be limited to eight balloons, each of 80,000 cubic foot capacity and inflated with natural gas.

Veterans Auxiliary Reelects Officers.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., June 26 (A.P.).—Mrs. Frieda Mooney, of Los Angeles, Calif., today was elected national commander for the ensuing year of the Women's Auxiliary of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War. She was unopposed, as were the others for the seven elective officers of the organization.

LONDON WELCOMES YOUTHFUL "ENVOYS"

Lord Mayor Heads Crowds Greeting Americans on Good-Will Tour.

Special to The Washington Post.

London, June 26.—Carrying American and British flags, "envoys of friendship" from America, young Americans visiting England under auspices of the United States Flag Association, were given an ovation at the reception at the Guild Hall today at which the Lord Mayor of London presided. The great hall was packed with British children assembled to hear the message of goodwill and lasting friendship brought to Great Britain by their "cousins" from overseas, representing the youth of the United States.

Charge d'Affaires Atherton, acting ambassador in the absence of Ambassador Dawes, praised the object of the young Americans in coming to Europe for the purpose of building up friendships looking to the elimination of war in the future. Col. James A. Moss, president general of the United States Flag Association, in another speech, declared the Flag Association believed in rational patriotism, giving every country the right to love and revere its own flag, while conceding equal rights to other countries.

"The object of this trip, sponsored by patriotic women of America through the Flag Association," Col. Moss said, "is the ultimate elimination of war as a means of settling disputes that may arise among nations. As a veteran of three wars and a graduate of West Point Military Academy, I have come to see the horrors of war and to believe that rational patriotism can be achieved whereby nations argue their differences around a council table rather than upon the field of battle.

"These children represent the youth of America. They are here with a definite message of friendship and good will, a message that I hope to see result eventually in a strong friendship between Great Britain and the United States when these boys and girls assembled here have grown to manhood and womanhood and have taken over the reins of government in their respective countries."

The lord mayor, in welcoming the envoys, expressed the hope their visit to London would be instructive and inspiring.

John McDuffee and Catherine Du Bois, representing the envoys, voiced hopes for friendly relations with the children of Great Britain.

"UP FOR MURDER." Universal picturization of a story by Monta Bell, with dialogue by James Whitaker, starring Lewis Ayres, supported by Genevieve Tobin, Dorothy Peterson, Purnell Pratt, Frank McHugh and Richard Tucker. Directed by Monta Bell. Reviewed Friday afternoon.

By NELSON B. BELL.

In converting his silent picture of "Man, Woman and Sin" into an audible subject bearing the title of "Up for Murder," Monta Bell, former Washington newspaperman, has eliminated many of his original play's imperfections and all of its objectionable qualities. In so doing, he has skeletonized his plot to a degree that is almost a liability and has reduced his drama to a simple and direct story of a strange love that was largely developed in the shadow of the electric chair—although I believe this tale of Washington newspaper life, come to think of it, is supposed to have been laid back in the days of the gallows.

A great deal that is vital to the drama is conveyed purely by implication and through the device of newspaper headlines. And having obviously learned a bitter lesson as to what may with propriety be incorporated in a picture as material for defining character, Mr. Bell has left his principal players little enough upon which to build impressive portrayals. The yarn, nevertheless, is more closely knit and more interesting than when last presented in the Capital.

Lewis Ayres, cast as the young cub reporter, who fell desperately in love with the society editor on his paper, only to learn that she was the purchased chattel of the paper's publisher, is still playing Paul in "All Quiet on the Western Front." His is a moody and a baffled youth, monosyllabic, gloomy and intensely rebellious against things as he finds them—so much so that in a burst of rage he kills the man whom he feels has so viciously betrayed Myra Deane. Even in the inquisitorial scenes that follow, Robert Marshall remains a stolid and a stubborn lad. I doubt that this was an ideal vehicle to strengthen or perpetuate his star-dom. In the opposite role of the society writer, Genevieve Tobin is a gilded butterfly to the life, but not at all a convincing adornment of a newspaper office. Her performance here is a step backward from "Seed."

The remainder of the men in the cast acquit themselves creditably—Purnell Pratt, as the murder victim; Richard Tucker, his associate in the office; Frederick Burt, city editor, and Frank McHugh, as the office rummy—and Dorothy Peterson, as Bob Marshall's mother, offers another plaintive impersonation such as she did in "Mothers Cry."

The scenes in the mail room, the press room and the city room of a supposedly Washington paper—the story could be laid anywhere with equal justification—are realistically contrived. As a reflection of the smart mode, it may be said, Miss Tobin is pictorially perfect.

The supporting bill is made up of supplementaries that are numerous and diversified. The Pathe News, among other things, launches a crusade against the gangster; an Aesop Fable, with some tricky musical interpolations, deals amusingly with "Fisherman's Luck," Mickey McGuire and his juvenile cohorts offer a feeble carbon copy of "Our Gang" in "Mickey's Rebellion," Grantland Rice contributes one of his most interesting Sportlights in "Blue Grass Kings," devoted to the thoroughbreds in the C. V. Whitney racing stable and the running of the Kentucky Derby, and "Screen Snapshots" shows many noted film stars at play at Palm Springs and elsewhere.

Altogether, a program that rates respectful attention.

FOX

"THE BLACK CAMEL." A William Fox picturization of the story by Earl Derr Biggers, adapted to the screen by Hugh Stange, featuring Warner Oland, supported by Sally Eilers, Dorothy Revier, Bela Lugosi and Victor Varconi. Directed by Hamilton MacFadden. Reviewed Friday evening by W. A. Whitney.

After growing accustomed to Warner Oland in roles of sinister import and then having that impression rudely shattered by his delightful impersonation of Charlie Chan, "The Black Camel" comes along to complete the demolition of the earlier misconception.

In this Biggers story, Mr. Oland carries on in commendable fashion the Chan tradition. Unlike other zoological exhibits, the black camel makes its appearance only symbolically in the unfortunate demise of Dorothy Revier.

Just why this should have happened, how Charlie Chan knits up the ravelled sleeve of time—past as well as present, for the motivation for the current murder goes back three years to another—and, from the some ten or a dozen suspects, brings the rightful one to justice, forms the framework on which nineteen very acceptable characterizations are built.

In typical Biggers fashion the criminal is ferretted out with Warner Oland as the stellar performer, ably assisted by Bela Lugosi, in a less insidious and therefore more appealing role than he had in "Dracula." Victor Varconi, as the ex-husband; Violet Dunn, as Miss Revier's maid, and Otto Yamaoka, as Charlie's indefatigable assistant. Among the others having important roles are Sally Eilers, C. Henry Gordon, William Post and Murray Kinnell.

Although the current drama does not possess the usual quota of pungent aphorisms by the Hon. Charlie, his efforts at crime detection are not hampered.

As if to recognize the present efforts to conquer the elements holding forth over the Atlantic, Panchon and Marco offer their "Top o' the World" idea, a charming miniature revue.

Introducing the acts is Gene Morgan, another "man in the green hat" with a line of chatter that is genuinely entertaining, even if at times a little ribald. Fawn and Jardon present delightful ballroom dance and adagio numbers. Russell and Johnson, eccentric dancers, are entertaining. Jan and Jalna Wilde present three graceful dance routines, and Ernest McAuley and Don Kraft several charming specialties. Then there are the Sunkist Beauties.

Watchman Heard In Pitts Inquiry

Probe Resumed as Grand Jury Nears End of Term Early in July.

The District grand jury yesterday resumed its investigation into charges against G. Bryan Pitts, convicted former head of the F. H. Smith Co., as a result of testimony and documents offered by Pitts in his own defense at his trial.

Napoleon Rinfret, of New York City, watchman on the storage loft where records of the Smith company were seized by the Government, was the only witness. He had testified at pleas in abatement on behalf of Pitts, but did not appear in the actual trial as a witness.

Some action on the part of the grand jury will be necessary before the first Monday in July, for at that time the body goes out of office and new jurors will take their place.

COLUMBIA

"THE LAWYER'S SECRET." A Paramount picturization of the story by James K. Finn, adapted to the screen by Lloyd Corrigan and Max Marcin, featuring Clive Brook, "Buddy" Rogers, Richard Arlen, Fay Wray and Jean Arthur. Directed by Louis Gasnier and Max Marcin. Reviewed (second week) by W. A. Whitney.

Now that the secrets of the medical profession are no longer hidden from public view, it is small wonder that those of the legal should be paraded where he who takes the time may sit and see.

It is even less a wonder that a picture with so outstanding a cast as "The Lawyer's Secret" should be held for a second week. If this cinematic offering had no further merit than the array of popular favorites it has amassed, it would still be worthy of a protracted engagement.

Of the cast, naturally little can be said, the stellar contributions of Clive Brook, Richard Arlen, "Buddy" Rogers—not, of course, forgetting the ladies—Fay Wray and Jean Arthur—are too well graven on the public fancy. Whatever this drama may lack can not in any way be attributed to the dramatis personae.

The story, revolving around that elusive thing known as "professional ethics," leaves some few things to be desired, for, even in the eyes of this nonlegally trained reviewer, the play is too palpably based on false premises and details of police procedure, never overlooked, are too flagrantly disregarded. But, 'tis summer—and "The Lawyer's Secret" really is an entertaining picture, splendidly acted and admirably mounted.

Supporting the feature attraction are a Technicolor travelogue, "Cross Roads;" one of Walter Futter's Curiosity releases; an amusing Our Gang comedy, "Fly My Kite;" "Soda Papa," an animated cartoon, and a new issue of the Paramount Sound News.

Jobs Committee of Six Has Only Two Chairs

Headquarters of the District committe on unemployment was still furnished with only two chairs for its staff of six yesterday in the basement of the District Building. George J. Adams, jr., executive secretary, was debating whether to release four of his assistants.

He will not quit, however, until the District Commissioners inform him that his work is no longer necessary, despite the inconvenience of the new quarters. The District of Columbia Bicentennial Commission yesterday became a neighbor of the employment committee, being given two nearby rooms in the basement.

APPROACHING AGREEMENT.

Developments yesterday substantially relieved the tension in both Washington and Paris over President Hoover's proposal for a one-year moratorium on war debts and reparations. Success of the plan now appears more probable than it has done from the beginning. A great moral force has been marshaled behind the President's proposal. Partisanship has been generally submerged and every government interested is straining its energies to make relief for Germany a reality.

As was expected, a storm broke out in the French Chamber of Deputies. The attack did not center upon the plan itself, however, but upon the procedure of the American Government in promoting it. France is piqued because the United States made its suggestion for a debt and reparations holiday without reaching an understanding with that country. Added to this is resentment of the intimations which have been coming from Washington that the proposal must be accepted or rejected without reservations.

Apparently this criticism is largely a result of misunderstandings. Secretary Stimson hastened to explain that the Government has no intention of closing the door to negotiations on how the proposed agreement can be made effective. The President does not wish to imperil the Young plan, nor any of the funding agreements under which European nations are paying their debts to America. Secretary Stimson's explanation seems to be a virtual acceptance of the conditions laid down by France under which the nonpostponable annuities provided for in the Young plan would be paid into the Bank of International Settlements and then lent back to Germany.

Compromise with the French viewpoint may now be recognized as essential to the success of the President's proposal. Premier Laval went as far as he dared in accepting the proposition. Had he given unconditional adherence the Chamber of Deputies probably would have overturned his administration. Indications are that Parliament will support his modified agreement, but the outcome is still indefinite. France demands assurance that the Young plan will not be scrapped, and that payment of reparations shall be resumed at the end of the year. To these may be added other demands for the overhauling of German finances, renunciation of the proposed Austro-German customs union, assurance that Germany will remain disarmed and that agitation for revision of frontiers will be dropped.

Secretary Mellon has taken personal charge of the negotiations in Paris. He is able to assure the French government that the United States is not unmindful of the vital interests of that country in reparations and in the preservation of the Young plan. French officials have already given ample evidence to the United States that they are willing to cooperate to the full extent of their authority. All indications point to the belief that the differences between the two governments can be ironed out without sacrificing any essential part of President Hoover's plan and without jeopardizing the reparations agreement now in operation.

NATURAL PARKS.

Announcement was made by the National Government this spring of plans for greater natural park areas. Various States have since made public projects for retaining large tracts in their wild state. The Legislature of Pennsylvania has appropriated $450,000 to be added to the $200,000 raised by popular subscription to purchase and maintain Cook Forest.

The purpose of Cook State Forest will be to preserve and perpetuate a portion of the virgin forest of Pennsylvania. It will afford a place for recreation and study as well as forwarding the aims of forestry conservation. Maintenance of the distinctly natural scenery and conditions is the plan of the commission in charge.

North Carolina is also inaugurating a program to conserve its wild lands. Much of the ground is unsuitable for farming, but makes excellent hunting preserves. A campaign to educate residents in methods of protecting and propagating game in these sections is being prepared. By properly restricting hunting, vigorous vermin control, as well as captive game breeding, it is hoped to make North Carolina the finest game section in the country.

One of the most interesting of the Government conservation territories is Barro Colorado Island in Panama. When excavation of the canal was completed a small valley was flooded to afford passage between Culebra Cut and a section of the canal. The many wild animals, birds and insects living in the valley fled before the water as it crept higher and higher up the sides of the hills. In the middle of the lake that formed an eminence remained above the water. On this island gathered virtually every type of wild life found in that section. Under protection of the Government this island remains today a remarkable field of observation for students. The creatures protected from harm have become somewhat tame.

Yellowstone Park affords another example of conservation that has resulted in the taming of many of its wild inhabitants. Every effort to retain natural beauty spots and native game in their original state is to be commended as a lasting benefit to the country.

JOBS VS. CHEAP GOODS.

Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock Exchange, made a notable contribution to the study of the current business cycle when he suggested that "consumption rather than production seems to constitute the greater threat against the stability of business." The consumer, he says, is a comparative stranger. Much attention has been given to fluctuations in the output of commodities and in their distribution. But accurate information on the ultimate disposal of these goods is seriously lacking.

Production has not failed in the present emergency. On the contrary, there is much evidence to show that production increased faster than purchasing power and thus upset the economic balance. Furthermore, the depression did not induce manufacturers and farmers to curtail their output so as to create a shortage of the necessities of life. They were forced to retrench because the public quit buying in normal volume. It is very evident that the depression can not be overcome until normal buying begins again.

Purchasing power of the consuming public has been considerably reduced. Unemployment is responsible, in a measure, for slack business, yet unemployment is a direct result of the weaker demand for goods. It seems quite probable that if consumption had not fallen off there would have been no unemployment problem. Moreover, it is well known that the decline in consumption can not be accounted for entirely by the shrinkage of incomes. Many people are depositing money in savings banks in larger amounts than before the depression. There has been a vast accumulation of capital which has not flowed into retail trade because the people lack confidence in the future.

Consumption, therefore, seems to be the weak point in the existing economic system. This accounts for the ever-increasing emphasis that is laid upon maintenance of purchasing power. One of the most powerful arguments in support of the last revision of the tariff was that it would uphold the American standard of wages, which are the foundation of purchasing power. In this age there is no concern about producing enough of life's necessities. The question is one of distribution and consumption. Jobs which sustain the national income are more important than cheap goods. That is why the argument for purchasing all commodities where they can be obtained at the lowest price has collapsed.

The United States can well afford to give attention to this problem. No other nation is so dependent upon a strong domestic demand for goods and services. High wages and an abundance of work are far more important to the American people than is the difference in the costs of production here and abroad. The United States can remain a great nation of consumers only so long as it affords protection to its industries and wage earners.

INDIA IN TRANSITION.

Important events concerning the future of India will take place before the end of the year. In the midst of many other troubles London is very much concerned with the forthcoming visit of Gandhi and the round table discussions. Lord Irwin is pessimistic as to the possibilities of reaching an agreement between the Moslems and Hindus, but is more hopeful that the conference will find a settlement of the troublesome communal question.

Meanwhile Indian finances are in an unsatisfactory condition. The $50,000,000 government loan met with a poor reception when it was floated on the London market, about 62 per cent being left in the hands of the underwriters. The issue, in the form of 6 per cent bonds repayable in December, 1934, was offered to the public at par. This was the fifth Indian loan since the beginning of last year. The total of these loans, maturing during the next seven years, now approximates $300,000,000.

The last loan raised the question in Parliament as to whether conditions attached to the issue would insure that the proceeds would be expended for purchases in England. The Secretary of State for India answered that the recognized procedure in India had been followed and that no conditions would interfere with purchases for India being made in the cheapest market from which her demands could be obtained.

This traditional policy of England keeps the markets of India, with its population of 334,400,000, open to all the world. Recent surveys by American interests presage a great development in India, particularly in agriculture, that may lead to expansion of American trade. A representative of the New York Trust Co., who has just returned, reports that within the last 30 years the area under irrigation in British India has been increased by 59 per cent. The country is rich in mineral wealth and power resources and its manufacturing industries are showing marked progress, while road building and railway development are also advancing. If the London conference can mitigate religious and racial animosities so that attention may be turned to economic problems India's future will be brighter than ever before.

Retail sales amount to about $50,000,000,000 per year. During the last year prices have declined about 20 per cent. Do the politicians who blame the tariff for the depression concede that the Smoot-Hawley act has cut $10,000,000,000 from the cost of living?

In view of its splendid cooperation some one ought to come forth with a moratorium on the Democratic party's debt until after 1932.

CALVIN COOLIDGE SAYS:

Northampton, Mass., June 26.—Frequently unjustifiable complaints are made concerning the conduct of public utilities engaged in the power and light business. Usually the complaint is not against the company itself, its service, or rates, but against what the owners of its securities have done with them. The company or its management should not be blamed because some one has set up a contrivance to speculate in its securities. If the speculation is injurious to the public let it be regulated or abolished by the States. It has no necessary connection with furnishing power and light.

The public utilities are under control of the States. The Federal Government has jurisdiction over them only when they engage in interstate commerce, which is a small fraction of their business. Congress can regulate that.

Their rates, service and capitalization are all subject to local law. The States should keep jurisdiction over them and not surrender it to the Nation. The main subject is clearly one of States' rights. If there are local abuses the States can remove them. We can not improve the condition of the people or reform human nature by intruding the Nation into the affairs of the States or despoiling the people of their business.

CALVIN COOLIDGE.

NEGLECTED STATES' RIGHTS

From the Springfield Republican.

It can not be assumed that President Hoover had especially in mind the Capone case when he addressed the Illinois Legislature. Yet his remarks that, as between national and State governments, new conditions may require that the machinery of the Government be shifted somewhat was pertinent to the situation.

To the Federal Government alone must be credited the successful pursuit of the lord of Chicago's underworld, the most notorious gang leader in America. Only the stern chase conducted by the Federal Department of Justice was equal to the task. The local and State authorities had scored nothing but failure; a criminal mogul, drawing immense revenues from the commercialized vices of society, had put them to rout.

If the local authorities were helpless against such a conspiracy against the reign of law, mainly because of the weakness of urban democracy in self-government, the success of the Federal Government was plainly due to its comparative remoteness from the debasing influences of Chicago politics and from the terrorism of gangster politicians. A Capone organization of criminals had proved strong enough to dominate the local police and courts and prosecuting agencies, but it finally crumpled up under the relentless pressure the Washington Government was able to exert.

The contrast is not pleasing to contemplate. Our system of dual government failed to work in the inner zone which local government occupies. The crimes of the Capone organization began with commercialized sex, gambling and bootlegging—all of which are offenses with which the police power of the States is expected to deal effectively. Had the police power of the States been vigorously used the Federal Government would have had no occasion to take jurisdiction and lead the chase. Here was a shifting in the machinery of the government, with the Federal power displacing the police power of the State, with general public approval in Chicago and also the country. For, whatever differences of opinion are prevalent concerning prohibition, the menace to the social order from such a figure as Capone and all that he represented had become formidable enough to solidify public sentiment in a demand for his suppression.

If the Federal Government is encouraged to attempt similar cleanups in New York City and other urban centers, aided effectively by its exclusive jurisdiction over Federal income tax returns, the States suffering from these social evils are scarcely in a position to protest. They have their rights, under the Constitution, but they have failed to exercise them. New York and Massachusetts have even repealed State laws for prohibition enforcement, thus notifying the Federal Government that it must intervene if law is to be enforced. Nevada has repealed antigambling laws and to that extent extended to lesser Capones a welcome. If there is developing a general subsidence of the social structure owing to the feebleness or paralysis of State and local authority the Federal power may be forced into this field more and more for the same reason that air rushes into a vacuum.

If the States want to keep their rights they should exercise them.

WOMAN'S WAY.

She told her sorry tale to me.
There was a welt across her face
Which time perhaps would soon erase,
But deeper printed I could see
A script upon her features gray
The years would never wash away.

Neglect and cruelty and scorn
Had aged her in a few brief years.
Her cheeks had known a flood of tears,
And there were channels deeply worn
Through which the streams of grief still ran
The bitter chiseling of a man.

"Plead with him to return," she cried,
"And be the man he used to be.
Find him and bring him back to me!"
I heard her tale and looked aside
And wondered that she could forget
And love and hope to save him yet.

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to His Flapper Daughter.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

MY DEAR LOUISE:

I don't believe in treating a grown young lady as though she were a 10-year-old simpleton, and I try to let you use your own judgment in the matter of "giving dates;" but in one particular I reserve the right to veto all arrangements.

The world has changed a lot since you arrived in it. It seems normal to you because you've never known anything else, but it seems a little mad to those who can compare it with the world of 25 years ago.

There was then a saloon on the corner now occupied by a filling station, and the honest laborer got drunk on Saturday night and showed up o eary-eyed on Monday morning, but liquor wasn't considered respectable.

The man who drank couldn't hold a job in many industries; no man would drink in the presence of women; and a youth who went to see a decent girl or appeared in public with her while obviously "under the influence" was disgraced and shamed beyond repair.

What caused the change doesn't matter. This isn't a lecture on prohibition.

What does matter is the fact that liquor has become socially respectable. It is served in homes that once considered it disgraceful. And young men—some of them—drink as freely in the presence of decent girls as bums once did only among their own kind.

The world wags on according to its destiny, and there's little you can do about it. But there is one thing you can do. You can avoid fellows who get soaked.

Never, with my consent, will you so much as step into a car with a fellow who drinks.

You know I'm not a crank on the subject of liquor, but I am a crank about you. I prefer keeping you all in one piece, and I prefer having you marry a decent man.

Think of the automobile wrecks of the last year in which people of your acquaintance were hurt or killed. In nearly every instance, liquor did the work.

Of course you wouldn't go out with a fellow already drunk, but one who drinks at all never knows at what moment liquor will addle his wits and spread his car over the landscape.

What is more, many fellows who drink are charming weaklings easy to fall in love with, and a girl who goes with one may wake up any day to find herself the wife of a rotter who can't pay the rent or hold a job.

They are poison, my dear. Let them alone. There are fellows still who are too well-bred to drink in public and plenty of them too sensible to drink at all.

Dodge the other kind if you don't want your neck or heart broken.

Love, DAD.

PRO AND CON

Mr. Hoover's Logic.

Indianapolis News.

Offered by President Hoover as a means of "forwarding political peace and economic stability in the world," the one-year moratorium in war reparations and intergovernmental debts ought to be applied speedily. The tone of press comment, both in the United States and abroad, rarely has been so unanimous in approval of a course of action. This would not be so if Mr. Hoover had not determined so logically a major source of disturbed conditions. It is not the size of annual reparation and debt sums, primarily, that makes them weigh so greatly at present; compared with total yearly outlays in all the powers affected, the amounts are not tremendous; but, as was pointed out yesterday, they added enough to current fiscal demands in Germany, and in some other nations, to threaten orderly recovery from depressed industrial and financial circumstances.

Silver Is a Commodity.

Louisville Courier-Journal.

President Hoover is wise in declining to plunge into an attempt to solve the silver problem, as requested by Senator Smoot and a group of Utah silver men. In the first place, the debts and reparations moratorium occupies all the attention of the Government and a second conclusion may be that there is nothing the Government properly can do about the price of silver. It seems more than likely that this metal must take its place with copper and nickel, other metals of coinage, and with wheat, cotton and other commodities which figure in international trade.

A New Epithet.

Detroit News.

Representative Tilson, Republican leader, accuses Democrats of "opposing the existing order of things," the big visionaries!

Houston Post-Dispatch.

It will be interesting to watch the reaction of the Hoover debt moratorium proposal on the Young candidacy for President in the United States. Mr. Young has numerous claims to fame, of course, but authorship of the reparations settlement plan did most to put him in the national spotlight. Previously, he had been associated with Charles G. Dawes in formulating the Dawes plan for reparations settlement. That plan was found unworkable, and the Young plan was substituted. Now, the Young plan is to be set aside, temporarily.

The moratorium proposal does not necessarily infer that the Young plan is fundamentally impractical. The plan was evolved on the basis of what was believed to be Germany's ability to pay. Extraordinary conditions have arisen since the schedule of payments was worked out. Germany, in common with all other countries in the world, has been plunged into the depths of an economic depression. In the nature of things, German ability to pay is less than was calculated. Mr. Young could not foresee a worldwide slump.

Nevertheless, granting the Young plan is fundamentally sound, even temporary scrapping of his plan at this particular juncture may impair his political prestige at home and subtract from his availability as a candidate for presidential nomination. In politics, as elsewhere, nothing succeeds like success.

An Old Slogan.

Atlanta Constitution.

It is given out that the Republican slogan next year is not to be "Stay with the full dinner-pail," nor "Keep in highgear with Hoover," but it is to be that old wheeze of the 1864 Lincoln campaign—"Don't swap horses while crossing the stream."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

A Lover of Animals Hails the Prospects of Being Able to Swim and Go Boating With Beaver.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Canada plans to establish a beaver sanctuary in the new Riding Mountain National Park, which is to be opened soon in Manitoba. Grey Owl, an Apache Indian, is to have charge of the sanctuary, as he is an expert on beaver lore. At one time he trapped beavers, but this work became unpleasant to him and he then undertook to tame the beaver. His task was accomplished very successfully. The animals became acquainted with him and they would follow him into his cabin where they would take food out of his hand. They became so tame that they would even climb into his canoe. Grey Owl, who came from the Indian village of Cabano, in Quebec, is certainly the man who should be capable of taming the beaver in the new park.

Maybe the beaver in this park will become so tame that tourists can enjoy the thrill of bathing with the animals. Certainly tourists will be privileged to feed them and they will be available as canoeing companions on moonlight nights. It is a unique undertaking. Why can't the United States have tame beaver in some of the wonderful parks throughout the land? G. M. B.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Here's a man's recipe for men: Cover the bottom of your casserole with strips of bacon nearly crisped, and scatter over it two sections of garlic, cut as fine as possible. (You'll never notice it when cooked.) A layer of spaghetti that has been broken fine and boiled 20 minutes is spread over this to the thickness of one's thumb.

Cover this with slices of American cheese, not too thin. Alternate the spaghetti and cheese, to fill the dish—cheese on the top. Lay on a half-dozen strips of half-cooked bacon and pour the bacon fat over the whole. Then add half a bottle of chili sauce, well distributed. Cover and bake in a hot oven for 30 minutes and remove the cover for 10 or 15 minutes for it to brown on top and curl the bacon. Serve hot. When cold it may be sliced thin for sandwich filling, on which a few drops of lemon juice is acceptable.

Subscriber Would Like to Know Why Rock Creek Is So Attractive to Ducks.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I have noticed for the last few years that there is a rather large flock of Mallard ducks in Rock Creek above the Zoological Park. Every summer the number of ducks is increased through breeding, but when fall comes some of them migrate, while a few of the old-timers remain all winter. Some years ago there was also a flock of Canadian geese in the same locality, but they left and never returned. I often wonder how these ducks first settled in Rock Creek. It is possible that a pair escaped from the Zoo and, being familiar with that locality, settled there and increased in numbers from year to year.

It seems that the creek does not afford them ample food, as they partake heartily of the grain placed on the shore. They are comparatively tame, but their wings are not clipped to prevent their leaving for points farther north. What entices them to stay? ALFRED SANDBOY.

What An Opportunity the First Explorers Will Have to Tell All the Old Jokes They Know.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The report of the discovery of fourteen lost and forgotten villages high up in the Andes by five fliers and cameramen should prove of interest, if the villages are accessible to man. It is stated from the appearance of the old dwellings that the villages were formerly inhabited by Spaniards about four centuries ago. According to reports ten of the fourteen are still inhabited. If it is possible for the outside world to get in touch with this isolated region, a vast amount of valuable information could be obtained.

The fliers marked a possible landing field where at a later date an attempt will be made to land. Lost villages give up a great deal of information to archeologists, but think what a store of information is obtained in lost villages that are still occupied. INTERESTED.

Police Are Advised to Arrest Criminals Rather Than Children Who Play in Park Pools.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: What a fine police force we have in this city! The police pass up the big chances of apprehending real criminals and devote their time to arresting small tots for bathing in the different park pools. It is human nature for these children to seek relief from the heat by wading and playing in the waters of the parks. It is bad judgment on the part of the police to take them to Juvenile Court for committing such a slight offense. Those children who are treated in such a manner will look upon the police with distrust and regard them as joykillers whereas there should be complete accord between the police and the children of the city.

The police should continue to warn children and their parents about the danger of playing in the park pools, but when it comes to making arrests let them give more attention to actual felons. F. N. BURT.

Couzens' Son Seeks Politics For Career

Will Follow Footsteps of Father With Start in Detroit.

IN the game of politics the footprints of the fathers seem to fit the shoes of the sons and as further proof of the statement comes the announcement from Detroit that Senator Couzens' son, Mr. Frank Couzens, has his eye on a membership in the Detroit City Council and will make the race next fall. Optimism regarding the outcome is expressed in Mr. Couzens' flat resignation from his job as street railway commissioner, an appointive position which he has held under two mayors, although with an interruption during the administration of former Mayor Bowles, who asked his resignation.

Like his father, the affluent senator from Michigan, Mr. Couzens is starting his career at the tip end of the political parade and hopes to get to the front in due time. Senator Couzens, it will be recalled, started his career as a police commissioner of Detroit and later was mayor.

From the State across the way, Wisconsin, the Senate boasts its youthful solon, Mr. Robert M. LaFollette, who, with no trouble at all, slipped into the shoes of his father and has been going strong, practically sharing leadership with Senator Norris, of Nebraska, in the little ring of progressives which causes many a flurry on the floor. For several years the dapper, dark-haired senator from the West was one of the eligibles about town but his marriage last year whirled him into the benedicts' club.

Below the border line from Detroit in the State of Ohio the Taft boys have climbed steadily along on the pathway of politics, Robert Taft having represented his district in the Senate and "Charlie," the joyous little nuisance of the White House, having annexed the post of district attorney and several other political jobs. Mentioned for the post of solicitor general upon the resignation some months ago of Mr. Charles Evans Hughes, jr., Mr. Robert Taft missed by a mere iota public service in Washington, where he had spent his youth.

Ohio, forever in dispute with Virginia as the mother of Presidents, sent James A. Garfield to the White House and later fitted the shoes of his son, James R. Garfield, to the post of Secretary of the Interior.

The Roosevelts' devotion to the traditions of their family has placed the former President's son in the governor's mansion at Porto Rico and his cousin in the "marble halls" at Albany as Governor of New York. With the former, Theodore Roosevelt, mentioned as vice presidential timber and the latter as possible nominee of the Democratic party for the 1932 candidate for President, the Roosevelts are doing very well.

Long lines of New Jersey Bairds have served their party in the Senate, the last representative of the illustrious name, Mr. David Baird, jr., filling out the term of Mr. Walter Evans Edge when the latter was appointed ambassador to France and declining to run again in order to leave the field clear for Dwight W. Morrow, now solon from New Jersey.

The Frelinghuysens of New Jersey have trod the boards of political highways from one generation to another with former Senator Joseph T. Frelinghuysen still a formidable factor in his State. Washington has not forgotten the famous Frederick T. Frelinghuysen, former Secretary of State. Like the Hales of Maine they have mounted the heights on the theory that like father, like son, when the votes are counted what's in a name will lend luck to the total.

New Honduran Envoy in America.

The newly appointed Minister of Honduras, Senor Don Celeo Davila, arrived in New York yesterday accompanied by Senora de Davila and their family. They will come to Washington in the near future.

The former Minister, Senor Don Ernesto Argueta, who is now in Honduras, has been appointed minister of the interior. Senor Davila, before his appointment to his new post, was minister of finance.

Commander Ellis Stone, U. S. N., and Mrs. Stone started by motor yesterday for Canada, where they will be guests of the Second Secretary of the Canadian Legation and Mrs. Keith Crowther in their place on Georgian Bay. They will later motor to Quebec, and then to Long Island to visit Mrs. Harrison Tweed.

Commander Stone will join his ship, the U. S. S. Barry, after a month's vacation. During their stay in Washington Commander and Mrs. Stone have occupied a house in Georgetown and Mrs. Stone has completed a book on life in Washington.

The Third Assistant Postmaster General and Mrs. Frederic A. Tilton and their daughter, Miss Betty Tilton, attended the dinner party given Thursday evening at the Congressional Country Club by Mr. and Mrs. William I. Denning in celebration of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. The other guests were Mr. and Mrs. A. S. King, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Baum, Mr. and Mrs. Michael McCarthy, Miss Florence McKee, Mr. Martin Heflin, Mr. and Mrs. James Maloney, Mr. Larry Conners, Miss Ann McKinley, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gibbs, Mr. Peter Schart and Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Barnes, son-in-law and daughter of the hosts.

The Secretary of the Roumanian Legation and Mme. Popovici will sail on July 23 for a vacation in Roumania. S. Lepkowski Takes Bride In Warsaw

Messages have been received that the marriage of the erstwhile Counselor of the Polish Embassy, Mr. Stanislaw Lepkowski, to Mlle. Zosja Szmidecka, took place in Warsaw on June 3.

Mr. Lepkowski left Washington several weeks ago, for the foreign office in Warsaw, and was recently appointed Polish Minister to Hungary, where he and his bride are now living.

Mme. Lepkowski came to Washington about two years ago with Mme. Filipowicz, wife of the Ambassador, and remained here in the capacity of social secretary at the embassy until she left for Poland shortly after Mr. Lepkowski sailed. The engagement was not announced until after they had left, in fact, the engagement was not made known in Washington until June 3, which, though not known at the time, was the date of their marriage.

Mme. Lepkowska, a small and piquant brunette, will make a charming hostess of the legation.

Mrs. Sidney Thomas and Mrs. Eugene Smith have returned from Thousand Islands where they were visiting Mrs. Joseph I. Weller at her summer camp.

Mr. and Mrs. Weller's summer place is near the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George Fulford, who have a large estate in the Thousand Islands, where they and their three children are now established.

Mrs. Daniel W. Knowlton, formerly Miss Josephine DeWolf Gibson, a daughter of the late Mrs. Charles DeWolf Gibson, and a sister of the well-known artist, Charles Dana Gibson, has gone to Longfield Farm, Bristol, R. I., with her children to pass some time. Mr. Knowlton will join them there later.

Capt. and Mrs. C. P. Kindleberger entertained at dinner on the Shoreham Terrace last evening. They will also be hosts to a group at the Terrace dinner dance this evening.

A board of officers has just selected Capt. Kindleberger to fill the post of rear admiral, Medical Corps. He will assume his new rank about August 1.

Will Visit in Chicago

Edges Guests In Paris at Dinner Dance

Willyses Also Present at Affair Given by Mr. and Mrs. Downe.

The United States Ambassador to France and Mrs. Walter E. Edge were recently the guests of honor at a dinner dance given by Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Downe, and the latter's brother-in-law and sister, the Comte and Comtesse de Marenches.

Among the guests were the United States Ambassador to Poland and Mrs. John North Willys, who had been in Paris for a short visit to attend the baptism of their grandchild, the child of Mr. and Mrs. Louis d'Aguirre, which took place in the American Cathedral Church of the Holy Trinity. They left last week to return to Warsaw.

Other guests included many notable residents of Paris, and a number of the members of the American Embassy staff. The new Naval Attache and Mrs. David Le Breton were there, as also were former Senator and Mrs. Gilbert Hitchcock and Mr. C. Bascom Slemp, commissioner general to the Colonial Exposition.

Miss Fuqua Sails For Europe Tuesday.

Miss Jeanette Fuqua, daughter of Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Stephen O. Fuqua, will sail from New York Tuesday on the Bremen to spend several weeks abroad. She will go to Paris to be the guest of Miss Dorothea Morgan, daughter of Mrs. William D. Morgan, before going to the Riviera. She will return to Washington in September.

Mrs. Ernest Thompson Seton, national president of the Pen Women's League, is at the Willard for a short stay.

A new development in ice cream making

. . . "Smooth-freeze" Meadow Gold

Taste the creamy smoothness, the finer texture of this delicious ice cream

HERE'S an ice cream so unbelievably fine in texture . . . so velvety smooth . . . that to taste it is a delightful adventure. Not a single lump or icy crystal do you find.

The secret is Meadow Gold's "smooth-freeze" . . . a discovery so important that it's revolutionizing the ice cream industry.

Smooth-freezing blends the rich flavors of Meadow Gold Ice Cream in all their deliciousness. Sweet, delicious farm cream . . . pure milk . . . vanilla and chocolate flavors made right from the beans . . . everything in Meadow Gold is just as you'd want it. We use fresh fruits in season—real fruits always. Not a single substitute of any kind.

We've perfected the sealed "carry-home" package to enable you to serve Meadow Gold at home. Packaged at the freezer, wrapped and sealed, this delicious ice cream reaches you untouched by human hands.

The dealers who offer you Meadow Gold "smooth-freeze" ice cream were selected because of our confidence that they give it the same scrupulous care as it receives in the making. Try a soda made with this new-type ice cream. Buy a "carry-home" package in your favorite flavor.

Navy Officer Takes Army Girl as Bride

Kathleen Berry Is Wed to Lieut. McDonough at War College.

Again the Army and Navy were united when Miss Kathleen Berry, daughter of Lieut. Col. and Mrs. John A. Berry, formerly of Washington, and now of Fort Sam Houston, Tex., became the bride of Lieut. Richard Philip McDonough, U. S. N. The ceremony took place yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Chapel at the Army War College, and was performed by Chaplain W. J. Ryan. The chapel was charmingly decorated with palms and ferns and white summer flowers.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, who with Mrs. Berry had come to Washington for the wedding. She wore a gown of ivory lace over satin, fashioned on princess lines with a cape shoulder. Her veil of tulle was held with a cap of lace, and she carried gardenias and roses.

Miss Joyce Dickinson, of Lincoln, Ala., and Toronto, Canada, was the maid of honor and were a frock of apple green mousseline de soie, with a sash of pale yellow. Her large hat of green straw was trimmed with a band of yellow and she carried an arm bouquet of yellow roses.

The bridesmaids were Miss Karla Heurich and Miss Hester Baden, both of Washington, who wore frocks of yellow mousseline with deep borders appliqued on the skirts of apple green. Their hats were of yellow with green trimming and they carried sheafs of yellow and white field flowers.

Lieut. S. F. Oden, U. S. N., was the best man, and the ushers were Lieut. John A. Berry, jr., U. S. A., brother of the bride; and the others, all lieutenants in the Navy, were Lieut. John Melgaarde, Lieut. W. S. Newton, Lieut. S. Burrough, Lieut. E. L. Woodward, Lieut. M. A. Sawyer, Lieut. J. S. Laidlow, Lieut. F. B. Wright, Lieut. J. M. P. Wright and Lieut. J. S. Longfellow.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Officers' Club at the War College, after which Lieut. and Mrs. McDonough started by motor for a wedding trip through New England. Mrs. McDonough wore a suit of blue and white silk with a hat to match and yellow accessories. After July 8, they will be at home at 3 Hoffman street, Newport, R. I., where Lieut. McDonough will report for duty.

Mr and Mrs. Fred M. Hopkins entertained at the dinner dance on the Shoreham Terrace last evening in honor of their daughter, Miss Josephine E. Hopkins, and her fiance, Mr. Lawrence E. Biebel, whose marriage will take place today at the Elizabeth Chapel at Mount Vernon Seminary.

The dinner party followed the wedding rehearsal and most of the guests were members of the wedding party. They included Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Biebel, parents of the bridegroom, Miss Mary Anne Westcott, Miss Mary Battle, Miss Olive McClintic, Miss Frances Brown, Mr. Franklin Biebel, Mr. Allen Biebel, Mr. John Johnston, Mr. John Thompson and Mr. John Denise.

Following the wedding today at 4 o'clock, the wedding supper will be held at the Shoreham, with members of the wedding party as guests, also Dr. James Shera Montgomery, who will have performed the marriage ceremony, and Mrs. Montgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Allport are in Paris.

Tuckermans Entertain At Country Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Tuckerman entertained ten guests at dinner last night at the Women's National Country Club, where their daughter, Miss Laura Walcott Tuckerman, also gave a dinner for a group of young people in honor of Miss Elizabeth Walker, a subdebutante, of Augusta, Ga., who is the guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Howell Dodge. Also entertaining at the club last night were Mr. and Mrs. Francis LeCompte Spalding.

Mr. and Mrs. Spalding had as their guests Miss Laura Tuckerman, Miss Elsie Ekengren, Miss Margaretta Wright, Miss Eleanor Crain and Miss Mary Clare Cottman, of Baltimore; Miss Elinor O'Shaughnessy, Mr. Bronson Williams, Mr. Aage Kloumann, Mr. Andrew Wylie, Mr. Harry Covington, jr., Mr. Gale McLean, Mr. Frederick Farnsworth and Mr. Philip Le Belle.

Mrs. George D. Morgan, of Richmond, accompanied by her daughter is staying at Wardman Park Hotel for the duration of the tournament of the Middle Atlantic Lawn Tennis Boys' Team, in which her son, George D. Morgan, jr., is participating.

"Loan" of Dr. Draper To Virginia Favored

(Associated Press.)

Permission for Dr. W. F. Draper, assistant surgeon general of the Public Health Service, to be assigned to the State of Virginia as health commissioner for a limited time, has been granted by the Treasury Department.

However, no formal announcement of the projected assignment has been made, pending settlement of a few legal technicalities involved in the "loan" of a Federal officer for a State service. Dr. Draper indicated yesterday that he probably would hold a final telephone conference with Gov. Pollard, and that the appointment would be announced simultaneously in Washington and in Richmond.

Sidney Morgan Is Made National Guard Major

Promotion of Capt. Sidney Morgan to be a major of engineers, with immediate assignment to the position of inspector general, yesterday was announced by the adjutant general of the District of Columbia National Guard, by direction of Maj. Gen. Anton Stephan, commanding officer.

Capt. Morgan had served in the local militia since the war, and for a brief assignment during the war was detailed here as assistant instructor in small arms firing. He has been a member of several of the rifle and pistol teams firing in local and national competitions. He is secretary of the United States Tariff Commission.

Fifth Avenue Fashions

And isn't the skirt smartly plaited? And don't you like the cross-over effect of the yoked bodice? And the flat allmness of the hipline has not been forgotten.

Style No. 335 may be had in sizes 16, 18, 20 years; 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. Size 38 requires 3¾ yards of 39-inch material and a leather belt.

Richmond to Give Ball for Conclave

Beaus Invited for 2,500 Business Women at Convention.

Richmond, Va., June 26 (A.P.).—Richmond officials of the Business and Professional Women's Club said today that the Virginia Ball to be held Friday night, July 10, in the Acca Temple Mosque ballroom promises to be the most brilliant event of the Old Dominion convention of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs here July 6-11.

Invitations have been sent to members of the men's service clubs in Richmond and Petersburg, the Richmond Blues, Grays and Howitzers, who will act as "beaux" for the 2,500 women from all over the United States attending the convention.

Maj. Mills F. Neal, of the Richmond Light Infantry Blues will lead the grand march with Miss Edna Holmes, of Newport News, State Federation president. The minuet will be danced by members of the Alexandria Club, who will bring their own partners with them. Every one attending the ball will participate in the Virginia Reel and later in the dancing which will continue from 10 until 1.

District Property Purchased by U. S.

The First Precinct Police Station and the Municipal Lodging House, both on Twelfth street between C and D streets northwest, and No. 16 Fire Engine House, Twelfth and D streets, were sold to the Federal Government by the District Commissioners yesterday for $120,165. They will be vacated before July 1.

The District has the right to remove equipment from these pieces of property and from a public convenience station at Seventh street and Pennsylvania avenue, which was transferred with no cash payment. The combined price on the police station and the lodging house was $105,165, while the price for improvements on the firehouse was $15,000. The ground was owned by the Federal Government.

Agreement also has been reached to sell the municipal garage, Thirteenth and D streets northwest, for $80,000, but this transfer has not yet been made.

Mrs. Reba V. Schlegel Given Divorce Decree

Mrs. Reba Virginia Schlegel, of Greenwich parkway, yesterday was awarded an interlocutory decree for absolute divorce from Roy D. Schlegel by Justice Jesse Adkins in Equity Court.

They were married here February 15, 1918, according to the wife's bill. In June, 1928, she said, she first learned of indescretions on the part of her husband, but she forgave him, she declared in her suit, upon his promise to fulfill his marital vows. The charge was made that shortly after the husband continued his associations with the other woman and Mrs. Schlegel took her case to court. She was represented by Attorney Raymond Neudecker.

Women Ask Equal Chance at College

Virginia League of Voters Also Requests Teachers' Retirement Fund.

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., June 26.—Addresses by Frank Bane, commissioner of public welfare; John Hopkins Hall, jr., commissioner of labor, and Dr. Bessie Carter Randolph, of the University of Florida, featured the opening session of the eleventh annual convention of the Virginia League of Women Voters.

Miss Adele Clark, Richmond, State president, presided at the day sessions at the university, with delegates present from five of the ten congressional districts.

Aims outlined at the afternoon session were: Equal opportunities for men and women at higher institutions of learning; a woman's building at the University of Virginia; a teachers' retirement fund; an eight-hour day for women in industry; eligibility of women for jury service and the merit system for those employed in civil service.

Moving Particles Constitute Light

Calcutta, India, June 26 (A.P.).—Sir Chandrasekhara Venkata, this year's Nobel prize winner in physics, announces discovery of proof that light consists of particles possessing additional attributes of angular motion, which hitherto have been regarded as theoretical.

He made the discovery by experiments in scattering light in cases to determine the state of polarization and molecular spin.

New York, June 26 (A.P.).—Sir Chandrasekhara Venkata's discovery is much like finding that light instead of being immaterial is a string of baseballs, thrown by a big league pitcher, whizzing and curving as they speed ahead. This idea that light is both particles and waves is not new, but there has been a wide gap between the known wave characters of light and its particle attributes.

Laura Palmer Becomes Bride In New York

The marriage of Miss Laura Creighton Palmer, daughter of Rear Admiral and Mrs. Leigh Carlyle Palmer, of New York, formerly of Washington, to Mr. George Purnell MacGregor, son of Mr. Charles Stephen MacGregor, of New York, took place yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the chapel of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Rex Stowers Clements officiating.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory lace over satin. A veil of tulle fell over the long train and was held with clusters of orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of white orchids and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Howard N. Tucker, of Washington, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and wore a gown of powder blue net with a sash of peach colored velvet. Her hat was a wide-brimmed blue straw with a band of peach velvet, and she carried an arm bouquet of pastel flowers.

The maid of honor was Miss Audrey Watts, who wore a frock like that of the matron of honor in peach net with a powder blue velvet sash, and a hat to match. The bridesmaids were Miss Eleanor Taylor, Miss Peggy Shaw, Miss Virginia Loftin, Miss Barbara Cates, Miss Ethelyn Talbott, Miss Christine Ekengren, of Washington, and Miss Annette Beardsley. They wore frocks of pastel net with hats to match, and all carried pastel flowers.

The best man was Mr. Russell MacGregor, brother of the bridegroom, and the ushers were Mr. Russell John, Mr. Gerald Groesbeck, Mr. Frederick Killian, Mr. Harry D. Watts, jr., Mr. Charles M. Peabody, Mr. Donald A. Williams, Mr. Frank L. Reed and Mr. Thomas M. Crabbe.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Hotel Pierre, when the couple were assisted in receiving by Admiral and Mrs. Palmer and the bridegroom's father and stepmother. Mrs. Palmer wore a gown of beige chiffon and lace with a hat to match.

Mr. and Mrs. MacGregor left for a wedding trip abroad, the bride wearing a costume of beige crepe trimmed with pleatings of golden brown, and a beige coat trimmed with fox, and small hat to match. On their return they will make their home in Cincinnati.

Among the out-of-town guests who attended the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. George T. Summerlin, jr., of Washington, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard N. Tucker, also of Washington.

Mrs. Richard H. Wilmer and Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Mondell are in New York.

Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart entertained at luncheon yesterday afternoon in the roof garden of the Willard.

MERGED CHURCHES ARGUE OVER NAME

Birth Control Also Debated by Congregational and Christian Union.

Beattle, June 26 (A.P.).—Birth control was debated today at the convention here of the merked Congregational and Christian Churches, with resolutions introduced by Iowa and New York City groups.

Repeal of laws which prevent physicians from giving birth control information to married couples was urged by the Iowa Congregational conference. A birth control referendum of church members married at least five years and parents of at least one child was recommended by the New York City Congregational Association.

The union of the Congregational and Christian denominations, begun yesterday, struck a snag in selection of a name for the united body. The Christian group was said by delegates to favor the name "Congregational Christian," while others said the name "United Church of Christ" had approval of many in both groups.

Dr. Fred B. Smith, New York City, ranking Congregational moderator, read a message from President Hoover which said, in part:

"The merger of these two imporatnt church bodies is an interesting and promising development. The continuing and consistent advancement of spiritual welfare of our country is fundmaentally important."

Officers of the Christian Church in the United States and Canada announced today they will not elect a president who is to be coexecutive of the combined group until next fall. The Rev. Frank G. Coffin, who now holds that office, is ill at Columbus, Ohio. The Rev. Carl H. Patton, Los Angeles, was elected moderator of the Congregational Council yesterday and will serve as coexecutive of the merged churches

W. R. Harper Elon College, North Carolina; the Rev. Harry T. Stock, Boston, and the Rev. R. G. Clark, Piqua, Ohio, were designated leaders of the discussion of birth control.

DIRECTORS ELECTED BY BUSINESS BUREAU

35 Chosen at Annual Board Meeting at Press Club; Report Made.

The Better Business Bureau selected 35 new directors to serve for the coming fiscal year at its annual board of directors' meeting held yesterday at the National Press Club.

The new directors, who will take office July 1, are Arthur Abbott, F. G. Addison, jr., Philip Baldwin, Edward C Balt, Isaac Behrend, Y. E. Booker, B. B. Burgunder, A. C. Case, Joshua Evans, jr., William G. Galliher, M. G. Gibbs, Ralph Goldsmith, E. C. Graham, Gerald D. Grosner, Harry W. Hahn, James Hardey, H. G. Hoskinson, Thomas E. Jarrell, Sylvan King, Louis Levey, H. H. Levi, R. B. H. Lyon, C. H. Pope, Herbert J. Rich, L. E. Rubel, H. L. Rust, C. Melvin Sharpe, F. P. W. Siddens, Abraham Sigmund, W. W. Spaid, Anton Stephen, Arthur J. Sundlun, Ben T. Webster and Claude H. Woodward.

Howard W. Berry, as president of the Advertising Club, under the by-laws of the Better Business Bureau, serves as director.

Public confidence in legitimate business, the harmonious relationships between the consumer and trade and the professions are reasons why Washington has avoided much of the depression reported from other parts of the country, Louis Rothschild, director of the bureau, declared.

Mr. Rothschild said that economic conditions during the past fiscal year have led to notable decreases in organized financial frauds, but that at the same time they have increased demands on the facilities of the bureau.

The educational campaign "Before You Invest, Investigate," was credited by Mr. Rothschild with the practical elimination of promoters and salesmen of fake financial enterprises. He said that during the past year the bureau answered 2,335 queries, which was a great increase over the number of cases handled during the year before. Mr. Rothschild said the bureau had handled a total of 11,853 since the campaign was inaugurated.

The bid covers construction from Big Meadows to Swift Run Gap, Va. Bids were opened Thursday on a connecting highway from Panorama to Big Meadows.

TRUSTEES CHOSEN FOR BIBLE SCHOOL

Columbia Training Institution Plans Enlarged Curriculum for Coming Year.

Three new members of the board of trustees of the Columbia Bible Training School, Inc., 1724 H street northwest, were elected recently and received as members at the June meeting of the trustees on Wednesday, Dr. W. Sinclair Bowen, physician and prominent in aggressive work in the Episcopal denomination and for his interest in the promotion of Christian educational institutions; Mrs. William T. Bannerman, vice president of the Parent-Teachers Association of the District of Columbia, member of the First Congregational Church and prominent in youth and parent education, and the Rev. George E. Schnabel, pastor of Albright Memorial Evangelical Church, who is director of the department of religious education of the school. Trustees and officers elected to hold office for two years, June, 1931, to June, 1933, are as follows: Benjamin J. Brooks, chairman; Mrs. William T. Bannerman, vice chairman; Elsie Wade Stone, secretary; Frederick P. Myers, treasurer; the Rev. John E. Briggs, pastor Fifth Baptist Church; Dr. W. Sinclair Bowen, the Rev. Fisk Dudley, rector St. Stephen's Episcopal Church; John A. Garber, Mrs. Harry Hoskinson, the Rev. E. E. Richardson, pastor Congress Heights Baptist Church; Morgan G. Sanders, representative from Texas; the Rev. George E. Schnabel, pastor Albright Memorial Evangelical Church; Gen. Anton Stephan.

Miss Stone, president of the school, announces an enlarged curriculum and additions to the staff of instructors in preparation for the opening of school September 23. A general Bible training course covering a period of three years is offered, majoring in English Bible, theology and religious philosophy. Three-year course in religious education, majoring in psychology of religion, curriculum of education, Sunday school and church administration. A missionary course, majoring in the history of missions, comparative religions, social problems of mission fields, and a three-year course in music, majoring in theory of music, sight reading, harmony, counterpoint, organ, piano and voice.

The faculty of the school for 1931-32 is as follows: Elsie Wade Stone, president; Edith B. Athey; the Rev. Charles L. Carhart; the Rev. Kenneth B. Carson; Mrs. Raymond F. Crist; the Rev. George M. Cummings; the Rev. Simpson B. Daugherty; John A. Garber; Fannie Shreve Heartsill; Fred P. Myers; the Rev. E. E. Richardson; Fredrik H. Robison, and the Rev. George E. Schnabel.

Seminars will be arranged with outstanding pastors and lecturers assisting.

Pennington Converts To Rally Tomorrow

A rally of new converts from the Edith Mae Pennington revival, which has just closed a nine weeks' successful crusade in the Masonic Auditorium, will be held tomorrow at the Full Gospel Tabernacle, North Capitol and K streets. The Rev. Harry L. Collier will preach at 11 a. m. and at the Popular Evangelistic Service at 7:30 p. m.

Several hundred conversions were reported during the revival, and on the closing night a large fund was subscribed to conduct a revival on a larger scale next year. New members will be received into the church tomorrow.

Final Dedicatory Service Tomorrow

Holy Communion and Baptism to Be Held at St. Paul's Lutheran.

The new St. Paul's Lutheran Church, at Connecticut avenue and Everett street, which was formally dedicated last Sunday, will be the scene of the final service of the dedicatory program tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock when the sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be celebrated.

The pastor of the church, the Rev. Dr. Henry W. Snyder, will officiate, and will be assisted by the Rev. Dr. Gould Wickey, the executive secretary of the Lutheran Board of Education. The Holy Communion will be preceded by the baptism of children.

The Sunday school, with its new organization of departments and classes, will meet at 9:30 o'clock. A review of the lessons of the last quarter will be conducted by Dr. Snyder.

At the dedicatory services last Sunday, the offerings of St. Paul's congregation exceeded $2,000, no special solicitation of funds being made. An increase in membership in church and Sunday school was also indicated.

BAPTISTS TO HEAR KEYSTONE QUARTET

Well-Known Singers to Appear Before Young People's Convention.

The well-known Keystone Quartet of the Pennsylvania Railroad, which will entertain the International Convention of the Baptist Young Peoples' Unions of America on Friday, July 10, at the Washington Auditorium here, has perhaps appeared before more religious conferences and conventions and meetings of groups associated with religious work than any other musical organization of its kind in the country.

Its unusual popularity with church organizations and societies may be explained by the fact that its leader, G. C. Hartel, first tenor, has been leader of music for a large Baptist church in the suburbs of Philadelphia for the last twenty-eight years, and that each member of the quartet has a regular Sunday engagement in the choir of an important Philadelphia church.

In the last year the singers have appeared in the Tremont Baptist Temple at Boston; before the Eastern United States Industrial Conference of the Y. M. C. A. at Silver Bay, N. Y.; the National Federation of Bible Classes at Philadelphia; the Methodist Camp Meeting Association at Ocean City, N. J.; the Everyman's Bible Classes at conferences of the Y. M. C. A.

Dr. Stokes Will Preach At Open-Air Evensong

This service and sermon will be broadcast by radio over WMAL. At the 11 a. m. celebration of Holy Communion and sermon in Bethlehem Chapel tomorrow the sermon will be preached by the Rev. Edward S. Dunlap, canon of the Washington Cathedral.

Mt. Pleasant Churches Will Unite Tomorrow

The first of the series of twelve union summer services of the Mount Pleasant Congregational, All Soul's Unitarian, and National Memorial Universalist Churches will be held tomorrow morning in the Mount Pleasant Church.

The sermon will be preached by the Rev. Russell J. Clinchy, minister of the host church. These union services will continue through September 13, four services being held in each church.

Rector of St. Marks Lincoln Park Preacher

The Y. M. C. A. and the interchurch committee, representing churches in the vicinity of Lincoln Park, will hold their second meeting tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock in Lincoln Park. The Rev. H. A. Woolfall, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal Church, will be the speaker. J. J. Dornin will preside, and be assisted by other members of the committee. C. M. Griest will lead the singing and will be accompanied by Mrs. M. R. Moffat at the organ.

Southeast Churches To Hear New Pastor

The Southeast group of churches began summer evening union services last Sunday at the Metropolitan Presbyterian Church. The second service will be held at the Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, Fifth and Seward square southeast, at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening.

A new minister, the Rev. C. L. Dawson, has come to the First Methodist Protestant Church and he will be presented to the group and welcomed, preaching the sermon. Mr. Dawson comes from Leeds, Cecil County, Md.

Vesper Services At Tourist Camp

Y.M.C.A. and Young People's Societies Open Series Tomorrow.

The Y. M. C. A., with the cooperation of the Unions of the Young Peoples' Societies of the Washington Churches, will open the annual series of Sunday evening vesper services in the reception hall of the Washington Tourist Camp, tomorrow evening at 5 o'clock. The young people are taking this opportunity to welcome the tourists to Washington, and to furnish them with fellowship and inspiration during their stay in Washington.

These meetings have in the past proven very popular, as the traffic and the warm weather keep the tourists to their cabins, and they welcome the opportunity to have a religious service brought to their very door.

D. Roland Potter is chairman and in charge of the programs. The other members of the committee are Miss Margaret Yates, Epworth League (north); William Bond, jr., Christian Endeavor Union; Mrs. Geraldine Kirkland, Baptist Young Peoples' Union, David Myers, Epworth League (south), and Louis B. Nichols, Y. M. C. A. The program for the next four Sundays will be under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor president, William Bond.

ARCHBISHOP SAILS FOR IRELAND TODAY

Mgr. Curley Will Pass His Summer Vacation With Mother.

Archbishop Curley sails today for Europe on the Laconia. In accordance with his custom, he will spend his summer vacation at the home of his mother at Golden Island, near Athlone, Ireland. He does not plan to make any trips away from home.

Archbishop Curley, prior to his departure from Baltimore for New York on Wednesday, received from Pope Pius XI a large silver medallion which the Pope had struck in commemoration of the establishment of Vatican City.

Father Dowling's Anniversary.

The Rev. John W. Dowling, pastor of Holy Name Church, observed last Friday the thirty-fifth anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood. He was raised to the sacerdotal state by Cardinal Gibbons on June 19, 1896.

Members of Holy Name Parish remembered their pastor on their masses, mass intentions, communion and prayers.

The children of the Holy Name Parochial School who are so close to the heart of their spiritual shepherd gave him a spiritual bouquet of 1,500 masses heard, 1,000 Holy Communions received, 1,000 rosaries recited, 50,000 ejaculations offered and 100 stations of the cross said. They also had ten masses said for his intention.

Pilgrimage to Lourdes.

The pilgrimage to Lourdes, which sails from Montreal July 4 on the White Star liner, Laurentic, with the Rev. Francis J. Hurney as its spiritual director, will be comprised of Lourdes devotees from New York, Baltimore, Chicago and Washington.

The pilgrimage will start from the Grotto of Our Lady of Lourdes in the Immaculate Conception Church and will find the apex of the journey in the tiny village of Lourdes, in France, that is now world-renowned through the miracles, both material and spiritual, wrought through the intercession of Our Lady of Lourdes.

A special mass for the pilgrims will be said at the Grotto of Lourdes. The members of the group will receive Communion at the mass.

Gift to Father O'Connor.

Parishioners of Our Lady of Lourdes' Church, Bethesda, Md., surprised Father James J. O'Connor, their pastor, with a purse of $1,000, to be used by him for a trip to Europe.

Father Robert A. McCormick of Mount St. Mary's, Emmitsburg, presented the purse to Father O'Connor in the rectory, where a number of the parishioners had gathered.

Slavery in Liberia

An amazing story of how human beings are being held in serfdom in the west African Negro republic will be told in

The Washington Post

MONDAY

Stories of the existence of slavery and forced labor in Liberia have shocked the civilized world during the past year. The sordid truth of the charges was revealed in detail by an International Commission last September.

The series of articles which The Post will publish prove that conditions have shown little or no improvement. This expose is the result of a thorough investigation made by George S. Schuyler, whose inquiries and studies kept him in Liberia from last February 12 until April 21.

What he learned and observed will be related in

Judge Not But Speak Truth in Love

WHAT great injustice is done, what deep heart wounds are inflicted, what lasting harm is done, when we sit in judgment upon others. Nothing but evil results, when our judging is merely faultfinding, whether it be idle, ill-considered gossip, or malicious intent to shame and disgrace others. The sharp, wounding words of loveless judgment are so easily spoken, but sometimes a lifetime of remorse can not undo the harm that a member's unjust criticism may have done. No wonder that Christ warned so emphatically against judging one's fellowmen.

The evil of faultfinding, however, should not blind us to the faults of others. We should look upon others with a discerning eye. When we do this in love, we will not be judges but helpers unto holiness. The love of Christ will prompt us to excuse the failings of others but will not permit us to gloss over them. It will lead us to tell the erring of their sins, that knowing their weaknesses they may seek help of Christ to overcome them. "If a man be overtaken in any trespass, ye who are spiritual, restore such a one in a spirit of gentleness." Gal. vi:1.

National Christian Has Cooling System

The National City Christian Church being of modern construction, has included in its mechanical equipment a cooling and ventilating system by which the temperature of the building can be regulated during even the most extreme weather.

This and the central down-town location on Thomas Circle, make the church a convenient place for visitors, who are invited to enter on each Sunday evening during the summer months and enjoy the musical program and the succeeding period of meditation, amid peaceful surroundings away from the heat and turmoil of the city streets.

Asbury Bible Class Announces Speakers

ENDEAVORERS END CENSUS TOMORROW

Many Prominent Alumni in Capital Already Have Been Enrolled.

The census of all former Christian Endeavorers, which is being conducted by the Christian Endeavor Alumni Fellowship of the city, will be concluded tomorrow in the various Protestant churches.

Many prominent names are among the hundreds who have already enrolled in this census of those who have been connected with Christian Endeavor societies during the last 50 years. A large percentage of those listed indicate that they first became identified with the society before 1900, and several have given 1881, the year of the founding of the movement by Dr. Francis E. Clark, as the date when they joined.

The census is undertaking to enumerate all of those who ever joined Christian Endeavor, whether locally or in other places over the country.

The enumerators in the churches will turn their census sheets in to Miss Monette Hallam, president of the Christian Endeavor Alumni Fellowship, before next Wednesday, so that the completed enrollment book may be taken by the Washington delegation of 35 which leaves next week for the golden jubilee convention of Christian Endeavor at San Francisco. Presentation of the names will there be formally made at the interdenominational, international youth gathering which will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the movement.

Those former members of Christian Endeavor who have not already been reached may enroll in the census at the society's headquarters in the Y. M. C. A. Building.

CHARACTER

Character is not to be purchased.

It can not be acquired full-grown.

The character of a man is built upon the foundation made in childhood.

The foundation begins at the mother's knee.

To teach a child you must know more than the child.

Does your child lack self-control? Do you?

Can you teach a child something which you do not know yourself?

Is your child obedient? Why not?

In order to be able to issue orders which will be obeyed, the man must know how to obey orders.

It is hard to bend a grown tree. The sapling can be shaped to suit the wishes of the grower.

The time to learn to obey is in childhood. It sticks through life.

The man can not control others until he can control himself. The earlier he is taught the earlier he will reap his reward.

To be respected is to be respectable. You can not demand it, you must earn it.

So govern yourself that you will not be ashamed to have your child follow your example.

TEDDY-BEARS

MARGARET STEIFF, A CRIPPLED GERMAN DRESSMAKER IS SAID TO HAVE MADE THE FIRST TEDDY-BEAR TOYS. IN 1902, ROOSEVELT WHILE HUNTING REFUSED TO SHOOT A CUB BEAR, SO CLIFF BERRYMAN, CARTOONIST, PICTURED HIM WITH A TOY BEAR. THEREAFTER SUCH BEARS BECAME KNOWN AS TEDDY-BEARS TO AMERICAN CHILDREN.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

TREATMENT FOR RAYNAUD'S

A PERSON with "white finger" can cure himself by a very simple method, if he will start early, in the opinion of Dr. W. J. Kerr. The physician's name for this disorder is "Raynaud's disease." People who have it notice that when they put their hands in cold water the fingers become very pale. The malady may affect one finger, or all of them; one hand, or both; the feet, ears, or nose. Perhaps frostbite is a cousin of the malady. The persons whose hands mottle very markedly when exposed to cold or to wetness have an allied disorder, or maybe a milder form of the same disorder. It gets worse in winter and better in summer. Attacks are precipitated by exposure to cold, however that is brought about. In a more advanced stage of Raynaud's the affected parts develop something akin to a dry gangrene.

Dr. Kerr holds that the disease is due of the walls of the middle-sized blood vessels, causing them to become too sensitized to cold. He proposes to cure this tendency by a process of hardening. He begins by putting one hand, preferably the worst one, in cold water for ten minutes three times daily. During the first week the temperature of the water is 50 degrees Fahrenheit. During the second week the exposure is to water held at 46.2 degrees Fahrenheit. The length of exposure is ten minutes three times daily. During the third week the water is held at 42.8 and, during the fourth, at 39.2. That is all there is to the treatment except that a person may carry on by taking tub baths after finishing the treatment of the hands. The method can be used in chilblains and for the after-effects of frozen feet. It may be of service to those who suffer from cold feet, mottled skin after exposure to cold, and all that group of uncomfortable disorders that are grouped under the loose, general term of "poor circulation."

DUE TO RINGWORM.

Mrs. A. S. writes: For a period of four months I have had underneath my foot a form of blister which is inflamed and itchy.

What is this due to and how can it be remedied?

REPLY.

The name of the condition is pompholyx. Most cases of pompholyx are due to ringworm. The street name for ringworm of the foot is "athlete's foot."

BLOOD PRESSURE RIGHT.

G. J. writes: My wife saw a physician a few days ago in order to ascertain the condition of her blood pressure. He reported that her blood pressure ranged from 118 to 122. She is 44 years old, healthy, never sick, a good appetite, the mother of three grown children. Is that blood pressure right?

REPLY.

It is.

RELATES ONLY TO BEAUTY.

A Reader writes: When some people smile the upper lip draws back over the gums. The teeth seem to be shorter than other people's. I have heard that was a feature belonging more to the ignorant class. Is this true?

REPLY.

It probably means that the upper lip is too short. The upper jaw may be unduly large. This is related to beauty, but not to knowledge.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE.

C. B. M. writes:

1. Will high blood pressure cause cancer?

2. A person with high blood pressure has pimples—face all broken out. Is the high pressure the cause?

REPLY.

1. No.
2. No.

DIET CHANGE NEEDED.

Constant reader writes:

1. I am constantly troubled with canker sores. Do they come from an acid condition?

2. What diet should I go on to relieve them?

REPLY.

1. No.
2. Overcome constipation. Change your diet materially.

RADIO has added heavily to the burden of Uncle Sam's postal employes. Millions of postage stamps are sold for use on letters addressed to broadcasters. Only a small portion of the letters is applause mail. In an effort to get something for nothing, figures indicate that most of the letters are inspired by offers of samples, a copy of theme song, a recipe book or the photograph of an entertainer.

Audience mail delivered to the National Broadcasting Co. in response to programs is estimated at 2,180,000 letters. The Columbia Broadcasting System receives about 32,000 to 35,000 letters a week—and Columbia answers every letter.

Edgar Guest offered copies of his poems to all who applied to the nearest dealer for the automobile he appeared for. The first week 25,000 copies were distributed, and an average of 50,000 copies per week has been maintained since.

Maurice Chevalier has received more than 42,000 requests for his photograph. In addition, he receives about 15,000 letters each week.

A motion picture company offered the photographs of fifteen film stars in return for two seat stubs purchased at their theaters. The first brought 246 replies and the closing week 20,000. Approximately 80,000 responses reached CBS during the time limit of the offer.

Samples of several beauty products were announced and within twelve weeks more than a quarter of a million replies were received.

In five and one-half years the health exercises heard each morning have brought requests for 744,199 exercise charts and 797,840 health booklets. And these same exercises have inspired 1,000,000 letters.

FAY TEMPLETON, noted comedienne, diseuse and musical comedy star will be heard tonight (WRC, 6:30 o'clock). She will present numbers for which she is famous.

The master of ceremonies for the Club Valspar, Charles King, will present Gus Van, character comedian; Joe Smeck, guitar and banjo soloist, and the Keller Sisters & Lynch.

Prominent educators and business leaders, speaking in connection with the National Education Association meeting in Los Angeles, will be heard this afternoon (WRC, 3:30 o'clock).

RYDER CUP matches will occupy an hour or more of WMAL's time this afternoon, with Ted Husing at the microphone.

The Porto Rican musician, Jesus Maria Sanroma, who in 1926 was official pianist to the Boston Symphony Orchestra, will be heard during the "Pop" concert at Symphony Hall, Boston (WJZ network, tonight, 7:30 o'clock).

Arthur Fiedler, director, has chosen Handel's "Largo," Wagner's Prelude to Die Meistersinger, Liszt's Liebestraum and Schubert's Marche Militaire for the orchestra.

The La Rosa entertainers, an eleven-piece Cuban orchestra in the rumba style, will be broadcast via (WRC, tonight, 10:30 o'clock).

A SERIES of ship-to-shore broadcasts during the transpacific voyage of the S. S. Malolo from San Francisco to Honolulu will be heard, beginning about the middle of July.

This innovation takes an entire studio group to sea and enables it to continue its regular broadcast period through special short wave equipment licensed by the Federal Radio Commission. The ship broadcasts will be picked up at either Point Reyes, Calif., or Koko Head, near Honolulu, for rebroadcasting through the San Francisco studios.

War as seen in a telephone dugout of the German trenches will be dramatized when "Brigade Exchange," a European radio epic, is presented over WEAF's network, but not WRC, at 10:15 o'clock tonight.

FROM 1,500 to 2,000 visitors may be accommodated nightly in the NBC studios in the Merchandise Mart in Chicago. The largest studio in the world is a part of this layout, being 70 by 40 feet. The color scheme of another studio is taken from a 2,000-year old Chinese vase.

Dare Interprets the Mode

Even a depression isn't so bad when it results in a three-way "merger" frock for evening, afternoon or Sunday night (says Dah-ray).

New York, June 26.

EVEN though every cloud has a silver lining, don't you just hate to go around poking through piles of gloom in the hope of finding some little grain of comfort or value to make the gloom itself worth while? Wel-l-l-l, if you look at the worst disaster we have had to face in years from a fashion standpoint, the "silver lining" is right there waiting for you, without any need for digging on your part!

Yes, I'm going to talk about that old business depression again—for its fashionable "silver lining" is the new vogue for combination frocks that combine, economically and smartly, the good features of several frocks in one! Honestly now, just a little while ago, no one would have thought that she could own a versatile frock for many occasions and still be smart, would you? No couturier would have dreamed of creating for its clientele a frock or suit that could, by a little adjustment of this and that, become something different again.

But now—whether women can't honestly afford to have as many clothes as they had before, or whether they unconsciously join in the world-wide turning to the merger idea, these adaptable frocks are quite the latest thing! And chic, my deahs? Naturally—however smart an idea was no modern woman would pursue it if it didn't make her smart at the same time, now would she?

And so I made a design—one that I can't stop being proud of! I designed an absolutely perfect evening gown. And while I was admiring it and sketching around and about with my pencil—the evening gown I had so admired became the smartest possible Sunday night frock! And then, even to my astonishment, with another simple adjustment, the frock became a lovely afternoon frock—one that could be worn to ever so many afternoon functions. Now let the lady who doesn't think that we owe lots to this wave of depression step forward!

• • • •

But, my deahs, you may not see why you all should be so thrilled about this gown—so I'll tell you right away that it isn't difficult to make, 'n' I studied the problem all out and made a leaflet describing just how it was done! And you may have this leaflet by simply sending your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare department of The Washington Post. Just think of it—three stunning frocks for less than the price you'd have to pay for one in a smart shop!

• • • •

One of my readers who read my article about velvet the other day wrote in, "May I ask you one thing more while the velvet topic is in your mind—is brocaded velvet going to be used, too?" No, my dear, brocaded velvet is not—if you mean by that velvet with a self-fabric design brocaded on it! But brocaded chiffon—chiffon with the design in velvet—is going to be worn and very smartly! This beautiful fabric, which gives the effect of an exquisite print, is justly popular—adding the sheen and beauty of velvet to the coolness and suppleness of chiffon!

• • • •

And tomorrow there's another of those interesting weekly Dare fashion letters for you. Do look for it in the big Sunday Post.

Au revoir!

What Today Means to You

"CANCER."

IF June 27 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11:10 a. m. to 1:50 p. m., from 3:35 p. m. to 5:45 p. m. and from 8 p. m. to 10:10 p. m. The danger hours are from 7:45 a. m. to 10:30 a. m. and from 5:55 p. m. to 7:45 p. m.

The planetary aspects of June 27 denote a dull, uninteresting morning and an afternoon and evening replete with beneficent and stimulating influences. Nothing involving change should be attempted in the forenoon. Thereafter, the signs favor all social activities and recreations, and, incidentally, are kind to Cupid's devotees.

Children born on this June 27 will not, in youth, display any marked ability, and will only study when compelled to do so. After reaching the age of adolescence, this will all change, and they will then possess an insatiable appetite for erudition, and will spare no pains to gratify it. Their dispositions will be dominating and tinged with unselfishness and sympathetic affection.

Born on June 27, you are very careful in all that you do, and cautious in everything that you attempt. You not only look before you leap, but you carefully measure the height or breadth of the jump. After doing this, however, you are never dismayed, but gird your loins and take it on the run. Sometimes your landing is not a good one. But, undeterred, you return to starting point and try all over again. Your methods are classified as slow but your percentage of "get theres" is a high one.

You are thrifty, without being stingy, and you always insist on value received. You love modern comfort, but are not willing to purchase it on the installment plan. You always live within your means, and are a "C. O. D." subject. Your horoscope denotes that, although not capable of carrying out an operation that requires daring and imagination, you will attain an eminently desirable degree of success.

Your head, much more so than your heart, will influence your attachments; no strong passion will agitate you, but a placid and happy companionship will be the ambition that you realize. You will be willing to forego brief thrills for a continuous performance of connubial felicity.

Successful people born June 27:

1. Sir William Pepperell, first native American to be knighted.
2. Leonard Case, philanthropist.
3. James S. Metcalf, author.
4. Paul Laurence Dunbar, poet and author.
5. Helen Adams Keller, blind lecturer and author.

Apricot Conserve.

6 cups peeled, seeded apricots
1 cup diced pineapple
1 cup raisins
1 cup almonds.
½ cup orange juice
4 tablespoons lemon juice
4 cups sugar

Mix ingredients. Boil slowly and stir frequently until mixture thickens. Pour into sterilized jars and, when cool, seal.

Fresh Vegetable Salad Mold
(Serving six)

1 package lemon-flavored gelatin mixture
2 cups boiling water
1 cup diced cucumbers
1 cup diced celery
½ cup diced tomatoes (fresh)
2 tablespoons finely chopped onions
2 tablespoons finely chopped green peppers
1 teaspoon salt

Pour water over gelatin mixture and stir until dissolved. Cool. Add rest of ingredients and pour into glass mold. Chill until stiff. Unmold on lettuce and surround with mayonnaise.

Cherry Mousse

1 tablespoon granulated gelatin
3 tablespoons cold water
3 cups seeded red cherries
3 cups whipped cream
1½ cups sugar
2 teaspoons vanilla
½ teaspoon almond extract
½ teaspoon lemon extract

Mix cream, sugar and extracts. Soak gelatin and water five minutes. Dissolve over pan of hot water. Cool. Mix gelatin, cream mixture and cherries. Pour into tray in mechanical refrigerator and freeze four hours.

This dessert can be frozen by packing in mold and burying four hours in three parts chopped ice to one part coarse salt.

Culbertson on Contract

By Ely Culbertson
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

"THE BOLD EXPERT AND THE TIMID DUB."

THE road to Slams is one strewn with many wrecks. No feature of the game of Contract Bridge has for many players greater charm than bidding a Slam. The thrill of attempting it amply compensates for the frequent loss of games, due to unsound Slam bidding. Actually too many Slams are bid by experts. They are too prone to believe that expertness in play will atone for missing Aces. Contrariwise, the "Dub," the novice, and the average Contract player, does not bid enough Slams. Grand Slams should be bid about once in a Blue Moon, and that when the Blue Moon has reached its most effulgent development. Small Slams, on the contrary, should be bid when the chance of making it is but slightly better than even.

After making sure that there are not a couple of losing Aces adversely held, then the hands combined should have the playing tricks, available to discard losers, while suits, in which the adversaries hold second round tricks, are held in check until the low cards are established upon which to discard them. In bidding Slams remember that you must be able to account for most of the honor-tricks. Do not forget that the combined hands must have the total playing tricks to count up to at least 7 honor-tricks and good distribution.

The hand below offered a pretty problem in getting the twelve tricks contracted for, acquired against the lead actually made, and involved the giving up of the first trick, so that an important entry might be conserved for later use, when the adverse trumps were drawn.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♥ (1)	Pass	3 ♦ (2)	Pass
3 ♥	Pass	3 NT (3)	Pass
5 ♥ (4)	Pass	6 ♥ (5)	Pass

1—South has a very strong suit, but it is not quite strong enough for a bid of three. These bids, which prevent the exchange of valuable information, should not be made unless the necessary values are held. Contract is not a game of guess and hope, but one of precise information and the drawing of accurate inferences.
2—North, with three honor-tricks, makes a Forcing Takeout.
3—After South rebids his hearts, North has nothing further to show, so makes his minimum response of 3 no-trump.
4—Encouraged by his partner's show of honor strength, South makes an effort for Slam by bidding 5 hearts. This is not a Slam invitation, but a warning to partner not to bid for Slam unless he holds some value not already shown.
5—North in the heart Queen, even though a singleton, does hold important additional value. The heart suit with the addition of this card must be solid. The diamond suit is fairly good and North feels that South's bid of five must be predicated on the possession of spade or club honors, and unquestionably the spade Ace. His bid of six is sporty, but not too unsound.

West in the actual game opened the club King and South was at once faced with one of the questions of play which make or break the contract. It is often a good thing to postpone these problems as long as may be, but this particular problem pressed for immediate settlement and South decided to let West hold the trick. West's second choice of a lead is difficult. The opening lead of the spade doubleton would have given to South many a chance to make a mistake and might possibly have resulted in a defeated contract but now South need only to play accurately to recoup his mistake of slight overbidding.

West now led a spade and South won. Now a heart trick was taken by dummy and the Ace of diamonds was followed by a small diamond, which South ruffed. When the diamond Queen fell South breathed a sigh of relief.

When the hearts were cleared, South had to put his luck to the touch. The club Knave held the trick; now all was serene. South discarded his three losers on the diamond King Knave and club Ace and scored a profit on the hand, which, if not well bid, was at least well played.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Mr. Culbertson will be glad to answer questions on bidding and play of hands sent in by readers. Address him in care of The Washington Post, INCLOSING A TWO-CENT STAMPED SELF-ADDRESSED ENVELOPE.

GARDENS

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

PLEASE tell me the necessary care of mountain pink and oxalis bulbs. MRS. K. F. R.

Plant mountain pink in a sunny place in your rock garden or other sunny place in your garden. Water it regularly the first season. Oxalis bulbs, which are small, should be planted an inch to two inches deep and singly in a four-inch pot or several bulbs to a hanging basket. As oxalis is a trailer, it looks best in a basket or when the pot stands on a bracket. It usually begins to grow a few weeks after it is planted. Unlike most bulbs which are listed as winter bloomers, the oxalis does not have to be in seclusion while its root system is becoming established. As soon as planted, the pots should be set in a sunny window. In the spring remove the bulbs from the soil and replant them in fresh soil in the fall.

Please tell me the kind of soil in which grass flourishes. Must it be acid or alkaline? Also tell me which soil weeds grow best in. I am asking this question to settle a dispute I have had with one of my neighbors. ANN T. P.

Most lawn grass does best in a slightly acid soil. Weeds, such as dandelions and crab grass, are likely to do best in a rich soil which is alkaline, being rich in limestone. This is the reason lime should seldom be used on a lawn. Of course, you may occasionally find a portion of ground which is so acid that even grass will not grow on it. In this case you have to use lime.

Please tell me the care of cyclamen after they have finished blooming. MRS. R.

Gradually cease to water the plant. When all the leaves are yellow, give the plant no more water and set it aside in a dark place until Labor Day. About that date bring it to the light and remove the dead top. Scrub the outside of the pot and carefully, so that you do not disturb the bulb, replace about one-third of the soil in the pot with fresh loam. From then on water the plant. Water sparingly until growth is established. After the plant begins to grow, increase the amount of moisture. If you care to write again, inclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope, I shall be glad to send you a circular we have prepared on the care of cyclamen for the readers of this column.

When I set out some new shrubs this last spring I found as I unwrapped them that they were not in very good condition, as many of the roots were broken off. These I removed. Did I do right? NORMAN T. W.

Yes, all broken bits of roots must be removed with a sharp knife.

YOUR NAME — WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

"Cornelius Kraft" means "hard as horn strength." "Ethel Croft" means "noble little field."

By HARRY A. DEFERRARI, PH. D.

IT has been estimated that the two commonest English family names which were originally given as nicknames are "White" and "Brown." This seems quite natural when we consider that one of the easiest ways to identify a person is by his complexion or the color of his hair. However, the family name "White" does not always have its obvious meaning. It has been found that in a great many cases it stands for the middle English "wiht," meaning "valiant." The Hundred Rolls includes the names of Goeffrey le Whyte and Roger le Whyte. The old spelling "Whyte" is still common, but it does not at all indicate a more aristocratic origin, as some people believe.

In some cases it was taken to that country at the time of the Anglo-Norman invasion, but more frequently it stands as a translation of various Celtic names. Some Irish families who were originally named "O Gealbhain," meaning "the descendant of the bright-white man," have changed that name to "White." "O Gealbhain" has normally resulted in the modern Irish names "Gallivan," "Galvan," "Galven" and "Galvin." Another Irish source of "White" is "O Banagain," which really means "the descendant of the little white man."

Finally the original Irish name "Ban," meaning "fair" and "white," has sometimes been changed to "White," although the normal modern forms of "Ban" are "Baun," "Bawn," "Bane," "Bayne" and "Baynes." Some German families named "Weiss" have changed that name to "White" on coming to the United States or Canada, although, as we shall see in the next article of this series, that translation is not always correct.

HOUSEWIVES LIKE WINNING RECIPES

The secret of using the many foodstuffs advertised on the Saturday Food Page of The Washington Post has been learned by housewives in the territory reached by The Post since the inauguration of the $5 prize recipe contest.

Pleased letters have come from many women readers of this page who have tried out the winning recipes with good results. After all is said and done, it is whether or not a recipe works which counts in the long run, and women know if one woman has used a recipe successfully they have a fair chance of doing likewise.

Among the recipes which won book prizes or honorable mentions this week are the following:

NUT ICE BOX CAKE.
(Awarded Book Prize.)

30 macaroons
18 lady fingers
1½ cups XXXX sugar
1 cup butter
6 eggs
½ pound nuts (M. B. Frazier's)

Line the bottom of a pan with wax paper and then the lady fingers, next a layer of macaroons.

Cream sugar and butter; add three eggs, one at a time, beating well; then add the yolks of the other three eggs and nuts, then the beaten whites of the three eggs.

Cover the macaroons with half of this mixture; add another layer of macaroons, and the rest of the cream mixture on top.

This is delicious.

MRS. HERBERT O. THOMAS.
4510 Walsh street, Chevy Chase, Md.

GRAPE JUICE FRAPPE.
(Awarded Book Prize.)

Dissolve one package of lemon jello in one-half pint of boiling water and add one-half pint of Asco pure grape juice. Just as it begins to thicken whip with egg beater until light and frothy; add one cup of whipped cream and stir. Serve very cold in sherbet glasses, garnished with a spoonful of whipped cream.

MRS. C. K. GLOVER.
3636 Eldridge avenue, Brentwood, Md.

JAVA-MOCHA PARFAIT.
(Awarded Book Prize.)

1-3 cup Swing's Java and Mocha coffee
½ cup sugar
2 whites of eggs
Pinch of salt
1 cup cream (½ cup off each of 2 quarts of Thompson's milk—whips well when thoroughly chilled).

Boil coffee and sugar together until it spins a hair. Beat into beaten whites of eggs, to which salt has been added. Chill. Whip cream and add to other mixture. Put in tray of electrical refrigerator, at lowest temperature. Let freeze without stirring. Serve with a garnish of freshly candied mint leaf. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Using cream off the milk bottle for this recipe is very economical, and one always has ingredients at hand.

MRS. CLARA M. CASSIDY.
5111 Forty-fifth street northwest.

DELICIOUS DELIGHT.
(Awarded Book Prize.)

Dissolve one package of Asco strawberry gelatine dessert in a pint of boiling water. When cool, add a pint of vanilla ice cream and whip vigorously. When it begins to stiffen fold in 1 pint of fresh strawberries, halved, and about a dozen diced marshmallows. Place in the General Electric Refrigerator until ready to use.

This makes a perfectly delicious dessert. The marshmallows rise to the top like a meringue, and with the bright red strawberries through it, it is as good as it is good looking. Try it for yourself.

EMILY L. RUFE.
804 Rhode Island avenue northeast.

COFFEE SOUFFLE.
(Honorable Mention.)

One cup strong coffee made from Swing's Java and Mocha, at 45c; 1 cup cream, ¾ cup sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon vanilla, 3 eggs, 1 tablespoon A. S. C. O. gelatin.

Mix coffee, cream and gelatin, stir over hot water until gelatin dissolves, add sugar, salt, egg yolks slightly beaten, cool in electric refrigerator or icebox. Add whites of eggs stiffly beaten. Flavor with the vanilla. Put back in refrigerator until firm. Serve plain or with cream.

MRS. HELEN LOOMIS.
104 Seventh street southeast.

COFFEE FUDGE.
(Honorable Mention.)

4 cups sugar
2 cups strong, hot coffee, Swings Java and Mocha brand
3 tablespoons butter
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 cup Frazier's pecan or walnuts, as preferred
2 tablespoons Asco milk

Cook the sugar and coffee to the soft ball, test in cold water, then add the butter and milk, let them melt over hot water, then let come to the boil. Cool, then add the vanilla and the nuts chopped. Beat creamy and pour on a buttered dish. When cold, mark off in squares.

This is a delicious fudge—is a nice change from chocolate in warm weather.

MARIE EULALIE MORAN.
2416 Pennsylvania avenue northwest.

MUFFINS.
(Awarded Book Prize.)

2 cupfulls Washington self-rising flour
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons sugar
3 tablespoons melted lard or butter
1 egg
Pinch salt

Beat the egg, add milk, melted lard and sugar. Stir in the sifted flour and bake in gem tins quickly.

By using 1 cup cornmeal and 1 teaspoon baking powder, with 1 cup Washington self-rising flour, delicious corn bread or muffins can be made.

Recipe for Coffee Cake Rewards Eleanor G. Robey

Every one likes coffee cake, but the recipe submitted by Eleanor Glotfelty Robey, 2615 Brentwood road northeast, promises to give coffee cake eaters some new treats this year.

Her recipe was awarded first prize of $5 as the best submitted this week in which some article advertised on The Post food page was used. The following is her recipe:

DELICIOUS FOR AFTERNOON TEA.
(Recipe may be used for smaller cake.)

1 cup butter
2 cups brown sugar
1 cup molasses
1 cup strong coffee (cold)
(Using 4 tablespoons Swing's Java and Mocha coffee to 1 cup boiling water; steep at boiling point for 15 minutes, then cool.)
4 eggs (beaten to lemon-colored fluff)
1 teaspoon soda
2 teaspoons cinnamon
2 teaspoons cloves (ground)
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1 pound seedless raisins
2 teaspoons baking powder
4 cups Washington flour

Cream sugar and butter, add well-beaten eggs. Mix soda with molasses. Add to batter. Sift dry ingredients. Add alternately with coffee. Fold in raisins which have been floured. Bake in sponge tin, slow oven, 250 degrees for 1 hour.

ELEANOR GLOTFELTY ROBEY.
2615 Brentwood road northeast.

Elbow Macaroni.

½ package elbow macaroni
2 packages lemon gelatine
4 cups boiling water
½ green pepper, shredded
½ cup cabbage, shredded
½ cup celery, cut fine
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 head lettuce
½ cup mayonnaise
12 stuffed olives cut in rings.

Boil the elbow macaroni for nine minutes in two quarts rapidly boiling water to which one-half tablespoon salt has been added. Drain.

Dissolve the lemon gelatin in the boiling water. Cool. When slightly thickened, fold in the elbow macaroni, green pepper, cabbage, celery, salt and pepper. Turn into mold and chill until firm.

Then unmold on crisp lettuce leaves and garnish with mayonnaise and stuffed olive rings.

Bran or Graham flour can be used if desired with 1 cup of the self-rising flour with 1 teaspoon baking powder, using the same recipe.

MRS. ORA OVERHUE.
3000 Franklin street northeast.

(Honorable Mention.)

Biscuit:
2 cups self-rising Washington flour
2 tablespoons soft butter
1 cup milk
1 egg yolk

Filling:
1½ cups granulated sugar
½ cup hot water
1 tablespoon corn starch (rounded)
1 lemon
1 egg

To make: Sift flour, work in butter, add milk and egg yolk, mix; turn on floured board, pat out to an inch thick, bake till light brown on top. Tear open while warm, never cut. Put water and sugar in a double boiler; when boiling stir in the heaping tablespoon of corn starch, juice and grated rind of one lemon. When thick, stir in a well beaten egg, stirring very fast. When cool, spread the biscuit with the mixture, put together cover the top with melted butter, and sprinkle with shredded cocoanut. The biscuit are dainties if cut very small.

$8.36 KEEPS FOUR IN FOOD HERE WEEK

Maximum Adult Quantity Is Estimated by Bureau of Home Economics.

A family of four adults can live in Washington for a week on a food supply which costs but $8.36, according to a survey of food costs recently completed by the Bureau of Home Economics of the Department of Agriculture.

This remarkable conclusion was made public by the Bureau of Home Economics. Its publication, "The Family's Food at Low Cost," which gives outlines of amounts of food purchasable at this figure, may be obtained free of charge by addressing either the Saturday Food Page Editor, The Washington Post, or the Bureau of Home Economics, Department of Agriculture.

The cost of a week's food for four adults is about $1 higher than a similar one for the same family group issued by the bureau in January, but the January release was based on the minimum quantity posible and the present one was derived from considering the maximum one.

Good Nutrition Return.

The combinations and proportions of food, in the list for which the average price was obtained, will give good nutrition returns for a limited outlay of money, the bureau says. Families that may need to make drastic reductions in their food budget could safely live by this food guide, the bureau declares, but there must be great discretion if any reduction is made in the suggested amounts of milk, vegetables and lean meat.

The food needs for one week for a family of four adults, and also several other family groups, appear in considerable detail in the bureau's publication, "The Family's Food at Low Cost."

The allowance of bread for four adults is from 20 to 25 pounds a week; flour, 4 pounds; cereal, 4-7 pounds; while milk, fresh or canned, 4-14 pounds; potatoes, 15 to 20 pounds; legumes, 1-3 pounds; tomatoes, fresh or canned, or oranges, 6 pounds; other vegetables, fresh or canned, including some of green or yellow color, and inexpensive fruit, fresh, canned or dried, 20-25 pounds; fats, 4 pounds; sugar, including some unrefined cane molasses, 5 pounds, and lean meat, liver, fish, cheese, eggs, 5-10 pounds.

Washington Ranks Low.

The prices were gathered, as they were in January, at inexpensive or average stores, rather than the more expensive sources. New York City topped the list with $9.03, and Los Angeles was the lowest with a cost of $7.81. Following are other cities and the figures for filling the market basket outlined: Chicago, $7.88; St. Louis, $7.98; Kansas City, $8.08; Detroit, $8.15; Dallas, $8.21; Pittsburgh, $8.22; New Orleans, $8.23; Washington, D. C., $8.36; Charlotte, N. C., $8.46; Atlanta, $8.94; Philadelphia, $8.99.

The same articles were chosen in each food group in every city, and since vegetables and fruits are relatively cheaper throughout the South, cities there showed a lower figure than in the North, with the exception of Charlotte and Atlanta. Inexpensive meat costs are largely responsible for Chicago and St. Louis' placing near the bottom of the list.

Low-cost cold meals for hot days are a little bit more difficult to plan for and achieve than cooked ones, the bureau says. Delectable cold concoctions usually cost more than plain and simply prepared cooked meals. The low-cost food guide has only a small weekly allowance of meat, which is often the basis for the cold meal. Cooking meat with potatoes or cereal extends its flavor so much more than if it is eaten by itself. But today's menu uses cold sliced picnic shoulder as the mainstay of the dinner, which is not entirely given over to cold food.

Preparing Shoulder.

If the shoulder is prepared the day before, cabbage could be cooked with it for the latter part of the cooking period and served as one of the hot vegetables for that day.

Potato salad makes an excellent accompanient for the shoulder. It is an old favorite and has the additional recommendation that it doesn't cost much to make. A hot green vegetable is quite appropriate for the cold meal.

RECIPES.

Tomato Rarebit on Toast.

2 tablespoons butter or other fat
½ cup finely cut celery
½ green pepper, chopped
½ small onion, chopped
2 tablespoons flour
1 pint canned tomatoes
½ pound cheese, shaved thin
1 teaspoon salt
2 eggs

Melt the fat in a heavy skillet, add the celery, green pepper, and onion; cook for a few minutes, and stir frequently. Sprinkle the flour over the cooked vegetables, pour in the tomatoes, and add the cheese and salt. Cook over low heat and stir until the mixture thickens and the cheese is melted. Pour some of this mixture into the well-beaten eggs, then pour all back into the skillet, and continue to cook over low heat ufitil thickened and creamy. Serve on crisp toast or crackers.

Creamy Rice With Prunes.

1 cup boiling water
1½ cups milk
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup sugar
2 cups chopped fruit, fresh or dried fruit, soaked and cooked.

Cook the rice over direct heat in the cup of boiling water. When the water has been almost absorbed put the rice in a double boiler, add the milk, salt, and sugar. Cover and cook until the rice is tender. Mix the rice and fruit and when chilled serve with top milk.

Wilted Lettuce.

2 quarts leaf lettuce or the outside leaves of head lettuce
4 tablespoons bacon fat
¼ cup mild vinegar
1 teaspoon salt

Wash the lettuce thoroughly, and cut into small pieces with scissors. Heat the bacon fat, vinegar, and salt in a skillet, add the lettuce, cover, and heat until the lettuce is wilted. A little sugar may be added if desired. Serve at once.

Spaghetti, Green Pepper

½ package spaghetti
1 onion, cut fine
¼ teaspoon pepper
6 large green peppers
1 tablespoon salt
6 slices of bacon
1 large can tomato soup

Boil the spaghetti for nine minutes in two quarts rapidly boiling water to which one-half tablespoon salt has been added. Drain. Combine the spaghetti with the onion and season with pepper. Fill each pepper with enough spaghetti to cover the top. Add the salt. Place a slice of bacon over each pepper. Lay the peppers in a casserole and pour tomato soup over all. Bake in a moderate oven 30 to 35 minutes. Macaroni can be substituted for the spaghetti.

The modern refrigerator is electrical

Certainly you can afford electrical refrigeration

You can afford electric refrigeration first, because of its invaluable protection to family health. Avoidance of only one serious illness resulting from spoiled food would cover its entire cost.

You can afford it as an investment, because a good electric refrigerator will last a lifetime. In fact, you can't afford to be without one. As a time, labor and money saver it is the greatest single contributor to economy in the home.

Electric refrigeration today is protecting the health and effecting economies in the households of many thousands of users of "Matchless Service." Foods kept in electric refrigerators are always below the 50-degree safety line. Economies are effected as the result of the exceedingly low cost of electricity in Washington and nearby Maryland . . . household rates for "Matchless Service" being among the lowest in the entire country.

Don't go through another summer without the protection, economy and convenience of an electric refrigerator. Go to your nearest electrical dealer and ask him to tell you how easily you may buy a dependable electric refrigerator.

HOSPITALS TO DRAW CHEST SERVICE PAY

New Budget Plan Provides Reimbursement for Free Patients.

Proposal for a uniform classification of accounts for all Community Chest organizations, which would include a plan for reimbursement of Community Chest hospitals on the actual basis of their free and part-pay service toward patients was approved by trustees of the Chest at a meeting yesterday afternoon at the United States Chamber of Commerce Building. Proposal was made by the budget committee with approval of the executive committee of the Chest.

Previous to adoption of this proposal Chest hospitals have prepared budgets on the basis of deficits incurred in operating expenses, but under this method they will be paid for all services provided on a free or part-pay basis.

Draw More Than Budgets.

Organizations affiliated with the Chest continue to draw in excess of their budget in many instances, although the average is about normal, being 41.9 per cent for the first five months of the year, which constitute 41.4 per cent of the year. This is because a large number of institutions have not begun to take over their Chest funds as yet, while the higher ratios, which range up to 75 per cent of the year's allotment, are due to unemployment, which has made unusually heavy calls upon many organizations.

In absence of President John Poole, Mrs. John Jay O'Conner presided at yesterday's meeting. Elwood Street, director of the Chest, outlined the request of the President's committee on employment to the National Association of Chests and Councils that this organization take over raising of funds to meet expected needs from unemployment next winter. He also called attention to recent formation of a purchasing committee, headed by Maj. Gen. B. F. Cheatham, U. S. A., retired, and outlined its proposed activities.

Formation of Committee.

Joseph D. Kaufman, chairman of the speakers' bureau, told of the formation of an executive committee to direct the work of the bureau, consisting of Mrs. John Jay O'Connor, Miss Agnes Regan, W. W. Wheeler, Maj. Campbell Johnson, Mrs. W. A. Roberts, Dr. Allen A. Stockdale and Capt. Sidney Morgan.

William Knowles Cooper, reporting for the committee on church cooperation, said that Catholic, Jewish, white Protestant and colored Protestant churches had shown unity in working out plans for this committee, and added that the committee soon is to meet with the Greek Orthodox Church for the purpose of enlisting its members in the work.

SECRETARY SCHOOL AWARDS DIPLOMAS

Wisconsin Educator Tells Graduates Business Demands Accuracy.

Diplomas were presented last night to June graduates of the Washington School for Secretaries before a capacity audience in the National Press Club Auditorium.

Exercises were opened with an invocation by the Rev. William S. Abernethy, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, followed by a piano duet by Miss Alice Greenwald and Miss Bettie Renner.

Prof. M. V. O'Shea, head of the department of education at the University of Wisconsin and member of the advisory council of the Washington School for Secretaries, addressed the graduates on "New Times and New Problems." He told of benefits of the new standards of education for business and the problems which could be met only by competent and thorough education.

The School Glee Club, accompanied by Miss Cornelia Nugent, rendered two selections. Other features were a musical interpretation by Miss Helen Shoemaker and a piano solo by Miss Nugent.

Dr. Richard T. Ely, president of the school, presented diplomas to the following:

Maj. Henry G. Pratt yesterday issued an order to the Police Department to ascertain where fire-crackers known as "spit-devils" are being sold in the District. Several complaints have been received at headquarters regarding the setting off of these fireworks. The "spit-devils" are against police regulations and Maj. Pratt has ordered vendors of the articles be prosecuted.

Man Asks $50,000 For Parking Notes

Suit Contends Letters in Automobile Dispute Brought Harm.

Suit for $10,000 for each of five letters written by George M. Curtis, of Park road near Seventeenth street northwest, was instituted in the District Supreme Court yesterday by Henry Lebach, who lives across the street from Curtis.

The suit charged that Curtis wrote letters to the police, the Veteran's Bureau, the corporation counsel, the traffic director, and the owner of the house where Lebach lives complaining about Lebach's action in parking his car in front of Mr. Curtis' home.

Through Attorney T. A. Doyle, Lebach, an employe of the Veterans' Bureau, asked $50,000 damages because of the letters.

Displeased Judge Discharges Jury

Verdict of Acquittal in Car-Theft Case Leads to Dismissal.

A jury of ten men and two women was discharged summarily yesterday by Justice Peyton Gordon, displeased after it returned a verdict acquitting Arthur Clinton Miller on a charge of stealing an automobile.

"Let that panel be discharged," Justice Gordon ordered. "I don't want them sitting on another case." His order was complied with by the clerk of the court and the following jurors were discharged one week before their terms had ended: Celia Blumenthal, Walter G. Dixon, Mrs. Mildred G. Lohmeyer, Edward F. Morse, William H Pressman, Charles H. Purcell, Louis G. Richardson, Robert N. Riley, John R. Rodler, Harry Salus, Michael Samen and William G. Seymour.

STOCK PRICES CLIMB IN SPIRITED MARKET

New York, June 26 (A.P.).—The stock market made the most of news and rumor today, closing in new high ground for the recovery. Progress of the American and French negotiators in their efforts to reconcile the viewpoints of the two governments on the debt moratorium gave shares a good send-off in the morning. Although profit-taking wore down the gains, new group leaders were brought forward to keep the pot boiling and the market ended the less active session with an outburst of buying in the rails.

This demonstration was impelled by a report that the Interstate Commerce Commission had decided to grant to the roads immediately one-half of their 15 per cent freight rate increase.

News ticker dispatches from Washington promptly denied this rumor, but the contradiction came just at the close and had no effect marketwise. Carrier stocks leaped up 2 to 8 points, which was the range of the advance for the general list. The average gain by the 90 issues used in the Standard Statistics composite was 2.9 points.

Turnover Is Less.

Although trading was occasionally spirited, turnover fell off sharply, totaling 3,100,000 shares against 4,300,000 yesterday. Some profit-taking was probably induced by uncertainty over what course the debt debate in the French Chamber would take, but the market was quiet when declining and seemed to welcome the closing rally.

Commodities were firm to strong. Silver, copper and lead went unchanged, but cotton jumped $2.15 to $2.25 a bale net, wheat rose 1 to 1½ cents and corn was up 1 to 2 cents. The investment market on the whole was strong.

Steel stocks led the early rise, helped by the rumor of an agreement in the Bethlehem-Youngstown merger dispute. Motor accessory shares, the chain store and merchandising issues and the utilities came to the fore at intervals. Coppers were quieter, but still on the mend, oils and motors rather lagged.

Rails Close Higher.

Until their late spurt rails, too, had been somewhat indifferent. However, Atchison's net change was a gain of 8¾, while Union Pacific followed closely, 7 points up. New York Central, ex-dividend, climbed about 7 but the rise was cut to 5¾. Baltimore & Ohio was prominent with a 6-point advance and many others improved 3 to 5.

U. S. Steel finished at 102, its best price of the day, up 3⅜. American Can, Bethlehem, American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, Westinghouse, Loew's, International Telephone and Eaton Axle fell in a 2 to 4 point range. Youngstown, Case, Auburn and American & Foreign Power were more buoyant.

The increase of $20,000,000 in the Federal Reserve Banks' Government security holdings caused wide comment in Wall Street, where it was seen as an indication that the system was determined to keep open market interest rates low, thus helping bonds, forestalling further gold shipments and aiding credit in the interior. Until currently, the banks' easy money program has operated through the rediscount rate and the bill market, but the effect of these two measures has been somewhat dulled.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, June 26 (A.P.).—Word that Chairman Stone of the Federal Farm Board attended an unannounced conference with President Hoover led to a buying flurry in grains today. At the same time the Farmers National Grain Corporation, a Government sponsored agency, halted prolonged selling of wheat. Hopes of traders generally were aroused the Farm Board would announce that for some definite period the 200,000,000 bushels of American wheat owned by the board's allies would be taken out of competition with the new 1931 crop.

No such action of the Farm Board was announced, however, and wheat closed nervous, ⅞ to 1½ cents up, with corn 1⅜ to 2¼ advanced, oats showing ⅛ to 1⅝ gain, and provisions 2 cents to 35 cents higher.

Helping the upturns in grain prices were optimistic forecasts of the establishment of a war debt moratorium. Hot, dry weather that pointed to possible serious damage of corn and oats crops was also a bullish factor. Price bulges, though, in corn and oats brought a flood of country selling of corn. Wheat selling on the upturn of the market was likewise induced by enlarged receipts of newly harvested domestic winter wheat, primary arrivals totaling 939 cars, compared with 657 cars the day previous.

Handicaps to wheat advances included Liverpool reports that Russia had started its 1931 selling campaign, and was offering large quantities of wheat for August-September shipment much cheaper than United States wheat at the Gulf of Mexico. Meanwhile, Black Sea shipments of wheat increased, lifting the total since August 1 to 105,039,000 bushels, against 122,744,000 during the corresponding time a year before. Advices of big reductions of wheat acreage in Australia and Argentina were almost ignored. Exporters were bidding 1 cent under September for No. 1 hard winter wheat free on board vessels at Galveston.

General buying of corn was the order of the day until demand flagged under free offerings of corn to arrive. Oats derived most of their strength from hot weather damage talk.

Provisions were depressed by liquidation of July contracts.

FOREIGN BONDS LEAD ADVANCES IN PRICES

New York, June 26 (A.P.).—Foreign bonds jumped upward today in lively fashion, while the rest of the market staged a general, if less striking, advance. Sales aggregated $13,085,000, the largest daily total since June 2.

The uprush in foreign obligations was concentrated in Latin-American issues, following reports that credits might be extended to various countries to the south of the United States. Argentine, Colombian, Brazilian and Chilean loans scored the widest gains. The 6 per cent issue of January, 1961, of Chile made a net advance of 7½ points. Gains in other Latin-American issues ranging from ½ to 6 points were common.

Such wide advances are very unusual in bonds and the fact of their occurrence simply demonstrated the force of the buying movement. German and other European issues continued to gain but the pace of the advance among them was of more normal proportions. Australian loans scored good gains also but their strength was less conspicuous than that of the Latin-Americans.

Loans of the United States Government were less active than usual and they showed a declining tendency.

Corporate bonds were generally higher although the advance in them was neither uniform nor continuous. However, closing average prices for ten bonds each of industrials, public utilities and railroads were all moderately higher.

Of these latter bonds, the railroads made many of the larger gains. Net advances of 1 point or more appeared in the several Alleghany issues, Atchison Convertible 4½s of 1948, Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh Consolidated 4½s, Central of Georgia Consolidated 5s, Rock Island General 4s and Refunding 4s of 1934, St. Paul Adjustment 5s and Chicago & Northwestern Refunding 5s. Fractional gains were the rule in most other rails. The upturn in the rails developed about the middle of the trading session after earlier fractional weakness.

The advance in the industrials was less impressive although it extended to most issues of that classification. Public utilities achieved moderate gains but at times they appeared to lack a definite trend.

CHISOX BEAT NATS, 4-3, DESPITE KUHEL'S 2 HOMERS

Sox Gain 3-Run Lead; Double Play in 9th Checks Threat.

By FRANK H. YOUNG
(Post Staff Correspondent).

COMISKEY PARK, Chicago, Ill., June 26.—If the Nationals could have used their bats today as well as they talked last night when they learned that the day's play had brought them to within a single game of the leading Athletics, they would have won the opener with the White Sox here by a record one-sided score. But, except in the case of Joe Kuhel, who pounded out a pair of home runs, their sticks seemed to be just so much excess baggage at the plate, the result being a 4-to-3 Chicago triumph, with Cecil Pat Caraway credited with a five-hit victory.

As the Macks did not play in Detroit because of rain, the Nats' loss in the race at the moment is but half a game, leaving them a game and a half behind the lead.

From the press box it looked as though a hasty decision by Umpire Brick Owens cost the Nats a tie and another chance to win, for he called Bluege out at first to give the Sox a double play in the ninth just before Kuhel poled his second drive of the game into the right-field stands.

Crowder Relieved By Hadley.

However, whether Owens was right or wrong, the Nats deserve little sympathy. "General" Alvin Crowder looked like a private in the rear ranks out there on the pitching slab and he granted the enemy four runs before he was yanked in th fifth. Irving Hadley turned in another good relief shirt, but the Nats appeared to be almost helpless against Carway's slants, so this help came too late.

Kuhel's four-baggers gave the Nationals two of their runs and the other came in the only other inning in which they had Caraway in a hole. Even then they molded their marker without the need of a hit. This occurred in the fourth, when the lanky southpaw went up in the air momentarily, twice filling the bases, once with none out.

Manush and Cronin were walked and Harris was hit. A safety here would have just about broken up the ball game, but West's best was a pop to Jeffries, and Bluege's liner to left was deep enough to allow Manush to register following the catch. Then Kuhel walked, again filling the bases. Spencer evidently felt that he did his bit in driving home four runs in Detroith yesterday, for he lofted weakly to Cissell.

Manush's Double Is Wasted.

The Nationals had had no chances in the previous rounds and they passed up minor opportunities in the last two. Kuhel's first homes came in the seventh and Manush doubled in the next session with one out. Neither Cronin nor Harris could advance him.

Owens and "Lady Luck" combined against them in the ninth. West opened with a single to center and Bluege shot a grasser toward short. Jeffries came in fast, made a stab for the ball while looking up in the air to protect his face from a bad hop and the sphere stuck in his glove. His peg to second nipped West, but Bluege appeared to be well over the bag before the ball got to first. Owens said "out," however, and this stood. Then Kuhel crashed his second homer, which would have tied the score had Bluege been called safe.

Crowder was ineffective from the start and was fortunate that more damage was not done by the home sharpshooters, who had won only 3 games out of the previous 22 games. A base on balls, Reynolds' hit and Fonseca's scratch safety gave the Sox a marker in the first. The trapping of a man between first and second mdae hits by effries and Caraway no good in the second.

Blue's double, Reynolds' triple and

In the Wake Of the Game

Chicago, Ill., June 26.

FRED MARBERRY, who pitched a fine game in beating the Tigers his last time out, is due to draw the Washington pitching assignment against the White Sox today, while Jim Frazier, a right-hander, will oppose him.

Manager Johnson and his Nationals see in the Mackmen's rout in the St. Louis series the beginning of the long-predicted collapse of the pitching staff of Mack. With Grove, Earnshaw and Walberg having been winning regularly, the Athletics were sure of taking three games in each series and usually, when forced to start one of the others, either Grove or Earnshaw finished.

But both Earnshaw and Walberg were bumped by the Browns, and if the wear and tear has slowed up either or both of this pair Connie Mack and his henchmen should have nothing but trouble ahead, as the Elephants' second-stringers are below the average of those of most of their rivals. Mack's big three so far has been more effective than the three next best in the entire league. All told, they have accounted for 37 victories—Grove, 13; Earnshaw, 12, and Walberg, 11. Earnshaw and Grove have gone the route twelve times and Walberg on eight occasions.

Of the others on the Philadelphia staff the starter has finished but five times, Mahaffey going the route three times and Rommel twice. So, if either Earnshaw or Walberg, or both, should falter, it readily can be seen that the Mackmen will be in a mighty bad way.

The White Sox have sent Outfielder Fred Eichrodt to the New Orleans Club, from which he was drafted.

Bob (Blimp) Bowstrom, last season's Navy football captain, who has gotten his commission was an enthusiastic visitor at today's game.

Umpire Bill McGowan had to leave yesterday's second game because of being overcome by the heat and did not show up this afternoon, Harry Geisel and Brick Owens carrying the load.

Harris raced over toward the right field foul line to make a nice catch of Kerr's drive opening the third.

West hustled over toward left to rob Cissell of an extra base blow in the fourth, with Bluege following with another sparkling play. The third sacker came in fast to snatch up Jeffries' bunt with his bare hand and to follow through with a nobby peg to first for the killing.

Cissell contributed a pretty play when he grabbed Cronin's liner just an inch or so above the grass opening the sixth. He had to come in and break toward second for the ball.

KENSINGTON SEEKS FOE.

The Kensington A. C. is without a game for tomorrow and would like to book a strong unlimited opponent. Manager Joe Neri can be reached at Kensington 60.

Post Staff Photos.

Maj. Hills Eliminated After 5-Set Match Lasting 3 Hours.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

TWO young lieutenants, the one from San Diego, Calif., an aviator, and the other from Washington, D. C., an infantryman, will fight it out this afternoon at 2 o'clock at Columbia Country Club for the singles championship of the United States Army, and a year's polishing rights on the Sheridan Cup, costliest of all tournament prizes.

The lieutenants concerned are Stanley K. Robinson, seeded third, and David D. Hedekin, who took his first steps in tennis while at Western High School. Yesterday Robinson created a triple-plated upset when he eliminated Lieut. J. W. Strahan, defending champion, in a beautifully played four-set match, 2—6, 6—3, 6—0, 6—1. Hedekin joined Robinson in the finals bracket after beating Maj. J. Huntington Hills, 3—6, 6—1, 8—6, 3—6, 6—2, a match which lasted a full three hours and ten minutes.

It is Heedkin's second-straight year as a finalist. Last year he was beaten by Lieut. Strahan in as bitter a five-set match as he won today. Robinson reached the semifinal round

Training of Georgian Halted by Storm as Title Bout Nears.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 26 (A.P.).—Despite a mad fury of wind, rain and hail that shattered a heat wave hovering over the fight situation for the past week, a corps of workmen hammered and hewed in the Municipal Stadium today, covering an acre or two of greensward with ringside seats for Max Schmeling's heavyweight title defense against young Stribling a week from tonight.

The first odds quoted here so far placed Stribling the favorite at 7-5 to win the decision. So far no wagers have been reported on a knockout.

25,000 Ringside Seats Ready.

By nightfall most of the 25,000 $25 ringside seats were ready for the customers. No seat in this group is more than 180 feet from the ring, already pitched in the baseball infield just back of second base.

In all there will be 92,000 seats available for the Midwest faithful that are showing increasing interest daily in the first heavyweight title battle Ohio has seen since Jack Dempsey dethroned Jess Willard at Toledo in 1919. Dick Dunn, promoting the fifteen-round affair for the Garden, estimated today that the advance sale already totals $300,000, with a gate of $600,000 a certainty.

The stadium is a massive, compact, circular affair, double-decked and providing a clear view of the proceedings from any point in the structure. The average distance of the block of 30,000 $5.49 seats is 300 feet from the battle pit, and most of the boys in this section next Friday night will be closer to the proceedings than were the majority of customers in the $40 ringside seats for the second Tunney-Dempsey fight at Chicago in 1927. A third block of 30,000 seats priced at $12.50 are located in the covered stands, looking down in the ring.

Ticket Sellers Canvass Farms.

With the battle only seven days away and the gladiators close to fighting pitch, flying squadrons of Garden ticket sellers raced through Ohio and Pennsylvania towns in final efforts to bring in the customers. Hotels in Cleveland were filling rapidly and the usual excitement that always accompanies a heavyweight title tilt began to take hold of the city.

Schmeling Perfecting 2-Fisted Body Attack

Conneaut Lake Park, Pa., June 26 (A.P.).—Max Schmeling hopes to conquer Young Stribling with a body attack in their world's heavyweight championship battle in Cleveland a week from tonight.

The Black Uhlan gave evidence of this in his five-round workout against two sparring partners this afternoon. They tossed George Panka, Pittsburgh heavyweight, and Tony Narullo, the New Orleans veteran, into the ring with Schmeling and against both sparring mates, the sturdy German moved forward until he got into close quarters and then let fly with both hands to the body. Beyond question, this is the style of battle he intends to employ against the king of the Georgia canebrakes.

Americans Beat British In Scotch Foursomes as Heat Is South African

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.
Special to The Washington Post.

SCIOTO COUNTRY CLUB, Columbus, Ohio, June 26.—The Ryder Cup tournament, in which the leading professional golfers of the United States and England turn amateur for a couple of days every two years, yielded three victories and one defeat for the Americans on the links of the Scioto Country Club today.

Walter Hagen and Denny Shute bunted their ball around to beat George Duncan and Arthur Havers 10 up and 9 in a match which was to have gone 36 holes. Gene Sarazen and Johnnie Farrell, partners in many a championship after concurrent careers as caddies in Westchester County, New York, won from Archie Compston and Willie Davis, 8 up and 7. Whiffy Cox and Billie Burke, whose actual name is no more Burke than Josef Paul Cuckoachay's name is Jack Sharkey, won from Syd Easterbrook and Ernest Whitcombe.

Digele's Rheumatic Putting Stance.

Fred Robson and Abe Mitchell were the only members of the British team to win a match. They disciplined Leo Diegel, who putts with the stance of a rheumatic mendicant leaning on a stick, and Al Espinosa, 3 and 2.

The matches were Scotch foursomes. In a Scotch foursome each side has one golf ball and the boys take turns attacking it. This way a player gets only half as much action as he would in a regular foursome, but the scheme has this advantage that a fellow always can blame a terrible shot on the terrible lie which his partner left him.

The end of the first day found the tournament less than half done because Saturday's program calls for eight singles matches. Each victory counts for 1 point in a possible total of 12. The British hold the cup now, having won it in their country two years ago, but the American professionals, all native-born, incidentally, probably will win it back Saturday afternoon.

The cup was put up by an Englishman named Sam Ryder, who thought it would be very nice if the professionals were to play merely for prestige two days every two years to show that they are not mercenary. It is a conventional cup, a bowl on a tall silver stem like those in which chocolate marshmallow surprises with crushed nuts are served at soda fountains.

Scorers Embarrassed By One Match.

An embarrassing situation arose in the latter stages of the victory of Hagen and Shute. In this tournament the standing of a match is indicated to the spectators by means of a number of small national flags planted in little holes on a wooden standard which is borne on high at the head of the procession by a flag

Dunlap and Kepler Survive For U. S. College Golf Finals

OLYMPIA FIELDS COUNTRY CLUB, Chicago, June 26 (A.P.).—The golf championship of the country's colleges tonight lay between George T. Dunlap, jr., of Princeton University, and Robert H. Kepler, of Ohio State.

Tomorrow they will meet over Olympia Fields' stern No. 4 course for the title now held by Dunlap.

Dunlap, 118-pound blond terror from East Orange, N. J., a veteran tournament player, won his way through the 36-hole semifinal round today by defeating Tommy Aycock, of Yale, 9 and 8. Dunlap succeeded Aycock as king last year when the Jacksonville, Fla., boy was not in college to defend his title.

Kepler, a big, easy-swinging, slow-moving Dayton, Ohio, youth, eliminated his teammate, Johnny Florio, 6 and 5. The two friends played 31 holes in perfect amity and walked off the last green arm in arm.

Dunlap's consistently good golf throughout the meet and his superior tournament experience established him as favorite. Both rivals tomorrow are 22 years old, but Dunlap qualified in the 1928 and 1930 national amateur tournaments, won the North and South amateur title last spring and took the intercollegiate title last year.

Kepler's best effort so far has been placing second in the Western Conference meet last year. Otherwise his tournament play has been limited to three Dayton district meets. He is a junior with another year of college life. Dunlap has graduated.

Dunlap's triumph was somewhat of a surprise, for Aycock had twice defeated him in team matches. Dunlap, however, stood 3 up at the ninth hole, 7 up at the eighteenth, 8 up at the twenty-seventh, and clinched victory on the next hole with a par 4 when Aycock sliced and finally putted out for a 5.

American Trio Advances at Wimbledon

Shields, Van Ryn and Wood Among Eight Singles Survivors.

Mrs. Harper to Play Betty Nuthall Today in Feature Match.

By FRANK H. KING.

LONDON, June 26 (A.P.).—American tennis stars twinkled brightly at Wimbledon today as Frank X. Shields, John Van Ryn and Sidney B. Wood, jr., won their way into the last eight in men's singles and Mrs. L. A. Harper went into the last sixteen in women's singles.

Of the three victories by the American youths, that of Shields over J. S. Oliff, English hard courts champion, 6—2, 6—0, 6—2, was the most convincing and raised the stock of the New York player considerably.

Playing with great earnestness and intensity, Shields revealed new facets of his fine game. In each succeeding match he has won new converts to his colorful, intelligent play.

Van Ryn Disposes Of Boussus.

Van Ryn upset the most formidable opponent of the three when he turned back the very left-handed M. Christian Boussus, hailed a year or so ago as the successor to Henri Cochet, Rene Lacoste and Jean Borotra. Johnny won much more easily than was expected, turning back the Frenchman, 6—2, 1—6, 6—2, 6—1. He played consistently to Boussus' weak back hand and piled up most of his winning points there.

Young Wood, just 20, but with the poise of a player twice his age, fought a long struggle with the Cambridge tennis captain, C. E. Malfroy, before he finally won, 6—3, 10—12, 10—8, 6—4. The points he lost were largely due to his own errors when he had Malfroy set up for a kill. Playing a soft game against the sturdy New Zealander, Wood chased his rugby-hardened opponent from one side of the court to the other with his deliberate, long drives.

His only fault was that time after time with his opponent out of position he hit the ball into the net or tapped it just outside the line.

Mrs. Harper Conquers Nervous Foe.

Mrs. Harper easily won her match against Miss O. L. Webb, a tall English girl, who appeared to be suffering somewhat from stage fright and never could get bearings. The scores were 6—0, 6—4. Mrs. Harper will meet Betty Nuthall, her conqueror, at Forest Hills in the American championships finals last fall, on the famous center court tomorrow.

Gregory Mangin, of Newark, N. J., shared in a victory in the doubles. Paired with Pierre Landry, of France, he defeated the English pair of A. L. Della Porta and H. G. Gunn; 6—3, 6—4, 12—10. Mangin and Landry had a walkover in the first round, when Borotra failed to return from Paris, where he had gone on business, in time to team with Boussus against the Franco-American team.

Sidney B. Wood, jr., U. S. A., defeated C. E. Malfray, New Zealand, 6—3, 10—12, 10—8, 6—4.

G. P. Hughes, Great Britain, defeated Nigel Sharpe, Great Britain, 3—6, 6—2, 6—4, 6—4.

Leibold Fined $300 For Abusing Umpire

California Girls Reach College Tennis Finals

Brookline, Mass., June 26 (A.P.).—Two California school girls advanced to the final round of the girls' intercollegiate tennis singles championship at the Longwood Cricket Club today. They were Mary Greef, first seeded player, who eliminated Mary Cutter, of the Sagsaukpuj, 8—6, 6—2, and Charlotte Miller, of the University of California, who defeated Dorrance Chase, of Simmons College, 6—4, 6—1.

British Trail U.S., 3-1, for Ryder Cup

Hagen-Shute Win, 10 Up and 9; Singles Matches Today.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

SCIOTO COUNTRY CLUB, Columbus, Ohio, June 26 (A.P.).—Two storms hit Scioto's embattled links today. The first, an outburst of par-cracking golf by the American professional forces, came close to sweeping the British right off their feet. The second, an old-fashioned thunderstorm, had the tonic effect of putting the invaders back into a fight that they saved from becoming a complete rout.

Capt. Walter Hagen's team emerged from the first day's battle for the Ryder Cup, emblem of the international professional team championship, with a margin of three matches to one. They were hard pressed, however, to gain this commanding lead in the two-ball foursomes, as the British holders of the trophy made a gallant comeback.

Under the terrific heat that scorched Scioto all morning half of the British defense wilted so completely that the Americans clinched two of the four matches by the time the half-way stage of the 36-hole route was reached.

Hagen Settles Old Score With Duncan.

Hagen, aided by Densmore Shute, began the settlement of an old score with George Duncan by featuring a one-sided triumph over the British veteran and Arthur Havers to the tune of 10 and 9.

Close on the heels of this rout, Johnny Farrell and Gene Sarazen, the Beau Brummels of the American clan, uncorked a blazing brand of golf to trounce Archie Compston and Billie Davies, 8 and 7.

From there on through the late afternoon, however as cooling breezes replaced the blistering heat, the British waged an uphill fight. It took a determined stand by the two American newcomers to Ryder Cup competition, Wiffy Cox and Billie Burke, to score the all-important third victory for the Americans at the expense of Syd Easterbrook and Ernest Whitcombe, 3 and 2, in a ding-dong battle.

Abe Mitchell and Fred Robson came to the defense with the long British triumph, beating Al Espinosa and Leo Diegel on the thirty-fifth hole, 3 and 1, after making a fine comeback.

Americans Play Subpar Golf.

Weathering the heat much better than rivals the Americans burned up the course in the morning with golf that was mostly of the sub-par variety. Hagen and Shute, teaming beautifully as the "Haig" worked some magic on the greens blazed the first round in an even 70, two strokes under par, to become 10 up on the wavering Duncan and Havers. Farrell and Sarazen had a sub-par 71, to end the round 5 up on Compston and Davies. Cox and Burke registered the same figures in holding a 1-up lead over Easterbrook and Whitcombe.

After being 12 down at the twenty-fourth Duncan and Havers staged a belated spurt won two successive holes with birdies, and prolonged the final settlement to the twenty-seventh green. Hagen and Shute were not quite so "hot" as they had been in the morning, when they gave a gallery of 2,500 spectators such shots to cheer as a brace of eagles on the 480-yard eighth and equally long eighteenth, due each time to the "Haig's" sensational wood shots to the greens.

Sarazen's approaching and Farrel's putting proved entirely too much for Compston and Davies. The best these Britons could do was to cut the American margin to 4 up at the twenty-third. Here Gene and John exploded the fireworks. They won four straight holes to make the last turn 8 up and save this margin by halving the twenty-eighth and twenty-ninth.

Duncan Withdraws From Singles.

The British pulled out the 1929 Ryder Cup matches, after trailing 1½ to 2½ in the foursomes; but they faced a long-shot prospect against the Americans in the eight 36-hole singles matches.

Billy Burke vs. Archie Compston.
Gene Sarazen vs. Fred Robson.
Johnny Farrell vs. W. H. Davies.
Wiffy Cox vs. Abe Mitchell.
Walter Hagen vs. Charles Whitcombe.
Densmore Shute vs. Berr Hodson.
Al Espinosa vs. Ernest Whitcombe.

Anderson Is Seriously Ill At Hospital Rockne Visited

ROCHESTER, Minn., June 26 (A.P.).—Notre Dame's new football coach, Heartly T. (Hunk) Anderson, was seriously ill tonight, while physicians hurried work on their diagnosis of his ailment.

After two days of general tests aimed at revealing the source of severe headaches he has suffered since late May, Anderson today became a patient of the Mayo clinic pathological division. Its head, Dr. J. B. Doyle, said the case was unusually difficult for diagnosis.

Dr. Doyle said several tests remained before the cause of the trouble will be revealed. A serious head condition is apparent, he said, but not due to sinus infection, as the coach believed.

"Anderson was a pretty sick man when he came here," said Dr. Doyle. "He is fully conscious and resting quite well, but his condition is serious. We expect to complete our diagnosis tomorrow, and until then we won't know just what causes the headaches from which he still suffer."

Dr. C. J. Barborka, cooperating in the diagnosis, said: "Anderson's condition is serious—about that there is no doubt. I would not, however, call it critical."

Coming here in quest of health before launching his first fall of work as senior coach at the South Bend institution, Anderson two days ago followed the trail of the late Knute Rockne, his predecessor at Notre Dame.

Rockne made several visits here last year. Dr. Barborka, who attended him also, said he had about regained health when he and seven others were killed in an airplane accident in Kansas.

Mrs. Anderson, who came here with her husband, was joined today by Mrs. Rockne. The families are friends in South Bend.

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

EVER hear of Danny McBride? Phonetics may not be an exact science, but the very syllables stamp Danny McBride a phoney. It is. That was the nom de guerre of Jim McNamara, erstwhile Georgetown football star, when he was touring the provinces as a heavyweight prize fighter.

But it's not Jim McNamara these days. It's Jeem McNamara because he's the latest recruit to the rassling industry and the prosaic Jim was sacrificed to the exigencies of his new profession. Whoever heard anybody who claimed to know his rassling call Jeem Londos Jim Londos? Not by a couple of airplane spins. So, henceforth it's Jeem McNamara.

Jeem McNamara, who now divides his time between directing athletics for the Jewish Community Center here and tramping about the countryside as one of Joe Turner's performing pachyderms, is by his own admission the only southpaw rassler in captivity. He's had three bouts already.

They Don't Like It

The exact advantage that accrues to a southpaw rassler is a bit vague in the understanding of this column, but Jeem says it means much. "Ya see, I come at them this way," says Jeem, adopting his professional pose with right hand extended instead of the conventional left. "They don't like it, ya know." I didn't know.

"Ya know, I gotta stop monkeying around with these headlocks and try to figure out those arm locks. George Tragos almost had me down the other night down in Richmond with one of those arm holds. Then he started fooling around with a Japanese toe hold and I felt better. If the cops hadn't stopped the bout I'd a won, Ya know?

"He's a rough baby, that Tragos. After the referee gave me the first fall, I was over in my corner putting on Joe Turner's old bath robe—I didn't want to bring down the new one I got at home—and this Tragos rushes across the ring while my back is turned and slaps me down, whadda ya know? I couldn't let him get away with that and I let him have it with both feet, ya know? Then the cops came in.

Saved Joe's Bathrobe

"I got out alright and saved Joe's bathrobe, but ya never can tell what will happen in these small towns. They're liable to lock ya up and throw the key away. Anyway, it would have cost me $15 or $20 for a bond, just a lot of unnecessary expense, ya know.

"Yeah, this rasslin's a great game. They had me booked to meet some Indian down in Richmond and he didn't show up. Then they brought in this Tragos. That Greek is no schoolboy, ya know. He's a funny duck, too. All through the match he was tellin' me to give up. That's the kind of a guy he is. But when he started monkeying around with those arm locks I thought he had me. I gotta quit trying to perfect those headlocks and pay more attention to gettin' away from those arm holds. This Tragos won't let ya down to the floor, so ya can roll out of 'em. He bends ya almost down to the canvas and then brings ya back again slow, ya know.

Tougher Than Football

"I guess I better see Joe Turner or Tiny Roebuck about my defense. That Joe's smart, ya know. This is a tougher game than football. Every play comes your way. I got that flying tackle down, though. If they don't go over the ropes when I hit 'em they go out when I shove 'em by the heels. Ya know you can only take so many of those falls, ya know.

"These small towns are funny. There's Richmond! I met Joe Ryan and Babe Adams down there. The fans have no respect for that Eastern League club down there. Adams was pitching a two-hit game for 'em the other day and they were yelling to him to 'Bear down!' Ya can't beat that.

"They've gota semipro club down there that uses the same field. The sandlotters have a great dressin' room uniform hangers and everything. The Eastern League team's dress in a little cubby hole not big enough to take a deep breath in. Ya'd think they'd have some respect. Wotta league that is. All the way from Richmond to Allentown, P. A. by bus. And then the fans down there claim that all they see of the Richmond outfielders is their backs. Ya can't beat it, ya know."

HUNT NEARS MID-ATLANTIC TENNIS CROWN

Capital Youth Gains Way To Final

Wins 2 Matches Impressively in Tourney at Wardman.

Ritzenberg Survives; Capital Juniors Eliminated.

GILBERT HUNT, local boy champion, yesterday entered the final round of the Middle Atlantic boys' championship, being held in conjunction with the Middle Atlantic junior championship, at the Wardman Park Hotel courts. Hunt may find his final match a duplication of the District boys' tournament, since he will play the winner of a match in which Nathan Ritzenberg, of Washington, and Al Shapiro, of Baltimore, stand 4—6, 9—7, 5—3 and deuce.

Washington's junior players failed to stand the pace in the junior division yesterday. Charles Daly, local champion, after a first-round victory over William Baker, of Norfolk, 6—1, 6—1, fell before the left-handed drives of Robert M. Biddle, of Parkersburg, W. Va., 4—6, 6—3, 6—1. Ricky Willis, other District entrant in the joust, gained a bye in the first round, but was defeated by the tourney favorite, George Morgan, of Richmond, in the second round, 6—1, 6—3.

Morgan, a Richmond-born youth who is a student of Jimmy Mitchell, local pro at the Country Club of Virginia, showed back court driving skill of a high order yesterday in reaching the title round in a day of play. He put out Howard Maldeis, of Baltimore, in the first round, 6—0, 6—7, before beating Willis. He is an odds-on favorite to win over Biddle in the final at 10:30 o'clock this morning.

Hunt Bewilders
2 Opponents.

Showing all the skill to which local fans have become recently accustomed, Gilbert Hunt, resplendent in a yellow sweater and a black beret, bewildered two opponents yesterday with his consummate mixture of drives, chops, volleys and serves. In the first round he drew a bye and then he swamped Ed Donnan, of Richmond, 6—0, 6—0. In the semi-final round he defeated Powell Taylor, of Norfolk, 6—2, 6—0.

Perhaps the feature match of yesterday's play was the lone unfinished one. Two diminutive exponents of the game, Nate Ritzenberg and his Baltimore opponent, put on a man-sized exhibition of tennis, although beset by bad winds and all too uncertain light. Holding their serves consistently, the two boys went through 36 games with neither able to gain an advantage.

At 5—5 in the final set and duece in the eleventh game, the committee called a halt to the proceedings. The match will continue from that point at 9 o'clock this morning, with the winner meeting Hunt shortly afterward.

Both winners will be sent to the national junior and boys championships to be held at Culvert (Ind.) Military Academy August 10-15.

JUNIORS.

Second round—Sloan defeated Duvall, 4—6, 6—0, 6—1; Biddle defeated Daly, 4—6, 6—3, 6—1; Morgan defeated Willis, 6—1, 6—3; Dils defeated Brown, 6—0, 6—1.

Semifinal round—Biddle defeated Sloan, 4—6, 6—3, 6—1; Morgan defeated Dils, 6—1, 6—3.

BOYS.

First round—Gilbert Hunt (Washington), bye; Ed Donnan (Richmond), bye; Powell Taylor (Norfolk), bye; I. Goldstrum (Baltimore), defeated Compton Timberlake (Charleston, W. Va.), 6—2, 6—4; Fenton Jordan (Norfolk), defeated Lawrence Boland (Williamson, W. Va.), 6—1, 6—2; Al Shapiro (Baltimore), bye; Brock Lamb (Richmond), bye.

Second round—Hunt defeated Donnan, 6—0, 6—0; Taylor defeated Goldstrum, 6—2, 2—6, 6—4; Nathan Ritzenberg (Washington), defeated Jordan, 6—3, 6—1; Shapiro defeated Lamb, 6—2, 6—2.

Semifinal round—Hunt defeated Taylor, 6—2, 6—0; Ritzenberg and Shapiro were tied at 4—6, 9—7, 5—3 (deuce).

TODAY'S SCHEDULE.

JUNIORS.

Final round (9:30 o'clock)—Gilbert Hunt (Washington) vs. winner of above match.

Culpeper Nine Dealt First Loss by All-Stars

Front Royal, Va., June 26.—The All-Stars defeated the Culpeper A. C. here this afternoon, 3 to 0. Borden, pitching for the locals, allowed five hits, while Weaver was touched for four hits. The feature of the game was a one-handed catch by Armstrong in left field. Only one man of the Culpeper Team advanced as far as third base. This is the first game Culpeper has lost this season.

a long fly netted two more in the third, and one was put over in the fifth on Carawya's triple and Blue's single, when Hadley relieved Crowder and put on the brakes. The relief flinger granted but one hit over the balance of the route, but, with the Nats hitting so poorly, the Sox did not need any more.

Kuhel, of Course, was the day's hitting hero, his round-trippers being his fourth and fifth of the year and his second and third on this trip. Caraway hit as well as he pitched, being credited with a triple and two singles, all of which were clean drives. The two third basemen, Bloege and Jeffries, contributed the fielding features, each coming through with brilliant stops.

Stevens and Brennan, Former Local Stars, Enter Big Leagues on Purchase by Phils

Post Staff Photos.

caddy. The committee with pardonable lack of foresight, guessed that about eight holes would be sufficient for each standard and when all the holes in the Hagen and Shute standard were filled with little American flags, the caddy asked, "Now, what do I do?" He walked the last nine holes or so, calling from time to time, "and two is ten."

Hagen and Shute were 10 up at the end of the morning round of eighteen holes; Sarazen and Farrell were 5 up; Diegel and Espinosa were 2 up, and Cox and Burke were 1 up.

Diegel and Espinosa played terrible golf for them, though good enough golf for most victims of this devouring vice to account for their defeat. One would bend the ball into a trap and the other would knock it only half way out. One would dump a long one into a lot of horsehair and weeds and the other would just recover and no more.

Duncan Affected
By the Heat.

Duncan and Havers took 120 strokes for 27 holes, including three sevens and a couple of sixes, but the still, dry heat of the morning bothered all the Englishmen, most of all Duncan.

Why it bothered them so much more than it bothered the Americans does not appear considering that Englishmen have been looking up hot countries to go to for many years and invented the pith helmet and the rickey. Rickeys, of course, are readily available in the U. S. A., but there seems to be some constitutional amendment against the hats.

There were about 4,000 people on the place to watch the only sport that imposes more strain on the spectator than on the athlete. Strolling along at one's own pace, protected from jostling by marshals of the course and taking occasional flicks at a small white ball is one thing, but galloping from knoll to knoll in a formless, erratic mass like a crowd running away from an explosion or falling wall and elbowing for position behind the ropes is quite another.

Rain Seen Advancing
On Clubhouse.

When the last of the morning foursomes had holed out before a small fringe of gasping patrons standing in limp and feeble postures around the home green, the sky began to darken on the western horizon. A premonitory puff of breeze rolled over the course and a few minutes later, no farther away than a couple of iron shots, a veil of rain wass een advancing toward the clubhouse.

In the meanwhile, George Duncan, an elderly party, in the American conception of effective ages in sport, though just a young blade in his own country, where doughty papples with red neck-wattles go rowing on the streams, had been fielded on the first bounce and laid out on a bench in the locker room. Several of his compatriots gathered about him, shutting off the ventilation, to fan him with their hats, as if he had been a bowl of chili.

Special to The Washington Post.

Quantico, Va., June 26.—The Quantico Marines continued their winning streak by defeating Fort Eustis, 13 to 3, here today. Coach Fenton uncovered a fine pitching prospect in Tommy Thomas, who started on the hill for the Marines. In his first start for the big team Thomas held the Soldiers to three hits and struck out six in the seven innings he worked.

Davis started for the Soldiers and was driven from the box in the third inning under a barrage of six hits and a base on balls. This netted the Marines seven runs.

Peggy O'Neil and Cordwood Lock led the Marine hitters, Oneil getting a homer and a triple and Lock a homer and a single. Smith and Herlie got two blows each to lead the Soldiers' hitters. The Marines meet the Baltimore Firemen in their annual game tomorrow at Oriole Park in Baltimore.

Bobby Stevens, Western High School shortstop of 1925, has been bought by the Philadelphia Nationals from the Newark Club of the International League. Stevens' place on the Newark roster was taken by Bill Werber, former Tech High School star, who, the property of New York Yankees, was transferred from Toledo of the American Association, where he has been playing at shortstop since the beginning of this season.

The third player involved in the deal is Don Brennan, Newark pitcher, on whom the Phillies will exercise an option for first call in the fall. Brennan will be remembered as the husky Georgetown University right-hander who set Eastern collegiate ranks on fire back in 1923 and 1924. With Newark Brennan was known as an "iron man," because of his ability to pitch whenever called on by the coach.

Frank Watt Also With Phils.

Washington now has two representatives on the Phillies roster, the other, besides Stevens, being Frank Watt, who yesterday pitched and defeated the Pirates for his second victory of the season in a starting role.

The purchase of Stevens is an effort by the Phillies to plug the gap at shortstop left by the trade that sent Tommy Thevenow to Pittsburgh. Manager Burt Shotton has been using Friberg and Bartell in the position with only indifferent success.

Stevens for the past two years has led the International League shortstops in fielding. He is a left-handed hitter and a rather light one for major league competition. He began his professional career at the age of 16 with the New Haven Eastern League Team in 1928.

Capital City League Ousts Sterling Nine

The Sterling Athletic Club, entered in Section B of the senior division of the Capital City League, was last night suspended from the league for the remainder of the season for using two ineligible players in a league game played last Sunday.

Dennis Schriver, one of the players against whom a protest had been lodged, was found to be above the prescribed age limit, and upon the recommendation of the protest board all games in which he played were ordered forfeited to the opposing teams.

The Sterlings' last game of the first half with the Mount Rainier Athletic Club tomorrow will be forfeited to the latter, and a new schedule drawn up for second hlaf.

Alexandria Sports

ALEXANDRIA, Va., June 26.—An important meeting for all managers of insect, midget and junior baseball teams has been called by Director Prex Wilson, of the Municipal Swimming Pool, for Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the pool headquarters.

Wilson hopes to arrange three loops at this time for the youngsters. The series will probably begin on July 4.

On Sunday afternoon the Union Printers will travel to Baileys Crossroads for a game with the Virginia White Sox at 3 o'clock. Ellet Cabell, Dave Bayliss and Charlie Scheffle are performing with the White Sox. Gerard Edwards, of this city, plays shortstop for the Printers.

Theodore Beach, manager of the Nation-Wide Store Team, has booked the American League Juniors for a game on Haydon's Field Saturday afternoon. Sunday morning the Nation-Wide boys will mix with Hunter's station nine here.

The Colonial Athletic Club will play the Sanico nine, of Washington, Sunday on Guckert's Field. Manager Hammond is anxious to win this game. The invaders have a seven-game winning streak.

Bill Flester's French A. C. will trek to Alexandria Sunday for a game with the Celtics. This promises to be a "hot" affair.

The Virginia Juniors will meet the Spengler Post nine on Duncan's Field Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. On Sunday the boys will entertain the Indianhead Cardinals. A meeting of the club was held at Hursky's last night at 7 o'clock. Plans for the season were discussed.

MISS FAUNCE WINS GOLF TROPHY

Annexes Herald Cup at Chevy Chase, Scoring 83-9-74.

MORE than 80 women golfers yesterday participated in the competition for the Herald Cup under the auspices of the Woman's District Golf Association, on the course of the Chevy Chase Club. The trophy was scheduled to be won by the low net score and Miss Winifred Faunce, unattached, carried off the cup with a card of 93—9—74.

Miss Faunce was also low gross for the tournament, but was ineligible to win more than one prize. Consequently, the winner of the low gross was Mrs. Harrison Brand, jr., Chevy Chase, who had a card of 44—45—89. For the second low gross there was a tie between Miss Virginia Pope, Kenwood, and Mrs. L. Q. Cameron, each 91, and Miss Pope won in the comparison of cards on a match play basis. Mis Faunce's fine card of 83 was as follows:

Out..... 4 6 4 4 6 5 3 6 3—41
In..... 4 5 5 3 5 5 5 5 5—42—83

After Miss Faunce had captured the cup, which was the principal prize of the tournament, other low net winners were awarded prizes as follows: Mrs. Frank R. Kever, Chevy Chase, 94—16—78; Mrs. Jerome Sloman, Suburban, Baltimore, 94—16—78; Mrs. L. O. Cameron, 91—11—80; Mrs. J. M. Shock, Army-Navy, 94—14—80; Miss Susan Hacker, Chevy Chase, 93—12—81; Mrs. W. E. Hall, Washington Golf and Country, 97—16—81; Miss Virginia Williams, Congressional, 95—12—83; Mrs. H. B. Shipley, Beaver Dam; Miss Louise Claytor, Chevy Chase, and Mrs. William S. Corby, Columbia, each with net 83s, lost out in the draw. Mrs. Bishop Hall and Mrs. Perry B. Hoover, each with net 84s, wereone stroke behind.

Mrs. Sloman, Baltimore,
Wins Prize.

There was a delegation of Baltimore players including Mrs. W. H. Burkhart, Miss Cecil Keilholtz, Mrs. George McLean and Mrs. H. K. Fleck, Baltimore Country Club; Miss Edith McHenry, Elkridge, and Mrs. Jerome Sloman, Suburban. The latter was the only one to turn in her card and win a prize.

In addition to the players mentioned the only scores under 100 were turned in by Mrs. Betty Meckley, District champion, 92; Miss Dorothy Hunter, 93; Mrs. Charles Hill, 96, and Mrs. Y. E. Booker, 98.

Walter G. Peter has won the Morven Thompson Memoial Cup, play for which began last April under the auspices of the Seniors Golf Association of the Chevy Chase Club. Dr. Robert W. Baker finished as runner-up.

Match play in foursomes was the event on the weekly program of the women players of the Army-Navy Club yesterday. The winners were Mrs. James B. Chadwick and Mrs. E. C. Edwards; Mrs. Harvey Allen and Mrs. John O'Rear; Mrs. W. B. Garver and Mrs. R. S. Davis; Mrs. Guy B. Dennett and Mrs. F. F. Parker; Mrs. J. B. Anderson and Mrs. John F. Upham; Mrs. Rush Wallace and Mrs. Henry Lyne.

Takoma Seeks 8th Straight In Montgomery Ball League

THE Takoma Tigers will attempt to run their winning streak to eight in a row when they engage the Old Colony Team tomorrow in a double-header on the Garrett Park Field in a Capital City League engagement. The first game is scheduled to get underway at 1:30 p. m. In another Capital City League double header the German's Bakers travel to Cabin John, where they meet the strong Bethesda Firemen. The Chevy Chase Grays draw a bye.

The teams in this loop face a hard schedule from now on, with duobleheaders scheduled for every Sunday. The team hardest hit is Chevy Chase which also is obliged to play two Saturdays in order to get in games postponed from the first half and at that they will still have one fray to be disposed of. At the present time the Grays rank as the outstanding challengers of the champion Takoma Tigers, and with three games in two days on successive week-ends it is doubtful if they can stand the pace. Undoubtedly pitchers will play an important role in the battle to dethrone the Tigers, and the Chevy Chase nine is well fortified in this respect. They have "Lefty" Stevens, Sanford Ross and Ray Knight to do the flinging, a capable trio, which should garner quite a few victories between them with Henry Gichner behind the plate.

Lest any of our readers become over-enthusiastic over the Grays' prospects, it might be well to mention at this juncture that the five-man staff of the Tigers is the pride of Manager James' heart. Double-headers mean nothing to the Takoma outfit, but this is a bad season for royalty and through some of Dame Fortune's manipulations the title-holders may find themselves runners-up when the season is concluded.

Old Colony, the Bethesda Firemen, and of course the Grays, are all gunning for the leaders. Old Colony gets its chance tomorrow and playing on their home grounds they may have a slight advantage over their rivals. When these teams met in the first half—this an oft-told tale—the champs won after a weird struggle, but Earl Burdine thinks things will be different today, and Ed Morris, who is piloting Chevy Chase, fervently hopes so.

The Firemen, under J. L. Murdock, hope to make a better showing in the second half of the chase, and it is not overdoing it to say that this team may rank up near the top when the season has run its course.

German's Bakery may do some upsetting on its own account this half, instead of allowing the others to bounce it around at will. Here is a good colection of players without a capable pitching staff to see them through, and double-headers will be disastrous for them. Only a miracle can bring the team victory in both halves of a twin bill, but they should capture not a few of the first games.

ARMY TENNIS CHAMPION BEATEN

Hedekin - Robinson Advance to Finals of Tourney.

But 1931 was another story for Lieut. Robinson, and he set out to prove it shortly after Lieut. Strahan had flicked him out of the first set by the decisive margin of 6-2. With every muscle coordinating to produce his perfectly executed shots, Robinson began a well-timed assault on his brick wall of an opponent which saw him, with the score at 3-3 in the second set, reel off a string of 14 straight games in one of the best exhibitions of flawless stroking this city has seen in several years.

Robinson at Home
In All Corners.

Everything worked for Robby yesterday, from a flat driving full sweep of a forehand drive down the line, to the most exasperating drop shot obtainable. He was at home in another corner or nook of the court, producing drive, chop, volley, half-volley or smash, with a unity of purpose and beauty of delivery that goes a bit beyond the descriptive propensities of the person manipulating the typewriter gadgets.

Strahan was totally demoralized, or demobilized, or whatever the warfare term is. Under the spell of Robinson's play his own pet slap forehand drive, thought impregnable on all sides, split wide open to reveal only a worried little man with little or no hair, and only a dogged determination to hang on to the title which had cost him many weary hours in achieving.

Not until the score stood 5-0 in the fourth set did Robinson miss a brace of shots in succession, one a difficult backhand after he was driven out of court. Strahan took his game, but the rally was abortive in the extreme, for Robinson shot his service into untenanted corners of the service court to take the final game with ease, banging a perfect ace in the corner to end the contest.

Hedekin Extended
To Five Sets.

Hedekin worried himself into a five-set match against a player who only occasionally took the matter seriously. Not that Hills gave the match away. He stood back and kept the ball in play unendingly and contributed some very amazing running backhand drives while far off balance.

Hedekin had all the strokes, and eventually they told. Hills was very much in the battle throughout most of the last set, but the handwriting was on the wall since the third game, which Hedekin won to lead, 2-1, after deuce had been called four times.

By dint of his play yesterday Robinson looms as favorite to win today. If he can sum up yesterday's consistency along with his usual fire he has the championship in the old burlap, if not then then Washington will have produced its first Army champion.

BARNES AND GLEDHILL IN FINAL

Texas or California to Receive College Tennis Title.

HAVERFORD, Pa., June 26 (A.P.).—The South lost its last opportunity to retain the national intercollegiate tennis singles championship, won last year by Clifford Sutter, of Tulane, when Teddy Burwell, of the University of the South, was eliminated in the semifinals by Bruce Barnes, of the University of Texas today.

The cup now will travel to the Southwest or California. Keith Gledhill, of Stanford University, triumphed over David Jones, of Columbia, to become the other finalist.

Barnes, who was seeded fifth in the draw, won by the scores of 6—3, 7—5, 4—6, 6—3, while Gledhill had an easier time, winning straight sets, 7—5, 6—3, 6—1.

Barnes-Burwell
Stir Fans.

Barnes annexed his match with a varied pace which opposed Burwell's deep court drives. Both players received frequent applause with side line shots which the opponent could not reach.

Gledhill, classed by other contestants as the "dark horse," also used a varied game to win with frequent sallies to the net which had his opponent frantic. The victor's groundwork was classed by spectators as the best of the tourney.

An upset occurred in the doubles play when R. W. Ryan and William Bascom, of Yale, eliminated the second seeded team of Bryan Grant, jr., and Wilmer Hines, of the University of North Carolina, 11—9, 7—5, in the quarterfinal match. In the semifinals Ryan and Bascom were defeated by Donald Strachan and W. F. Thomas, of Princeton, 6—2, 6—4, 6—2, which put the victors in the final.

Navy Receives Rowing Cup With Ceremonies

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., June 26.—The Poughkeepsie Cup, won by the varsity crew of Annapolis Midshipmen at the recent intercollegiate rowing classic on the Hudson, will be received at the Naval Academy tomorrow, and before it is placed with the group of other athletic trophies appropriate ceremony will be held.

It was announced today that acknowledgment of the trophy will be made in a brief address by Rear Admiral Thomas C. Hart, superintendent, to be delivered in front of Bancroft Hall at 12:15. The ceremony will take place as the battalion of the fourth class midshipmen and the more than 400 members of the second class, now here undergoing instructions in aeronautics, are drawn up in formation for the day's luncheon. The trophy has been in possession of Cornell for the past year, and the athletic authorities of that institution are forwarding it to Annapolis.

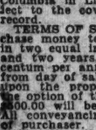
FAMOUS SEER
THE MAN WHO KNOWS



This strange man sees the way and tells it all. Just what your life has been, just what it will be. Tells you when and whom you will marry; whether husband, wife or sweetheart is true or false. Tells as to changes, travel, lost or absent friends, divorce, wills, deeds; whether it is best to buy or sell. He tells the good and the bad. A visit will convince you of his wonderful power.

Something tells you this is the man. You feel the impulse to call. Do not delay. Copyright, Apr. 1931

EDITOR SEEKS WRIT TO BALK STOCK SALE

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post. 9103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md. Telephone Wisconsin 4205.

Suit for injunction against the Montgomery County Printing & Publishing Co., publishers of the Montgomery Independent, and its officers and directors, alleging nonperformance of agreements and intent to defraud the company out of shares of stock through a meeting planned for tonight was filed yesterday by the Independent Publishing Co., Inc., through Morris A. Bealle, former editor of the Independent, who claims to be president of the Independent Publishing Co.

The suit filed in Circuit Court at Rockville, alleges that 284 shares of stock in the Montgomery County Printing & Publishing Co. which belong to Mr. Bealle and the Independent Publishing Co. by reason of a sales agreement are to be disposed of at a meeting of the Independent Publishing Co. tonight at the office of Harold C. Smith, Rockville attorney, who also claims to be president of the Independent Publishing Co.

The suit asks that Smith be enjoined from disposing of the stock and from interfering with the Independent Publishing Co.'s management.

Purchase Offer Detailed.

The petition states that Bealle, then a Washington reporter, free lance writer and publicity man, was introduced to Charles C. Jones by Alexander Mosher, owner of a weekly published in Rockville as the "Montgomery Independent."

Jones explained to Bealle, the suit states, that a group hostile to the county administration sought control of a Montgomery County paper for the purpose of exposing alleged dishonesty in county affairs.

Jones promised, the suit declares, he and his associates would purchase $5,000 of preferred stock if Bealle would acquire the paper. The $5,000 was to be turned over to Bealle within two months after the start of publication and Jones and his associates were to be permitted to dictate editorials for publication.

Bealle says he acquired 49 per cent of the stock in the company from Mr. Mosher and his wife, or 490 shares, a similar number being retained by Mosher and 20 shares by Harold C. Smith, at that time counsel and vice president for the Independent Publishing Co. Management and direction of the paper was to be vested in Bealle.

Failed to Keep Pledges.

Three months later Jones and J. Vinson Peter informed Bealle they had not kept their pledges to purchase $5,000 in stock because Mosher still retained ownership of stock in the corporation making it impossible for them to raise the money. Later the Mosher interests were sold by attachment to the Independent for $25 and the pledgers were asked to perform their agreement.

The petition states that after Bealle assumed control Charles C. Jones, Edward Peter, Carey E. Quinn, John E. Oxley, Robert L. Tolson and other associates brought him editorials and new stories dealing with county affairs and told him they would be unable to comply with their agreement unless the matter was published.

As the result of one of these stories, written by Edward Peter, the suit states, Bealle was indicted for criminal libel.

After continuous effort to secure his money from the defendants, Mr. Bealle claims, they suggested that they buy the paper from him and held a meeting, at which Walter W. Liggett, Albert M. Boulc, J. Vinson Peter, Edward Peter, Joseph T. Whalen, Peyton Whalen, Clay Plummer, John E. Oxley Eugene Rainey, Harry Gormley, Charles C. Jones, Dr. C. Eugene Jones, William Aud and others were present. The defendants pledged $2,500 to the purchase price of $6,000, with the agreement that the plan would fall through if the fund was not subscribed by September 1, 1929, later telling him that only $4,000 had been raised and that he would have to take $2,000 in stock or 480 shares in payment of the remainder. He alleges that they have consistently failed to pay this sum or deliver the stock.

Vernon Poston, of Glen Echo Heights, Md., was arrested yesterday by Montgomery County police on charges of possessing intoxicating liquor. He was held for action of the county police court by Justice of the Peace A. L. Moore.

A raiding squad led by Sergt. Leroy Rodgers, of the Bethesda Substation, including Policemen Theodore Vollten, James McAuliffe and Roy Davis, entered the Poston house and found 15 gallons of alleged liquor and 29 bottles of alleged beer, they said. Paraphernalia for bottling beverages and coloring matter was found at the place, police reported.

Suit for $25,000 damages was filed yesterday in Circuit Court at Rockville by Annie E. Gross, alleging negligence on the part of employes of the company was responsible for a collision between a street car and her automobile at Glen Echo. The plaintiff avers her car was demolished and that she was permanently injured in the accident. Through Attorneys Amos C. Crounse and George H. Lamar she asks $25,000 damages.

Ralph Reese, 7 years old, of 4809 Montgomery lane, Bethesda, was injured on the leg yesterday when he was struck by a truck operated by Milton Jackson, of Bethesda. Jackson told county police that the boy ran in front of his truck without warning. The boy was treated by a nearby physician and taken to his home.

Leesburg Boy Scouts Awarded Merit Badges

Special to The Washington Post.

Leesburg, Va., June 26.—At the Boy Scout court of honor held in the Leesburg High School auditorium last evening three merit badges were awarded to Charles Sherman, of Troop No. 157, for swimming, firemanship and pathfinding; and to Stanley Tyler, of the same troop, for pathfinding, firemanship and safety.

Freddy Stipe, also of 157, was awarded two merit badges for swimming and pathfinding. Cloyd Tavenner, of Troop No. 155, Leesburg, was awarded two merit badges for swimming and first aid. It was announced at the meeting that free transportation will be furnished all Loudoun County scouts who want to go to Camp Roosevelt on the Chesapeake Bay, the week of July 5 to 12.

3 Recommended For Senate Seat

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., June 26.—Names of Lewis H. Thompson, merchant and banker; Percy W. Lister, banker, and J. C. McKown, banker and orchardist, all of this city, were recommended to Gov. William G. Conley today by the Democratic Fifteenth senatorial district executive committee from which to select a successor to State Senator Harry P. Henshaw, Democrat, who resigned to become a member of the State Roads Commission.

The law makes it obligatory for the governor to choose from recommendations of the committee.

There will be no regular session of the State Legislature at which the appointee might sit. Agitation for a special session, however, is heard throughout the State, but Gov. Conley has not indicated any intention to summon a special session.

LIQUOR CONSPIRACY CHARGED TO ELEVEN

Two Women, One Carrying Infant, Are Arraigned With Nine Men.

Nine men and two women, one with an infant in her arms, were arraigned before United States Commissioner Needham C. Turnage yesterday on warrants charging conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act.

Twelve more members of the alleged conspiracy are being sought by a squad of police and deputy United States marshals. They also will be charged with conspiracy when arraigned.

Activities Watched for Year.

The operations were covered by a special agent of the Department of Justice from June 1 last year to June 20 this year. Material witnesses named are Sergt. George C. Little, George Deyoe, Policeman Shotter and James Landers, special agent.

The warrants were sworn out before Commissioner Turnage yesterday and police, aided by Deputy Marshal Gus Ceremele, at midnight resumed their hunt of those named.

Commissioner Turnage did not accept any pleas. He set a further hearing for July 10, so that all then in custody can be arraigned at one time. The Government consequently did not have to reveal its hand and show what evidence it had unearthed.

List of Defendants.

Those arrested thus far and the bonds under which they were allowed freedom were: Charles Everett Mills, $3,000; Rocca Pelicano, $2,000; Helen Gary, alias Helen Zinberg, 2,000; Michael Spinilli, $2,500; Antenetta Pelicano, $1,500; Joseph Zinberg, $5,000; Angelo Schottorrigio, $2,500; Bruno Cristarila, $1,000; Nick Macchiarello, $5 000; Harry Zinberg, $3,000; Frederick Spasaro, $3,000.

William P. Ryon, professional bondsman, furnished most of the bonds. Many of the arrested persons had neither attorneys nor bondsmen, and the commissioner allowed them further time to obtain counsel. Ryon then said he would be willing to "take a chance" on most of the defendants and was allowed to go their bonds.

Girl Cigarette Vendor Faces Car-Use Charge

Evelyn G. Williams, 22 years old, a cigarette vendor in the Gayety Theater, was arrested yesterday on a charge of unauthorized use of an automobile. With her was James H. Zeaman, 24 years old, of Eleventh street near C street northwest. Miss Williams lives on Sixth street near G street southeast.

They are alleged to have taken the automobile of Robert P. Letts, of 248 Third street northwest, on Monday night. They were arrested by Detective Sergeants Henry Jett and J. Wolf.

City Acts to Avoid Suits.

Danville, Va., June 26 (Special).—Because of the danger of city prisoners being killed or injured in the demolition of an old building, making the city liable for damage suits, the task of razing the old city market to make way for a new auditorium and armory building will be let to contract. Bids will be opened Monday.

400 ENTRIES LISTED FOR CULPEPER SHOW

Special to The Washington Post.

Culpeper, Va., June 26.—With nearly 400 entries, the Culpeper Horse Show here July 3 and 4 promises to maintain its reputation as an outstanding event in northern Virginia.

Officials of the association say that while the entry list is no longer this season than in the last two years some unusually high class horses have been entered by owners who have not shown at Culpeper in the past. In addition to the show horses there are 60 racehorses on the grounds or entered, and there is usually a large number of last-minute entries in the races.

This year's show is the twenty-seventh exhibition by the Culpeper Horse Show and Racing Association. Comparing this year's entry list with that of 1920, Secretary R. W. Huffman says that in that year there were only 30 show horses on the grounds and seven racehorses furnished all the excitement in the speed clases, four flat races and a steeplechase being run each day with only the seven horses entered.

Challenge Plate at Stake.

Feature of the show is the hunter championship for the Culpeper Challenge Plate. Three wins are needed to secure possession of this coveted trophy, and Mrs. D. N. Lee, of Middleburg, has won this class the last two years, winning last year with Rock Arden and the previous year with Broken Glass. Another win this year with either of these horses, both of whom are entered, will give Mrs. Lee permanent ownership of the plate. In 1928 Mrs. Lee made her third win on the old Culpeper Challenge Plate, adding it to her already large collection.

John A. Massie, Oliver Durant, Joseph J. Cotter and others from Washington are bringing their stables. Cathode Ray, Miss Elizabeth Nesbit's 6-year-old, which won the Corinthian hunter class at the Worthington Valley Horse Show, is entered in several classes.

Mrs. John Hay Whitney, of Upperville, is bringing three from her Upperville stable, and the Corleys, of Richmond, are bringing Princess Royal and Duchess O'Dare, two performers who took home numerous ribbons last year. The Mellon stable from Upperville has also sent in entries for some events.

In connection with the horse show, the Pot and Kettle Club, an organization which dates back so far that present members are unable to tell just when it was started, is dedicating its new clubhouse two miles south of Culpeper with three dances, one the night preceeding opening of the show, and one each night of the show.

Home Coming Is Planned.

Horse show time is home-coming time in Culpeper, so in addition to the Horse Show Association and the Pot and Kettle Club, nearly every person in Culpeper is preparing to entertain guests over the Fourth. Practically every hour in the day not devoted to watching the horses has been scheduled for entertainment of other descriptions.

Among owners who have entered horses and are expected to be in Culpeper for the show are:

John A. Massie, Oliver Durant 2d, Joseph J. Cotter, Ray H. Horton, G. W. Rust and E. E. Adamson, of Washington; Thomas M. Walker, Casilear Cobb, Miss Elizabeth Nesbit, Miss Edith Nesbit and David B. Smith, of Warrenton; Ernest M. Wolf, Mrs. John Hay Whitney and Mrs. Nora McM. Mellon, of Upperville; C. W. Yowell, Miss Adella Yowell, Russell Settle and P. M. Browning, of Culpeper.

Miss Eva Lily O'Sullivan and Jerry O'Sullivan, Brandy; Miss Julia B. Whiting, Mrs. D. M. Lee and Chilton Farms, Middleburg; M. W. Carter, Mrs. M. W. Carter and A. C. Wambersey, Orange; Edwin Vaughan, Richmond; Miss Evelyn Walker, McDaniel, Md.; Mrs. Allen Potts, Gordonsville; Mr. and Mrs. E. Keyser, Flint Hill; Mrs. William G. Hill, Bethesda, Md.; Ernest L. Reoman, Middleburg; Capt. Ewert Johnston, Boyce.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Corley, Henry Taylor Corley and John Green Corley, Midlothian; R. F. Brown, Sperryville; Anthony and George Rives, Cobham; William J. Smith, jr., Griffinsburg; Dr. William B. Newcomb, Norfolk; Richard Sadler, Elkwood; Mrs. H. T. Holladay, jr., C. Randolph Holladay and H. C. Willis, Rapidan; H. H. Norman, Purcellville; Mrs. C. C. Rumsey, The Plains; Paul Adams, Middleburg and Miss Doris M. Blandel, Montclair, N. J.

Smith's Betrayer Kills Self; Feared Vengeance

Lincolnton, N. C., June 26 (A.P.).—The man who led Garland Smith, Catawba youth convicted in Boydton, Va., for killing two peace officers, into the hands of the law, killed himself here yesterday.

He was Joe P. Hull, 27. He learned of Smith's deed and lured him into a trap set by Lincoln County deputies, who turned the slayer over to Virginia authorities. Smith is facing 40 years in prison now. Hull's wife said the case had weighed on his mind, and that Tuesday he read accounts of Smith's trial and remarked, "If he ever gets loose he will come here and kill me."

Buckhannon Constable Kills Self at His Home

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., June 26.—A. Jerome Dailey, prosecuting attorney of Upshur County, announced this afternoon that no inquest would be necessary in the case of William L. Rohrbaugh, 67 years old, Buckhannon District constable, who shot himself through the heart with a revolver this morning at his home in Buckhannon.

It was suicide, Dailey said, with ill-health the motive. Besides his widow, he is survived by three sons and three daughters.

Miss Anna Keating Interred.

Winchester, Va., June 26 (Special).—The body of Miss Anna M. Keating, 45, who died this week in Washington, where she had resided many years, was brought here and interred yesterday in the Catholic cemetery.

Bowles Is Granted Stay of Jail Term

Disbarred Capital Lawyer Will Appeal Conviction in Contempt Case.

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, June 26.—A stay of the mandate from the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit, ordering Norman S. Bowles, disbarred Washington lawyer, to serve a 75-day jail term, imposed on him by Judge William C. Coleman for contempt of court, was issued pending an appeal by Bowles to the Supreme Court.

Notification of the stay of the mandate reached Simon E. Sobeloff, United States attorney, here today. Mr. Sobeloff represented the United States at the hearing before the circuit court. Bowles was represented by John Philip Hill.

It was Bowles' second appeal from the sentence. The first appeal was decided in his favor on technical grounds and the case remanded to Judge Coleman for a new trial, which resulted in the same sentence for the defendant.

3 ALEXANDRIA GIRLS WIN ESSAY PRIZES

Writings Will Be Entered in Legion Auxiliary National Contest.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Mrs. John H. Trimyer, Fidac chairman of the Alexandria unit, American Legion Auxiliary, has been notified by Miss Cora A. Vaughan, of Franklin, Va., department chairman, that three Alexandria girls are winners in the essay contest sponsored by the Legion Auxiliary. Miss Katherine Ale won first prize, Miss Lucille Powell, second prize, and Miss Sara Carter, honorable mention.

Miss Vaughan stated that the department of Virginia gives two awards, but the three best essays selected by the judges will be sent to national headquarters to compete for the national award. The three girls were juniors in the Alexandria High School the past session.

The essays were on the subject, "Why I Find My Country Beautiful, and How I Would Love to Praise It to My Interallied Comrades."

A nolle prosequi was entered in Corporation Court yesterday, in the case of John Ferris, Negro, indicted in the fatal shooting of William Jackson, Negro, in 1923. Ferris, who escaped after the shooting, was arrested in Philadelphia and brought here for trial, but the jury was unable to agree and a new trial was ordered. Commonwealth's Attorney Albert V. Bryan yesterday stated to the court that since the first trial of Ferris he had been unable to discover any additional evidence, and the nolle prosequi was entered.

The case of Charles Wallace, Negro, charged with the attempted holdup of Miss Virginia Christine Coffey, last December 27, was continued until June 30, owing to absence of witness.

Warren Jones, Negro, charged with felonious assault on Sarah Johnson, Negress, on June 7, by hitting her with a shovel, entered a plea of guilty and was sentenced to six months in jail.

Mrs. H. B. Campbell, of 1406 Russell road, told police yesterday that on Thursday she had employed a Negro girl named Gladys to do some housework, and after the girl had left Mrs. Campbell missed $37 from her pocketbook.

Workmen engaged in construction of the Mount Vernon boulevard yesterday completed removal of two gasoline standards from in front of the Alexandria Auto Supply, conducted by J. Frank Carlin, jr., at 104 South Washington street. This was done in accordance with a recent ordinance adopted by the city council. The sidewalk is being narrowed to provide greater width for the street on this block.

Beginning with the first Saturday in July and continuing thereafter throughout the year, employes of the city postoffice will work only until 1 o'clock. The carriers will work four hours, also being relieved at 1 o'clock. The general delivery window and the window for the sale of stamps and money orders will remain open until 4 o'clock. This action is in accordance with a recent act of Congress.

A top dressing of crushed stone and tar will be placed on all of the newly improved streets in the city July 6, according to an announcement from the office of the city manager. The streets have been improved with materials taken from Washington street when the thoroughfare was rebuilt for the Mount Vernon boulevard.

The rescue squad of No. 2 Company, Alexandria Fire Department, yesterday was called to 525 Oronoco street, where Charles C. Cash, jr., 4 years old, had swallowed some "red fluid" of an undetermined nature. The child was rushed to the Alexandria Hospital, where an emetic soon relieved him and he was taken to his home.

Mrs. Mary Klipstein Harryman, widow of Harry G. Harryman, died Thursday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Ruffner, 520 Prince street. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Ruffner; a son, Dr. William K. Harryman, of New York, and a sister, Miss Rebecca T. Klipstein, of Alexandria. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

BEAUTIFYING TEST WINNER LIST DUE

Victors in Arlington County Competition Are to Be Named Tonigth.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Climaxing the county beautification contest launched by the Arlington County Bicentennial Council two months ago, winners of county and community competitions will be announced tonight, says Walter F. Sunderman, chairman of the committee in charge.

In adidtion to local competitions in each of the communities of the county for the best appearing home premises, the neatest and tidiest home premises, and the best appearing street block in each community, there are to be five awards in the following county-wide competitions: First, for the best appearing home premises in the county, to be selected from among winners in local competitions; second, for the best appearing community in the county; third, for the best appearing school premises in the county; fourth, for the best appearing church premises in the county; fifth, for the best appearing business district.

Judges in these competitions made a partial inspection of the county yesterday and will complete the work today. They are A. C. Hanson and Thomas Jeffers, landscape architects, from the office of Public Buildings and Public Parks of the National Capital, and Dr. L. C. Corbett, Frank L. Mulford and R. J. Haskell, of the Bureau of Plant Industry of the United States Department of Agriculture.

When asked his opinion on the outstanding deficiency in Arlington County in the matter of landscaping one of the judges replied that it is lack of planting, especially foundation planting, with over planting a close second. Another deficiency pointed out is general lack of street tree planting and lack of any uniformity of such planting where it does exist.

Illustrating value of even a moderate amount of planting, judges cited the cases of a church to which they had given third place in the contest. "The expenditure of $15 for shrubbery at this church," they said, "with the volunteer labor of ten men for one-half day, would have put this church into first place."

Chairman Sunderman was complimented for successful conduct of the contest by Arthur Orr, president of the Arlington Council. "The contest," he said, "was set up on a very elaborate scale and in view of the comparatively short time the achievement of the committee is remarkable and merits unstinted praise."

Subcommittees and their respective chairman were: Competition and rules governing rewards, Mrs. Joseph Baley; prizes and trophies, Robert E. Plymale; community contact, George A. Collier; information and publicity, A. J. We[illegible].

Mrs. FFlorence E. Cannon, president of the Arlington Citizens Association, has been appointed by Gov. John G. Pollard a delegate to represent the State at the Institute of Public Affairs, which meets at Charlottesville Monday.

Mrs. Cannon will go to Charlottesville tomorrow evening.

With the Democratic primary for selection of nominees for the State Senate and House of Delegates less than two months away reports from Prince William and Arlington County and the City of Alexandria are said to indicate Col. Charles T. Jesse, of Arlington County, is leading his opponent John Rust, of Fairfax, for the State Senate. It is said the race in Fairfax County, home of Rust, will be very close.

Hugh Reid, Arlington County's representative in the House of Delegates, who is seeking reelection, will be unopposed in the primary.

Much interest is being manifested in the county Republican convention, which meets July 10 in the Lyon Park Community House.

It was learned last night that Louis C. McMahon is being strongly mentioned as the Republican nominee for the House of Delegates against Hugh Reid, Democratic nominee who is slated for the State Senate could not be learned yesterday, but it is undrstood there will be a man in the race.

Thrifton Village Improvement League will hold its monthly meeting Monday evening in the parish hall of the Grace Episcopal Church at 8 o'clock. Candidates for the ofnce of trial justice of the county court, a new office created by the Legislature, have ben xtnded an invitation to attnd and address the meeting.

The Rev. M. R. Japhet will conduct morning services at Cherrydale Baptite Church. In the evening T. F. Barker, returned missionary from Turkey, will preach.

Bandit Pair Takes $140; Throws Man From Auto

Special to The Washington Post.

Frederick, Md., June 26.—Police combed the city today without success for a Negro about 25 years of age, one of a pair which late last night robbed William Grams, Wilmington, Del., of $140 and threw him from an automobile three miles east of here.

Raymond Nelson, Negro, 24, was arrested charged with taking part in the robbery. Grams told police he came to Frederick with $175 and after spending $35 took several drinks and was accosted by the Negroes. They forced him into an automobile and after beating him and taking his money, threw him from the car, he said.

Haston Impeachment Dropped in Tennessee

Nashville, Tenn., June 26 (A.P.).—An impeachment article against Secretary of State Ernest N. Haston was withdrawn in the Tennessee House of Representatives today by its author, Representative Worth Crowley.

The withdrawal followed the House vote to table a motion for summoning witnesses to testify regarding charges that Haston acted as an attorney for the Tennessee Electric Power Co. while serving as secretary of state. It was those charges that the impeachment article was based on.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

OUT OF THE PAST.

(A baby carriage has been placed in the Smithsonian Institute.—News item.)

GUIDE—On our left we have Exhibit J-7649. Infantum quartalorum—known in the early days of the American continent as a baby carriage, if I am not mistaken.

Lady Sightseer (in amazement)—A baby carriage!

Guide—That was the name for it, I believe. I never saw one myself, but I remember my great-grandmother speaking of such a vehicle.

Lady Sightseer (peering at it)—All my life I've wanted to see one of those things, and to think I should find it now.

Her Husband—What does he say it is, dear?

Lady—He says it's a baby carriage, Artemus.

Husband (vaguely)—A what?

Lady—Baby carriage. B for Bridgeport, A for Ansonia, B for Bridgeport again, Y for yodel, C for calliope, A for apples, two R's for radish, I for . . .

Husband—Oh, a baby carriage; not really?

• • • •

Guide—It's genuine, sir.

Husband—I remember reading about one of those archeologists or somebody digging one up in the East some months back. They were looking for fossils. Could this be it?

Lady—I never thought I'd live to see such a wonderful relic.

Guide (reading)—This curious vehicle was known in the early days of American civilization as a baby carriage. It was at one time rather common to the American home. According to historians, in fact, there was a period in American life when nearly every household had one. This one, a very rare specimen, came to the museum through the Wingate P. Willett's Exploration Group. It is not a reproduction.

• • • •

LADY—There was a woman way back in my family who had a baby carriage once.

Husband—What did she use it for?

Husband—What's a baby?

Husband (to guide)—Have they such a thing in the museum?

Husband—An American baby?

Guide—Oh, hardly that, sir!

State Aid Sought In Milk Bombings

Alabama Governor Asked for Truck Protection in Price War.

Birmingham, Ala., June 26 (A.P.).—W. H. Barber, Birmingham milk distributor, today called upon Gov. B. M. Miller for State protection for trucks transporting milk here from central Alabama, following two bombing attempts which he said were result of a milk price "war."

Barber made public the request after denying rumors that his organization, Foremost Dairies, had asked for Federal potection. He said, also, drivers and their assistants had not been armed.

One of the trucks under contract to transport milk was bombed fourteen miles from here several days ago. Considerable damage was done to the vehicle and the driver was injured. A second bomb was tossed into another truck last Wednesday by occupants of a passing automobile, but was thrown out by a driver's assistant before exploding. Milk was selling here today at prices ranging from 9 to 15 cents a quart.

New $100,000 Theater Begun at Winchester

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., June 26—Construction was begun today by Herman H. Hable on a $100,000 theater to be completed September 1. The building, on a lot 36 by 195 feet, will front Loudoun street, the main business throughfare.

It will have a seating capacity of 1,500. It will contain a dozen dressing rooms for theatrical performances, as well as rooms for restaurant and fountain service. Hable is said to be the largest real estate owner in the city.

Contracts Awarded For 30 Vinegar Tanks

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., June 26—Contracts were given today by the H. J. Heinz Co., for the erection of 30 additional vinegar storage tanks at its local plant, to be completed in time for use early in the fall. The tanks will have a combined storage capacity of 600,000 gallons.

The company recently erected a generating unit in connection with other units already in operation. The Heinz Co. owns 16 acres of land, and intends to utilize virtually all the acreage for plant buildings.

New Tobacco Disease Hits Maryland Fields

Special to The Washington Post.

La Plata, Md., June 26.—A new tobacco disease, known as Downey Mildew or Blue Mold, has attacked the tobacco beds of Southern Maryland with great force and speed.

The disease was first observed May 27 near Lusby, in Calvert County. Since that date it has spread over the entire tobacco belt of Southern Maryland, causing alarm to many growers.

Winchester Man is Buried.

Winchester, Va., June 26 (Special).—Funeral rites were held today for George Cochran, 79, former custodian of county buildings and grounds here, whose death followed an illness of heart disease. Surviving are a widow, formerly Miss Annie Lamp; one son, Fred Cochran, Winchester, and two daughters, Mrs. Stanley Ginn, Relief, Va., and Mrs. Warren Shepherd, Charles Town, W. Va.

Comdr. Wilcox, 50, Is Taken by Death

Personnel Chief of Coast Guard to Be Buried at Arlington.

Commander George E. Wilcox, 50, chief of the personnel department of the United States Coast Guard, died yesterday at his home, 5415 Walsh street, Chevy Chase, Md., following a heart attack.

Commander Wilcox, born in Baltimore, Md., entered the Coast Guard Service in 1901 and was one of the heroes of the Halifax explosion in the World War. He took an active part in many major engagements and was decorated with the Silver Star.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Grace Wilcox and a son, Robert Wilcox. Funeral services will be held Monday morning at 10 o'clock at Arlington National Cemetery. Senior officers of the Coast Guard will act as pallbearers.

Danville School Chief Quits After Board Row

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., June 26—After a stormy meeting of the South Boston school board and council last night to hear complaints and a defense of the administration of Rhoderic L. Lacy, school superintendent, it developed today that he resigned June 3. The resignation had not been made public by the board but has now been accepted.

Complaints maintained Lacy was indifferent to school management and discipline. Others defended his development of the schools in the last nine years. According to Mayor J. B. Welborn the resignation was made because Lacy wishes to take postgraduate work at Columbia University where he will remain eight months.

Clarke County School Economics Are Planned

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., June 26—Savings for parents in school book purchases, a program of vocational guidance in county high schools, economical purchasing of coal for fuel purposes, and plans for practice teaching classes next year under supervision of expert educators, were major points decided last night by the Clarke County School Board.

Although the State Board of Education recently changed the textbooks for public schools, effective in September in many courses, counties were given the right to retain the text in certain grades or classes. The Clarke board decided to retain a number of former texts in the interests of economy.

'Engaged' Couple Tells Of Wedding in March

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., June 26—Lewis Graham Dinkle, Romney, W. Va., and Miss Grace Elizabeth Larrick, this city, whose engagement was announced recently, were married March 20 at La Plata, Md., by the Rev. J. E. McDonald, of the Southern Methodist Church, according to announcement today.

The announcement had been deferred, it was stated, due to the bride's mother being ill last spring. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Lee Larrick, and Mr. Dinkle is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis K. Dinkle. His father is publisher of the Hampshire Review at Romney. They will live here.

Petersburg to Increase Efficiency of Police

Special to The Washington Post.

Petersburg, Va., June 26.—In an effort to improve the efficiency of the police department, to increase its ability to combat crime and to give better service to the public, the City of Petersburg today established educational training for the members of the department. Lectures on police practice and procedure are to be given and written examinations are to be taken by the members of the police force.

A library of police books is being purchased for use by the department and a system of study, similar to that used in metropolitan centers, is to be followed.

DANCE WAR WAGED IN PRINCE GEORGES

County Police Arrest 2 Men in Efforts to Test Permit Law.

Although charges against two men taken in previous raids have been dismissed, Prince Georges County police continue in their efforts to apply the roadhouse law to dances, having raided a dance in Berwyn for the third time.

The raid, made yesterday morning, resulted in the arrest of two men, Ernest Schumaker and Jerry Heflin. They were charged with violation of the law forbidding the holding of more than one dance a week without a permit from the county commissioners.

Charges in previous cases were dismissed without the law being tested. In one case the justice of the peace had failed to sign the warrant, and the other warrant charged the prisoner with disorderly conduct instead of the roadhouse law charge.

Schumaker was one of the men arrested previously, having been taken in a raid made on June 18. At that time he was charged with disorderly conduct.

Two men charged with possession of liquor were fined $200 each in Marlboro Police Court yesterday, and a third asked a jury trial.

Langhorne S. Rorer, proprietor of the Lone Star Inn, near Meadows, was the accused man, who asked to have the charges against him tried by a jury. He
